

"the cult of sleep" and "the neo-Sethians"

by Jonathan Barlow Gee

originally published as:

"the Cult of Sleep and the Order of Death" on: http://www.benpadiah.com/phpBB2/viewtopic.php?t=438 from: Mon Dec 12, 2005 2:43 pm to: Sun Jul 26, 2009 2:22 am

&

"the Sleep Walkers and the neo-Sethians" on: http://www.benpadiah.com/phpBB2/viewtopic.php?t=491 from: Mon Apr 24, 2006 2:13 pm to: Sun Jul 26, 2009 2:26 am this e-book edition is hereby copyright by Jonathan Barlow Gee, this October 13, 2009.

:: insanity clause #23 ::

Please do not share with others the web addresses for direct download from my site that are for sale there. However, once you have a copy of any one of my works, you are allowed, by Jonathan Gee, the author of said work, to copy it and distribute it freely. If you claim you wrote it, or that you came up with the ideas for it yourself, you should be challenged to determine if you can prove your claim with knowledge of the material superior to my own. If you can, I will concede the work to your credit, but if you cannot, then the work will remain both of ours to teach and give to whom we choose.

the Cult of Sleep

there is an occult fringe movement counter to mainstream culture that remains occluded and secreted away from the majority of people's perceptions. The sleepwalkers move like shimmering shadows, leaping about behind our material perceptions. They exist outside of spacetime, but are just as sentient as we. Some say they are only our ancestral dead, but that farther out there be dinosaurs.

The sleepwalkers are the manifested shadows of the metaforms, the archetypal shapes whose passage through it causes change over time to the 3-dimensional continuum. Just as the metaforms move through the mind, and by doing so cause the changing emotions, so too do these sleepers move about from mind to mind, skipping and jumping about memetically and morphing from one form to another. They are no less real, and no less alive, than any of us.

The sleepwalkers are the spirit-guides of the sleepers, who are the social shamen, the burnt-out sleeper agents left out in the cold, disavowed duty. The sleepwalkers themselves may as well not even exist. It is only the sleepers themselves we as individual humans ever have to encounter.

The sleepers, or the sleeper-agents, are those who dully carry out the duties of their existence, going through the motions, almost robotically, without ever questioning life's greater mysteries. These sleeper-agents are simply the majority of people who, due to conditions of competitive survival or of honest loyalty to the goals of their nation-state, simply carry on about their lives never experiencing the break through of perception that occurs in the moment of the Psychic Revolution, the Awakenning, and therefore does not have the oppurtunity to comprehend the equal and oppsotie component to that, the Psychic Conspiracy.

Sleeper Agents are people too. Some are more, others less, inert in their service to the perpetuation of civilisation. Some people follow in their parents' footsteps out of respect for tradition. For some, a simple life of servitude, blind faith in the religion into which they were born, and the promise of immortality after death are sufficient to appearse their appetites for explanations to life's greater mysteries.

All Sleeper Agents have access to DREAMLAND. In Dreamland there is dreamtime. The ancient Aborogines measure dreamtime. Dreamland is another name for Area 51. So, what can these two have in common? Through the ECS, the dreamers of dreamland mentally project their soap-opera-like misunderstandings and frustrations with lucidity. Then it is the ECS that the Aborogines read from in the vast clear expanse of the night sky. So, the Aborogines measure the dreamtime events of the sleeperagents of dreamland.

Through the ECS, that is, by the vast mental-psychic power of the sleepers harnessed electromagnetically by the underground technologies at Dreamland, the "dreams," the "aspirations," all fears and desires, the so-called "collective unconscious" or "special memory," the "magick memory of our species," is then reprojected out into the stars. This involves every single member of the Cult of Sleep, and that is anyone who ever sleeps.

The goal of the Cult of Sleep is to repress the mental activity of the masses by any means necessary. This is, admittedly, chaos magick, since most of the techniques to date have applied static fields of greater noise and distrophy to smaller centres or eruptions of consciousness. Since the goal of the Cult of Sleep is to tune us all out, the opposite option would seem to be the only likely way to be able to rebel: that being to, "tune in."

However little evidence can be retained or brought back from the dreams of the netherworld. And most of that knowledge has been accumulated, granted through use of the remaining 90% of our brain's neural electro-chemical processes, by the Cult of Sleep.

The Lucids, or the highest order of sleepers, understand their imprisonment in the temporal pattern. They seek to know the sleepwalkers and through them to find freedom from the material bondage of their physical servitude.

To clarify, however, the sleepwalkers are only like the constellations in the zodiac, that is, symbolic creatures, creations of assigned meaning preserved over the ancient ages. Therefore, the Lucid sleepers, that is, the sleeper-agents of Dreamland, in their communications with the sleepwalker shadows of the geometrical archetypes, seek to become like them, and thereby to transcend the mortal coil.

It is, therefore, by study of dreams that we awaken. For example, to awaken from the cult of sleep, one must examine what in their own life constitutes being a sleeperagent. They must then, more or less, do the opposite. If they find they are "asleep on the job" at work, they should quit their job. If they find they are "going through the motions" of life, they should seek out new habits. etc.

For most people, they awaken from the cult of sleep when they make a conscious choice to be in control of the remaining 90% of their own mental capacity, to purge the mind of useless information, and to transform it into a mental engine for perception, projection, and ultimately for instantaneous manifestation.

The Order of Death

The Order of Death consists of three component parts:

the neo-sethians

the cult of sleep

the Black Hand.

The Cult of Sleep has already been addressed. It remains that we should discuss the neo-Sethians and the Black Hand, or "Carbonari."

The Path of the Black Hand

First a brief history of the Carbonari. During the Crusades, the Templars were widely persecuted in France. A few years following this suppression of a knightly order, there followed the suppression of a religious order by the name of the Cathars. Now, alot of people know about the Knights Templar these days, as they are said to have been the progenitors of the Free Masons. However fewer people are aware of the Albigensian heresy and its details.

In any event, while the Knights Templar went on to reform trade through Free Masonry, the suppressed Order of the Cathars went underground, infiltrating the Knights Hospitallers, who had acquired through Pope Clement most of the Templar's wealth and properties. By 1530, they had militarised the Order and were stationed at Malta. The Cathars then operated through the Knights of Malta, which remain a formally militarised order, with permanent observer status at the UN, acting under the auspices of the catholic christian church, despite having recently opened itself to protestant membership. Through the militarisation of the Hospitaller Order following their acquisition of the Templar wealth, the Cathars sought to make social changes, but they eventually became disappointed with the pace. They next began to infiltrate small social clubs with open memberships and stear them toward radical liberal politicial activism. These Jacobin clubs were similar to Free Masonry, but undisciplined and new. Through pushing a radical agenda for social change, the contemporary followers of Catharism, the members of the Knights of Malta and the heirs to the redistributed Templar funds, successfully backed political revolutions in several European countires.

By the time of the late 19th century, these revolutions had all taken on the implication of being industrial in nature, such that the industrially developing nations usually fought a civil war against their existing government to determine the legitamcy thereof, and where, in case of revolution, an even more liberal agenda was established, which only served to quicken the pace of industrial competition between these new or reformed nations. At this time Marx was writing about the need to shift the goal of the revolutionaries toward the overthrow of the owners of the means of production. This was the time of the beginning of the Carbonari, who successfully led the Italian revoltions of the 1800's.

Shortly afterward, the Cathar influence penetrated the Serbian National movement, which was also radically liberal, sought social-change, and was, like the Carbonari, anti-Hapsburg. The result of this was the assassination of the Austrian Archduke, Franz Ferdinand on June 28, 1914.

Now, you may be wondering why the originally disbanded Order of the Cathars would have sought to sustain its beliefs in secret through the infiltration and militarisation of the Knights of Malta, and then through the infiltration and subversion of small jacobin political groups to foment revolutionary liberalism. This is simple, but first we must understand something of Cathar doctrine and dogma.

Cathars believed that the world was evil. They believed the Gnostic concept of the Demiurge being its creator, and they also believed in reincarnation. The name Albigenian is associated with them after the name of a small town in the Albi region of southern France where the Inquisition was established in 1229, specifically to hunt out the Cathars.

The Cathars were what was known as Manicheans: they believed in an essentially Persian concept of the equity in struggle between the God of Light, Ahura-Mazda, and the Devil of the Darkness, Ahriman. The philosophy of Zoroastrian ahurahs and deevas became associated with the rapid spreading of Manicheanism, which was a Christian form of gnosticism in which the religion's founder, Mani, was believed to be the Last Prophet in the line of six others, including Buddha and Jesus. As much as Persian Zoroastrianism shares in common with Greek Hermeticism, so too does Manicheanism share in common with the later "heretical" Gnostic sect of the Christian Catholic Cathars.

Now, the problem at the time of the early christian church was to compete with Gnosticism, which was actually the much more popular religion. In order to do this, the early church fathers competed among them to see how many "heresies" of competing faiths one could denounce. This involved social, political, and even religious ostricisation and banishment at first. To this effect soon enough, whole entire populations of believers of one faith or the other were having to segregate themselves internationally.

Secretly, however, the early church fathers, in seeking to canonise the latin vulgate, managed to gain access to the scriptural scrolls of all of its earliest competitor religions. It simply adopted the traits of each of these that it saw as being most fit for the propagation of its myth, and compiled these into the book with which it would then credit none of the other faiths.

So, in certain passages of New Testament scripture, you will get a flavour or a scent of some other theological idealogy altogether. These subtle hints reaffirm the so-called "continuity of the gospels." They show that the prophecies predicted in the Old Testament were fulfilled by Jesus Christ as recorded in the New Testament.

However there were other, Gnostic Messiahnic cults going around at that time too. Consider for example the Sethians. The Sethians believed that the Old Testament character of Seth had been the Messiah and that, since the Messiah had already long ago come, then at the time of Jesus, the cult of the Gnostic Sethians was already waiting for the second coming.

So, for example, you have the Book of Revelations appealing to specifically Manichean and Sethian belief structures, however, at the same time, the early church fathers writing edict upon edict slandering their philosophical oponents.

By the time of the Cathari "heresy," however, the catholic christian church had been more or less arbitrarily chosen by Constantine to be sponsored as the national religion of the Roman Empire, its hitherto oppressors. Therefore it excercised the military might of the state of Rome to enforce upon the rest of the world its limiting and hypocritical beliefs.

Although the Cathari prospered in France, Belgium, Spain, Italy, Germany, England and the Balkans, the Inquisition was established in November 1229 specifically to abate the Albigensian heresy of Gnostic Catharism.

It would be acceptable to say that the Catharist agenda would be anti-papal. But it would be closer to the truth to say that the Cathari see themselves as deevahs aligned with Ahurah-Mazda in a fight against Ahriman and the forces of darkness.

source: A dictionary of freemasonry, Robert Macoy, editor

The Carbonari, or the Path of the Black Hand.

Here is an assembly hall meeting of the modern Knights Malta.

Here is Helena Blavatsky seated beside Morya, who had yet not at that time ascended, Kuthumi, her personal spiritual guide, and St. Germain, who had ascended after his last incarnation as Sir Francis Bacon, "who really wrote the Shakespeare material."

Because the Cathar philosophy expresses the belief that the God worshipped by the modern Catholic church is actually the demiurge, or Ialdabaoth, then the Catholic church recriminated the Cathars with worshipping Satan, the devil, Anti-Christ, etc.

This practise continues, in some bastardised form or other, to this day. Many "primitivist" Baptist protestant christian ministers and preachers, who should be preaching the indigenous beliefs of the pre-existent cultures and doing "missionary" work with the native peoples, instead preach the immediacy of the eschaton, the Psychic Revolution, in the form of second-comingism.

I address this problem as Neo-Sethianism, because of the Sect of Seth contemporary to the time of Christ.

I should caution the reader now, however, that the Neo-Sethian movement is not directly affiliated with the modern derivation of the original sect of the Sethians themselves. The original sect of the Sethians appears to have transmogriphied itself into a trance-channeling ascended master experienced through the meditations of Jane Roberts.

The concept of the Ascended Masters began with Helena Petrovna Hahn, later, Madame HP Blavatsky. In 1856, Blavatsky claims to have travelled to Tibet with a Lutheran minister, however it is more likely that she was merely recounting an event from the works of Abbe Huc's "Recollections of Travel in Tartary, Tibet and China." Her story of encountering the Reincarnation ceremony when, "under the influence of the venerable lama, the baby rose to its feet and walked up and down the strip of carpet, repeating 'I am Buddha, I am the old Lama, I am his spirit in a new body." Later, after the birth of her deformed son, Yuri, Helena had a nervous breakdown, and felt herself to be, "in another, far-off country, a total different individuality from myself."

In 1873, Blavatsky immigrated to America, after travels in Greece and Egypt, from her native Russia. It was in New York, after recieving inheritance from the death of her father and living in a cooperative apartment with two journalists, that Blavatsky began painting their personal photographs with water-colours. She claimed they were being done by spirits, and that she was merely "assisting" them to do so.

It was in the following year that Blavatsky began assisting the Eddy brothers in performing live seances. This involved the Eddy brothers sitting before an open cabinet in a dim-lit smokey room and summoning a procession of appiritions to appear within it to a small audience. A reporter for a new york newspaper at the time, Henry Steele Olcott, attended one of these meetings and was impressed with the range of detailed personages Blavatsky was able to summon to appear in the cabinet.

Olcott and Blavatsky attempted to form a small seance society called the Miracle Club, which hosted a secret meeting with a psychic medium. Early attendents of these meetings included Charles Sotheran, a high-ranked mason and student of rosicrucianism and kabbalah, who suggested changing the name of the Miracle Club to the Theosophical Society, which Olcott and William Q. Judge then formed with Blavatsky as a serious spiritualism school of research and study.

The goals of this society were said to be directed by secret Mahatmas of esoteric Buddhism known as the Masters of Wisdom. In 1877, Blavatsky wrote Isis Unveiled, which claimed to be dictated through letters from the secret Mahatmas Koot Hoomi and Morya. In the following year, Blavatsky and Olcott travlled to India and claimed upper-caste Hindus and members of the English occupation as members of the Theosophical movement.

In 1884, while Blavatsky toured Europe, Richard Hodgson of the Psychical Research Society toured the Theosophical Society's hedquarters in Adyar, near Madras. He claimed to have discovered "secret black panels" within the shrine room for the "manifestation" of the Masters.

After Blavatsky's death in 1891, the theosophical society itself was carried on by Annie Wood Besant, a book reviewer who had read Blavatsky's 1888 book the Secret Doctrine, which outlined the theoretical purpose and goal of the evolution of the universe and of humanity.

In 1885, when mystic and clairvoyant Fred Hockley died, some of his papers were passed down to reverend AFA Woodford, who passed on some of these manuscripts, written in cypher, to William Wynn Westcott, a friend of his who was a member of the English Societa Rosicruciana. Westcott enlisted the aid of the young translator and occultist Samuel Liddle MacGregor Mathers in decoding these documents, which proved to be outlines for several ceremonies, structured similarly to Masonic rituals, and claimed these ceremonies represented a five-degree initatory offshoot of the Rosicrucian degrees of Scottish Freemasonry which were already currently being operated in Germany, and gave the address of one Anna Sprengel there.

In 1888, the Isis-Urania Temple of the Golden Dawn was formed in London, practising the five Rosicrucian degrees outlined in the manuscripts. In 1891, the correspondence between the group and Frauline Sprengel came to an abrupt end for unknown and mysterious reasons. In the following year, 1892, Mathers claimed to have established contact with the "Secret Chiefs" of the Rosicrucian Order with which Sprengel had been involved.

Although it appears likely that Mathers' encounters with these so-called "Secret Chiefs" of the Order were based only a correspondence and limited contact with the European member of the GD, Dr. Thilson of Liege, Mathers describes his meetings with the "Secret Chiefs" thus:

SL MacGregor Mathers wrote:

Concerning the Secret Chiefs of the Order.. I can tell you nothing. I know not even their earthly names. I know them only be certain secret mottos. I have but very rarely seen them in the physical body; and on such rare ocassions the rendevous was made astrally by them. They met me in the flesh at the time and place appointed beforehand. For my part I believe them to be human and living on this earth; but possessing terrible superhuman powers.

By the time that Aleister Crowley was introduced to the GD by Julian Baker and George Cecil Jones in 1898, it had become a seven-degree Order run entirely by Mathers, who claimed the final three degrees of the Order, Magister Templi, Magus and Ipsissimus, were possessed only by the "Secret Chiefs."

Aleister Crowley had been led to seek this order after Alfred Edward Waite had advised him, in a short postal correspondence, to read de Steiger's translation of the novel, The Cloud on the Sanctuary, in which a "secret school of the invisible and interior church" led Crowley to seek out the so-called "secret chiefs."

In 1905, when Crowley wrote Liber Legis, he claimed that it had been dictated to him by Aiwass, a discorporeal "messenger of the Lord of the Universe" sent by "the Secret Chiefs of the Third Order." Aiwass, Crowley further adumbrated, had lived as Ra-Hoor-Khuit, a priest of Hoor-Pa-Kraat, whom Crowley identified with Harpocrates, the Greek God of silence and secrecy. He believed that, having made this contact directly with the Secret Chiefs himself, he had passed beyond the limits of initiation that could be offered by Mathers' Golden Dawn, which, by then, had already split between the London and Paris lodges.

Around 1911, Crowley travelled across the Sahara desert with Victor Neuberg and performed the "calls of the thirty ayres or ethers" of John Dee. This ritual, he believed, represented his own self-initiation into the "secret chiefs of the Great White Brotherhood." Crowley underwent several subsequent further initiations in various other orders at various places around the world, but he maintained his belief that the initiations within the "Invisible College" were entirely between the aspirant and their spiritual guides on the astral plane.

By 1925, Bessant had joined forces with Charles Leadbeater as the heads of the Theosophical Society. Leadbeater wrote a book called The Masters and the Path which served to flesh out in much greater detail the concept of the Sceret Chiefs as discorporeal, or astral, entities who have already long ago achieved transcendence of the physical plane, but who, like Hindu Mahattmas and Buddhist Lamas, choose to continue to guide mankind in the search for psychological self-actualisation and in the esoteric arts.

The ideas of the Scret Chiefs of the Great White Brotherhood has since evolved into the idea of the Ascended Masters, a group of (originally, according to Edward Bulwer-Lytton's account in the Coming Race, a work that inspired Blavatsky early on) nine or so individuals who have incarnated in various, usually well-known, historical personages throughout time and have sought, through their teachings in each of these past lives, to guide mankind's progress toward the higher levels of thinking and to steer mankind's evolution toward higher planes of existence.

Nowadays, those who perserve the tradition of the Scret Chiefs in the form of trance-channeling teachings of the Ascended Masters believe in a hierarchy among the leaders of them, and that each of these seven "rays" operates from different temples located around the earth. Of these, the first, lowest, or "red" ray (associated with the Root chakra) is Serapis Bey, followed in ascending order by Lady Nada, Kuthumi (who was Blavatsky's personal mentor), Hilarion, El Morya and Kwan-Yin. It is said that the leader of the Ascended Masters of the seven rays is known as St. Germain, who was even the ruler of a great civilisation more than fifty thousand years ago located where the Sahara desert is now.

Other ascended masters include entities who, through their trance-channelers, identify themselves as Metatron, Melchizedek, Matreiya, Ganesh, Jesus/Sanada and Abraham. Among these also is an entity who identifies himself as Seth.

From 1963 until her death in 1984, Jane Roberts trance-channeled Seth in a self-induced hypnotic meditative trance. Her husband, Robert Butts, transcribed the material that Seth, through Jane, dictated. Roberts also held a weekly ESP class whose sessions were sometimes tape-recorded and written down by the students. Roberts published several books as well. These materials have been collected and published as the "Seth Material."

Seth's essential teachings range in their material from dreams and ESP to biblical history, Atlantis, space travel, parallel dimensions, probable selves, and the behavior of subatomic particles. His main philosophy is simple, and is common to the teachings of the Ascended Masters: "you create your own reality; you get what you concentrate upon."

The individual Seth sessions audiotapes are available for sale by the Seth Center online at: http://www.sethcenter.com/pages/audio2.htm

A list by topics of Seth quotes can be found here: http://www.geocities.com/Athens/5484/quotes.htm

To hear another Ascended Master, Maitreya, deliver a speech through a trance-chaneller at the UN Meditation Room, funded by the Lucis Trust started by Alice Bailey, click here: http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/United_Nations_Talk.mp3

For more spoken word recordings of trance-channeling sessions with Maitreya in mp3 form click here:

http://www.maitreya-edu.org/windows_media/talk/windows_media.htm

The material of the individual Ascended Masters is mainly gibberish and gobbledegook. But it is "higher level" gibberish, and "New Age" gobledegook. Consider this brief quote from Seth:

Seth wrote:

Your ideas of Atlantis are partially composed of future memories

- source: http://www.geocities.com/Athens/5484/seth23.htm

As I say, this modern incarnation of the once-Messiah figure of a Second-Coming sect around the time of Christ should in no way be misconstrued himself with the neo-Sethian movement I am about to outline, as it pertains to the resurrection under the Messiah figure of Christ of the same Second-Coming concept which was expressed 2000 years ago as the sect of Seth.

the so-called "shriner baby" antique photo

the RC Lamen of the GD

portrait of Seth by Robert Butts

The neo-Sethian movement has nothing to do with the trance-channeling of Ascended Masters in the Meditation Room of the UN building in New York. The trance-channeling of Ascended Masters is merely the modern equivalent of the original character of Seth, whose sect were millennarians and eschatologists at the time of Christ. It is the millennarian and eschatological character of this elder sect that I refer to in our present time as the neo-Sethian movement within the Order of Death. Thus, one should not confuse neo-Sethianism with the personage or character of Seth, the figure of the Messiahnic sect nor the trance-channelled ascended Neo-Sethianism refers exclusively to the millennarianism eschatology components in their form as modern mainstream currents in the stream of modern consciousness. It would be false to say, for example, that the teachings of any of the modern Ascended Masters reflect on a more than unconscious level the same millennarianism and eschatology as, say, a tv evangelist. The Masters speak of peace, while the priests speak of Armeggedon. The Masters teach manifestation, while the priests admonish Satan.

So, before I go on, perhaps it would be wise to define what I mean by these millennarian and eschatological components that define the philosophy of Second-Comingism in the modern Messiah-cult, or, as I call them, the neo-Sethians.

The concept of the world ending (eschatology) manages to occur about once every 1000 years or so (millennarianism). For example, the last cult of this sect to have occured was known as the Mormons. Mormonism, an eschatological cult founded about an hundred years ago by Joseph Smith, is still around, however Smith's proposed date for the End Times ushered in by the appearance to him of Christ is largely believed to have elapsed, and the cult has split into the modern LDS (Latter Day Saints) and the Watchtower society of the Jehovah's Witnesses.

Joseph Smith taught his followers that the world was going to end soon, and that the times in which his followers were living then were the end times described in the biblical Book of Revelations. Of course, Smith is by no means the first or only example of this. Before Pope Gregory reformed the calendar in the 1600's, one Bishop Usher dated the time of the Garden of Eden to have been about 4000 years before the life of Christ. This fueled a huge debate, because it also says, in the New Testament, that the devil reigns on earth every 1000 years, after which he is thrown into the pit of hell. In the end days, this is followed by 1000 years of peace; a goal everyone agrees upon as being worth desire. So, it was believed during Bishop Usher's time that the Apocalypse of Revelation would come in their own lifetime.

One can easily see that it was a similar form of millennarianism that pervaded the time of the life of Christ. The desire for a Messiah that would end the Roman capitvity of Judeah was incredibly strong, since the effects in the outlying colonies of the change from the Republic to Caesar's Empire were only beginning to be felt. This relates the modern eschatological millennarian movements to the original phenomenon at the time of Christ, the neo-Sethians with the Sethians.

Neo-Sethianism is the specific phenomenon I am associating with the time period of Christ and the modern time period is the Second-Comingism movement at the time, of Seth, and now, of Jesus.

This Second-Comingism of the original Sethians and now of the neo-Sethians is, as I have stated elsewhere, synonimous in my mind with the simple performance of temporal rituals, which are themselves the very purpose of civilisation.

The "Apocalypse," "Scape-Goat," "Equinox," etc. are all ceremonies similar to the Messiah movement or the Second-Comingism of the "resurrection."

All of these loosely permeate, shaping and defining the terrain, of the entire history, the rise and fall, of all great civilisations since the flood, approximately 6000 years ago.

Some, such as the Ascended Masters, teach that this is all part of the grand circle of solar precession, the movement of the rising sign through each of the zodiac houses that occurs over the millions of years, and called an "Aeon," etc.

Others simply get too caught up in serving society by performing history's rituals, they believe in the message of their respective sect and even seek to compete with the members of other ritualist performers in the universum theatricum.

the modern millennarians, the neo-Sethians within the Christian faith, are fighting an uphill battle right now, even as I write these words.

There was a great rush, a great surge forward around the turn of the millennium, between the years 1999 and 2000. It seemed as though peace would prevail in the coming millennium, the groundhog had seen its shadow, and the sun was out. There was talk of global crustal displacement theory, coined by Graham Hancock as a combination of Hapgood's Path of the Pole research, as well as apparent evidence, such as in the Atlantis Blueprint by Colin Wilson and Rand Flem-ath, from ancient ruins and past supercivilisations. There was a book published called 5/5/2000, Ice, the Ultimate Disaster, which thouroughly outlined most of what would later be represented through lugubrious research by Louis P. Ferrel on Adventures Unlimited press. However, besides this there was little prior event to celebrate the actual grand cross alignment of the seven noble planets with earth, the sun, and even the moon.

Thus, our portion of the encoded transmission was sent. However what we heard back, what the reprucussions were, was dire and disastrous.

5/5/2000 pales before the treacherous might of the date 9/11/2001.

There was an explosion, and a rift opened in the time space continuum. Everything went topsy-turvey, and we were all sucked through a wormhole about the size of a glazed doughnut compared to the vast entirity of the cosmic scheme of things. That is to say that, according to some, this is, indeed, what SHOULD have happened, and according to few within these some, what failed to happen.

Remember this happened on the first new year of the Christian calendar, that is, the Gregorian combined solar-lunar civic calendar which has become the western business world's calendar. Whether the attack was perpetrated by Moslem terrorists, as it is apparently the agenda of the media to convince us it was, or whether it was all a complex grab for power by a political party backed and funded by big oil and energy companies. It is ultimately irrelevant compared to the fact that it did indeed happen, and therefore has already happened. At least in this reality.

For example, the material prior to the turn of the millennium included only tentative traces of 2012ism, and Jose Arguilles, for example, had only published one workbook on the Ascension material, and it was a colourful sketchbook. There appeared to be similarities before the turn of the millennium between Arguilles and Stan Tennan as a kind of forward-thinking movement. Of course, in 99 with the release of Pi, Dan Winter sprung off as a spontaneous internet personality from Tennan which resulted in Stan Tennan suing his arch-cyber-rival for violating copyright law by reprinting some of Tennan's "inventions" on another website, apparently without giving him proper credit. It was also around this same time that the Montauk material by Preston Nichols and Peter Moon began to be published for the first time, and only later was I to find Tennan's name mentioned in there as well, misspelled, and in relation to the Platonic solids.

These were all the types of forward-thinking that were, before the turn, considered "fringe" occult currents subsumed by the mainstream of American popular culture. Now what do we have? We have massive amounts of 2012 propaganda being rammed down our throats constantly in the form of Arguilles' gloating "Time and the Technosphere," and David Icke's masterpiece of research, "Alice in Wonderland and the World Trade Centre Disaster." Such books as these are capitalising on the tragedy of the explosion permitted.

Because, since we are still here and still just as bored, malcontent and mischievious as ever down here on planet earth, we can assume that the world itself did not end on 9-11, or for that matter on the Day of the Dead the preceding year. And because of the dissatisfaction deeply felt by Christians, especially the primitivist southern baptists and tv evangelists, that their faith did not succeed in destroying the world at the turn of the millennium, they have entered a dangerously retrogressive philosophical cycle in the progress of modern history.

Now, I think we can all rationally see that, in and of itself, there is no real danger imposed by the radical fundamentalist christians of the neo-Sethian sect of Second-Comingism within "primitivist" protestant Christianity. They represent a small group of people, mostly white male westerners, although lately they have accepted some Arab dictators into their folds. These are the so-called Bildebergers, or the Trilateral Commission, the Council on Foreign Relations, the Carlysle Group, the Bohemian Grove group, the Project for a New American Century, etc. etc. who are nothing more than a glorified version of a good-old-boy network, such as between lodgemembers a handshake, or between towns a letter of passage. Although these are considered high and lofty positions of power among the money-hypnotised masses, in reality these individuals are forced to advocate "hawkish" military stand-points for the better parts of their lives, and are really nothing to be envied over.

This is the problem with the neo-Sethian movement within the Order of Death:

They are seeking to come into control, by controlling the greatest number of sleepers with their agenda, of the greatest access to the sleep-walkers, the shadows of the higher archetypes, who dwell within the ECS.

Their agenda, that is millennarian eschatology associated with second-comingism, runs contrary to the preservation of history through ritual associated with the psychic conspirators of the Cathar Black Hand.

However, because the idealogy of second-comingism has caused its followers to infiltrate certain "high ranking" positions of social power, where it mingles with and combines with the globalist agenda of the psychic-conspiracy to use civilisation to mimic by ritual the passage of time.

In fact, the neo-Sethian movement in origin is incredibly out of place among the NWO. In its origins, in grass roots state militias and radical "primitivist" religious cults, the neo-Sethian movement associates the NWO with Satan, and with the devil of Apocalypse. Therefore, it considered the federal government, as an example of NWO globalism, the adversary.

As this position crept up the levels of power to more mainstream to evangelical media, it began to mingle with some of the money of the money from the proletariat masses. This caused the concept of the devil as the NWO to be transformed into the concept that, because the devil was already running things down here on earth, soon God would send the second coming of the messiah.

As the date of the turn of the 21st century approached, the message of the second-coming of the messiah had spread throughout the lower middle classes of America, to the land-owning farmers and to the day-labourers. These people did not believe, like the state militias or radical cults, that the NWO was the devil. However, they began to believe very quickly, thanks to the media, in the concept of a second-coming of the messiah around the turn of the 21st century.

Soon enough, the upper-middle class and the more wealthy in America got into their heads the idea that they could use this millennarianism to better guage and guide the will of the people. They decided to allow into their classses some representatives of the second-coming concept of the millennarian philosophy. They made new friends, and made these new friends of theirs to become rich.

At the same time, however, the idea of the devil had begun to ascend through the mindless ranks of personal philosophers. From being represented as the globalist NWO among the militias and cults, the concept of the ultimate evil had by now penetrated the media of the tv preachers in the form of the idea that the second-coming of the messiah would herald the end of the world. To them, this meant that, 2/3 of the population would die and go to hell, while the rest would ascend to heaven in a rapture. In either case, all human life on earth would end.

So, the nouvaeu-riche proles and lower-class bourgeoisie, began to adopt an escahtological bent to their millennarianism almost at the same time as they began to come into money by certain manipulations of the market. Thus, those among the pre-existent upper crust of high society who were pre-selected to be the representatives of this movement, that is, those members of the psychic conspiracy who controlled society as the NWO and sought a more globalist agenda, therefore had to appear to their new "friends," the suddenly wealthier right-wing middle class, to share their belief that not only was the second-coming of christ about to occur, but that this would also herald the end of the world and the end of human life on earth, which, in reality, they didn't believe.

So, by today, you have the elected representatives of the neo-cons on the one hand prommoting the idea that by their actions they will bring about the end of the world, and on the other, under the table so to speak, using the neo-Sethian philosophy to consolidate power within the wealthy elites themselves for the purpose of furthering the globalist agenda in the NWO and the continuation of civilisation itself.

Therefore, the neo-Sethian movement, which began within militias and cults who believed the globalist NWO was Satan on earth, through its prommotion by the fundamentalist Christian right to the so-called moral majority, has infiltrated the minds of some of the psychic conspirators of the globalist NWO, which would otherwise only be focused on the work of perpetuating civilisation and perserving the rituals of history, which is the goal of the Black Hand.

So, basically, the neo-Sethian movement is counter to the Black Hand.

These are, however, it should be strenuously noted, both autonomous idealogical philosophies from either the Cult of Sleep itself or the Order of Death itself. The Cult of Sleep is one thing, and the Order of Death is a thing relative to it. The Black Hand is one thing, and the neo-Sethians are another this relative to that.

Also, it should be worth noting, both the Black Hand and the neo-Sethians have people who think in their respective philosophies who are and who are not members of the psychic Order of Death. So, both of these philosophies makes itself aware of, and exists relative to, the concepts of the psychic conspiracy and the psychic revolution. However, neither of these, the Black Hand nor the neo-Sethians, should be confused as being completely composed of either psychic conspirators or psychic revolutionaries, or even being completely composed of members of the psychic Order of Death.

There are plenty of non-psychic neo-Sethians. There are plenty of non-psychic Black Hand conspirators. There are neo-Sethian conspirators, and neo-Sethian revolutionaries, both psychic and not. There are plenty of non-psychics of all of these groups, and they are the sleepers.

It is the Order of Death that exists to control the sleepers.

Therefore, it is the psychic conspirators and the psychic revolutionaries alike within the Order of Death that we should be worried about. These are the ones who follow either the Black Hand path or are neo-Sethians.

the hierarchy of the ascended masters:

The neo-Sethian movement essentially worships ABRAXAS:

about.com/alt.religion wrote:

Abraxas, also known as Abrasax, is a Gnostic solar deity associated with Yahweh, Mithras and the Celtic Belenus, as well as Yeshu (Jesus). Amulets and seals bearing the figure of Abraxas were common in the second century, and were used as recently as the thirteenth century in the seals of the Knights Templar. By medieval times, Abraxas was relegated to the ranks of demons.

The image most associated with abraxas is that of a composite creature with the head of a rooster, the body of a man, and legs made of serpents or scorpions. He carries a whip and shield, called wisdom and power. Abraxas is occasionally depicted driving a chariot drawn by four horse, probably representing the elements.

The word Abraxas was first proposed by the Alexandrian Gnostic scholar Basilides. Gematrically, the letters in Abraxas add to 365, the number of days in a solar year, and the number of Aeons, or emanations, in Gnostic cosmology. Each of the seven letters represents one of the seven planetary powers.

Tertullian, speaking of Basilides' description of Abraxas:

"Afterwards broke out the heretic Basilides. He affirms that there is a supreme Deity, by name Abraxas, by whom was created Mind, which in Greek he calls Nous; that thence sprang the Word; that of Him issued Providence, Virtue, and Wisdom; that out of these subsequently were made Principalities, powers, and Angels; that there ensued infinite issues and processions of angels; that by these angels 365 heavens were formed, and the world, in honour of Abraxas, whose name, if computed, has in itself this number. Now, among the last of the angels, those who made this world, he places the God of the Jews latest, that is, the God of the Law and of the Prophets, whom he denies to be a God, but affirms to be an angel."

-source: http://altreligion.about.com/library/glossary/bldefabraxas.htm

Thusly, ABRAXAS was originally believed to be a solar deity between the time of Mithra and the time of Jesus. Hence he was heretical to the roman judeans who detested hellenic hebrew gnosticism, which claimed that Jehovah was the demiurge, Samael.

By the time of Christ, ABRAXAS had been elevated to the status of the creator God, the God in whose mind (NOUS) occured the Word (LOGOS). This clearly eastern Krishnaic idea of the universal mind was coupled in Christianity with Christ himself, as "the Word" was one of his titles given in scripture. Thus the early church fathers sought out as blasphemy the cult of ABRAXAS.

By this modern time, the cult of ABRAXAS has gone underground. It is this same gnosticism which enfused many of the Crusader catholic chivalric orders, the Templars and the Cathars for example, who became the subject of the Inquisition and betrayal by their church, and who disbanded into other military and chivalric orders within the church, and many stone-mason cults in northern Gothic europe. The rest is more or less history.

here is a brief and to the point history of the Shriners organisation: http://www.shrinershq.org/shrine/shorthistory.html

shrinershq.org wrote:

In 1870, several thousand of the 900,000 residents of Manhattan were Masons. Many of these Masons made it a point to lunch at the Knickerbocker Cottage, a restaurant at 426 Sixth Avenue...

Two of the table regulars, Walter M. Fleming, M.D., and William J. Florence, an actor, discussed the idea of a new fraternity for Masons, in which fun and fellowship would be stressed more than ritual....

Mourners gather at Adyar in 1933 to witness the Hindu cremation rites for the Theosophist and humanitarian Annie Besant. Her former colleague Charles Leadbeater (in robes at center) lit the pyre.

Aleister Crowley in his Masonic regalia as the OHO of the OTO.

If you focus only on one philosophy, you will see it undergo many changes in the nature and type of its adherants over time.

If you focus only on any one individual, so too will you see them go through many different philosophies over time.

This is because there is a sort of astral battlefield surrounding earth now.

Some people hack into it for the sake of strategy, and some of us have come out the other side.

Here we see that Catharism, the philosophical undercurrent of the post-crusades chivalric order which penetrated and permeated all the inquisition era sects and guild meetings, is only one philosophy that gradually changes its faces over time. This philosophy is the Order of Death.

On the other hand, take Aleister Crowley as only one, albeit overly popularised, example of someone who hopped about from one secret society to another throughout his adult life. The school of thought he founded is what I call the Neo-Sethian movement within and conuter to the Order of Death.

As I have stated, the Neo-Sethians have a certain fixed agenda revolving around the manipulation of the calendar. Basing their reckoning of long-counts of time on the Chaldean zodiac of Zoroaster, the so-called Poimandres or Divine Pymandre, the neo-Sethians are attempting to declare that the end times have already occured, and that we are already living in a post-apocalyptic world. This all stems from Crowley's celebration of the Equinox of the Gods ceremony in 1905 with the dictation of Liber Legis. The neo-Sethians are premising their entire strategem in the astral war between the psychic factions on the fact that the Assyrian-Sumerian base twelve system has become the basis of all western business calendars (right down to the second hand on your watch), and the idea that people will be lulled into complete tactily docile obedience on the behalf of the neo-Sethians.

There are, of course, other calendrical alternatives. These imply more distant ways of measuring time, or more complex astrological systems.

The Order of Death possesses access to the ECS The neo-Sethians desire access to the ECS

The neo-Sethians believe that, by controlling the masses, they will control the astral weapons, and that, by controlling the astral battlefield, they will maintain control of the masses.

The Whole Point of All This Is That: the neo-Sethians in reality have not only one, but two agendas themselves! One is to convince the Order of Death that the neo-Sethians even WANT to control the masses and / or the ECS. It is probable that some of them want this while others do not. However of those who are indifferent to the ECS as the astral battlefield surrounding earth, there are those neo-Sethians who know their second, secret strategy. That is: to distract the Order of Death by making them believe the ECS is to be the location of the neo-Sethians' astral attack, when really they have plotted out something far much grander.

By way of example: the Order of Death itself is almost entirely comprised of sleeper-

Sethians, who secretly (perhaps even secretly from themselves) believe in the Chaldean zodiac / business calendar, and hence in the Christian apocalypse. The Apocalypse itself is not rejected as false testimony by the Cathar creed of the members of the Order. So they are prone to falling victim to the neo-Sethian trap of believing the apocalypse has already come to pass and happened. Between people who use the zodiac / calendar and those who are aware of its usefulness in mass hypnosis and mass mind-control there are hardly any members left of the Order of Death. Almost every last psychic conspirator is either an outright neo-Sethian revolutionary or is fully aware of their prescence within the Order.

However not only are most of the so-called sleeper-Sethians, but so too are most actual outright psychic revolutionary neo-Sethians, completely unaware that they might not actually require the ECS to accomplish their goals at all, or rather, that they could simply stage a coup within the Order of Death itself if all they desired was power over the masses. No, it is obvious that the True Neo-Sethians have a wholly OTHER agenda than merely control over the ECS, the astral battlefield between themselves and the Order of Death, and control over the masses who are but pawns upon a global tyling board.

The neo-Sethians are a completely retorgrade movement to the Order of Death, and that means that, since the Order of Death believes that Death is the Demiurge, Samael or Ialdabaoth, a false idol, then the neo-Sethians espouse the opposite direction on the arrow of time. If the Order frowns upon the Passion of the Christ, then the neo-Sethians eagerly adopt Christ as one of their founding masters!

Therefore, not only do the two factions have at least two different calendars between them, but they are likely to have many more as well, as well as many other unique and individual characteristics to differentiate these factions within the psychic conspiracy the one from the other.

The neo-Sethians have traditionally attempted to align themselves with what history encourages us to believe are more "ancient" religions, mythologies, rituals, cultures, societies, civilisations, etc. They are retrogressive, and move oppositely the trends of the Cathar Order of Death. The Order as a whole has been forced to embrace this philosophy of needless clinging to the past and, ostensibly, the future insofar as history repeats.

Thus, the neo-Sethians identify themselves in the rituals of the Golden Dawn with Egyptian god-forms. This means that, to follow their movements throughout, or rather, behind the curtain of, the theatre of history, one need acquiant themselves briefly with the Egyptian Helios Pantheon:

Osiris/Asar: king of the dead Set/Typhon: slays Osiris Isis/Nepthys: resurrects Osiris Thoth/Tehuti: helps Isis

Horus/Heru: son of Isis and Osiris

It is presumeable that something like this is standard practise in the higher-order "mystical" lodges throughout the modern world, with various cultural equivalents, but a trend overall toward neo-Platonism and cross-cultural correspondences of equivalent conceptual deities. For example, the Thugees of India worshipped Kali, a calendrical concept that had originally been associated with the kalas, or monthly menstrual cycle. Here we see that Kali, relative to the other correspondent calendrical characters of Brhama, Shiva, Vishnu and Krishna, has her place to play in a drama exactly equivalent to the one worshipped in ancient Egyptian Heliopolis.

There are similar deified character sets or archetypes in every culture the world over. Most of them are also associated with bringing the calendar, agriculture and the roots of civilisation to the earliest of our ancestors.

The Neo-Sethians "assume" these "god-forms" when they perform a "mystic" ceremony. This is then reflected in, for example, the rituals and customs of the non-practising, but merely speculative lodges of Free Masonry. These reflect a historical lesson that reinforces the neo-Sethian agenda, being to manipulate the zodiacal calendar, and thus access the ECS, and thus control the populous... presumeably.

The Neo-Sethian psychic revolutionaries, some speculate, exist only to guide the Order of Death psychic conspiracy. To this extent they appear to work around the fringes of modern mainstream secret societies, operating through small cells of local members, usually in large urban areas, and meeting nearby out in the countryside. They perform their various "magickal" workings with little or no real effect, but the true psychics in the Order of Death that lies behind ALL secret societies observe them carefully and adapt or "modernise" their own lodge rituals thus.

But the cast of characters will ultimately be the same no matter who is portraying it, from the smallest country bumpkin to the weasliest coporate businessman. Some groups will call these eternals by one name some by another. The neo-Sethians, during the Jacobin French Revolutionary Era, "modernised" the culture by making Tarot a popular subject for speculation. Some believed it, at that time, to be Egyptian in origin.

Thus, subsequent cults have generally hearkened back to some bygone era in their ritual garb and mode of address. Even JSM Ward couldn't trace the history of the Scottish Rite back further than the French/American revolutionary era. Yet according to the rituals, they can trace a lineage of direct descent from the trade guildsman building the first and second temples, through the Knights Templar, directly into the stone guild unions of the late medieval, and then the Jacobins in the late 1700s.

Although the Higher Degrees are called Scottish, the events they describe in their history lections pertain to the migration of the Knights Templar to Scotland from France, following their persecution by the pope and king. Before this the details given in the philosophical degrees were left unexplained in their origins. It remained until the institution of the chivalric degrees that it would be explained how the Knights Templar discovered the contents of their detailed historical lections while excavating beneath the "stables" at the Temple Mount in the Holy Land.

So, throughout all the various tribes and groups of these sects of sorts we see the same recurring themes, motiffs, or characters from one to another, even in seemingly illogical or unrelated ways, such as between the Mayan Popul Vuh and speculative Free Masonry. And all of these refer back toward some earlier tradition to the extent that they were originally or are currently prommulgated by neo-Sethians.

Neo-Sethians should not per se be confused with Typhonians or Satanists, although they do essentially overlap in their modern target audiences. Neo-Sethians by nature refer back to their original primordial belief, prior to even the majority accepted cosmologies. This is originally the Cathar belief that the universe is created, maintained and is the dream in the mind of the Demiurge, or the false, blind fallen "God."

An understanding of this, as I have demonstrated, essentially Persian belief was expressed by Rene DesCartes just after a minor Rosicrucian witch-scare following that "invisible college" bid for the Hapsburg German seat in the Electorate of the Palatinate Princes. This image of the demiurge or false creator deity is at the heart of every retrograde neo-Sethian movement amongst the guilds and social clubs.

But of course, this says nothing of the motives of the neo-Sethians. They are retrogressive in their cycle to the regular liberal growth pattern of natural (trade and bartrer) civilisation, and thus to the mainstream occult. They are obsessed by Samael and the delusion of betrayal by their own senses.

So, nowadays most members of the occult Order of Death have either been made aware of or joined forces with the revolutionary faction the neo-Sethians. Again these are the same neo-Sethians that Daivd Icke identifies with reptile people, that Jim Marrs identifies with the Annunaki, and which Zechariah Sitchin identifies as an alien or extraterrestrial species or race.

The Annunaki, or Watchers, dwell within earth's EM field and gravity well. They have been there since at least before the flood, and even the bible agrees on that. Whether or not they possess us by manifesting in our lymphatic gland chakra a viscous ectoplasmic residue, as such soothsayers as Icke would have us believe, is irrelevant. If they have been around since before the flood at the end of the last ice age, then they have memory from before the fall of man, and correspond to the angels who descended from heaven to earth during the Fall of the Rebel Angels.

They simply exist overlapping us evenly and invisibly. They peak out at us through the softness of our aura.

Crowley in the garb of Osiris used during Golden Dawn rituals.

Two of the Masonic co-founders of the Golden Dawn.

This all may have got a little convoluted by now, so allow me to express my ultimate assertion here with a quote from another thread...

ben's conspiracy theories wrote:

The sleep-walkers, the Watchers, the aliens or the agents, however they are portrayed, the residents of the ECS, are like points on enourmous, planet size fourth dimensional vibrational spatial metaforms that pass through us over time. They are composed of harmonic resonant frequencies between the superstring vibrations of tachyon microwavelengths. The EM field of the earth acts like a giant net, catching some of these vibrations when they overlap each other (scalar fields) as at corners of the enourmous geometrical metaforms. These manifest themselves as our perception, from earth, of archetypes in our own, human, collective unconscious.

The Sleep-Walkers are the Annunaki, the Watchers, who trance channel through the sleepers. The sleepers who awaken to the psychic conspiracy, that is, the ones who control them while they are in a state of trance, the Watchers who channel through them, become sleeper-agents, not fully awake, and not fully asleep.

The sleeper agents know they are being channeled through. Some of them know, after a rather unconscious fashion, who it is who is channeling through them. Most of those who understand these entities from beyond, these "ascended masters," understand them as being part of a higher-order cabal, comprised of "Secret Chiefs," that basically run and guide the world.

Only those who are fully asleep to their second sight comprise the cult of sleep. They are blindly playing out the roles dictated to them by the Annunaki, the Sleep Walkers, the Watchers of the ECS. They do not understand the "powers that be" that control them, they simply "go through the motions."

The sleeper-agents, the Dreamers of Dream-Land (Area 51) and the Keepers of Dream-Time (the Australian Aborigines) alike, are aware of the "Secret Chiefs" of the psychic conspiracy. They may not yet know, however, the Plan of the Conspiracy; they also merely go along. The sleeper-agents too sometimes sleep.

Then there are the neo-Sethians. The neo-Sethian movement began as a grass-roots movement amongst the sleeper-agents, a movement seeking to discover the identity of the Secret Chiefs.

Once the neo-Sethians discovered the Secret Chiefs, their motives changed, and their plan became to communicate with them.

Once the noe-Sethians began to communicate with the Secret Chiefs, their motives changed again, and their plan became to subvert them from within.

The first real example of the Neo-Sethian movement was the NAZIs of the German Third-Reich. However now, the movement continues in the form of the neo-con party in US politics. Aleister Crowley is only one single early example from millions upon millions of awakenning sleepers to subsequently climb the corporate ladder following the psychedelic revolution of the sixties. These people all became neo-Sethians eventually, and the older neo-Sethians who had already by then gained power granted them rewards for their endeavors, these neo-con neuvo-riche.

The neo-Sethian movement has all but usurped the Order of Death from the path of the left Black Hand. They subvert the psychic conspiracy from within to their beliefs that:

A) the "Equinox of the Gods" ceremony, performed by their original founder, Aleister Crowley, was performed prematurely (at the beginning of the 20th century instead of in the year 2000), and that, therefore, the end-times as foreseen in the book of Revelations were upon us during the whole 20th century. They see Hitler, their own later disciple, as the third Anti-Christ predicted by Nostradamus. They attempt to fulfill scriptural prophecy in order to control the masses and immanentise the eschaton.

B) the "Second Coming" of the "True Messiah" is upon us (and, for the psychic revolutionaries among them, can happen any day now). Now, because this movement, equivalent to Sethianism at the time of Christ, has resurged now, 2000 years later, it has latched on and attached itself to Christianity. It should be understood however that neither the morals nor the miracles of Christ depend upon the prophecies of Revelations.

the modern day neo-Sethian IHO and OHO of the Order of Death.

Here is the first neo-Sethian OHO to make himself publically known. The name he used to identify his guild or ilk was "MUGWUMPS."

GSAMA BIN LADEN / VATICAN PICTURES

Here are the modern day versions of the "Righteous Teacher" and the "Wicked Priest" as prophesised by the gnostic Dead Sea scrolls. Both advocate a return to the pre-neo Sethian ways of the Order.

Here is the first neo-Sethian IHO, Jim Morisson, the "Lizard King."

wikipedia:MUGWUMP wrote:

Mugwumps were Republicans who supported Democratic candidate Grover Cleveland in the 1884 United States presidential election. They made the party switch because they could not in good faith support the Republican candidate James Blaine of Maine... The main issue which angered Republicans and caused them to choke on Blaine's candidacy was the then red-hot issue of political patronage. This consisted of doling out government positions to those who had supported your political party prior to the election. That was before the passage of the Pendleton Act of 1883, which made competency and merit the base qualifications for government positions, rather than political affiliation and appointment by a favorable administration.

-source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Mugwump

wikipedia:NEO-MUGWUMP wrote:

Neo-Mugwumps are centrist Republicans who disapprove of the more extreme elements of their party, such as the Christian Right and the Neoconservatives. Also known as RINOs (Republicans In Name Only), they tend to have a more liberal view of social issues such as homosexuality and same-sex marriage, and may oppose (or at least lament) the belligerent tendencies of mainline Republicans. Examples of Neo-Mugwumps include Arnold Schwartzenegger, Olympia Snowe, Mary Bono, and John McCain. The term is sometimes extended to Paleoconservative Republicans as well.

-source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Neo-Mugwump

William Burroughs: NAKED LUNCH wrote:

Traffickers in the Black Meat, flesh of the giant black centipede - sometimes attaining the length of six feet - found in a lane of black rocks and iridescent, brown lagoons, exibit paralyzed crustaceans in camoflage pockets of the Plaza visible only to the Meat Eaters.

Followers of obsolete unthinkable trades, doodling in Etruscan, addicts of drugs not yet synthesized, black marketeers of World War II, excisors of telepatic sensitivity, osteopaths of the spirit, investigators of infractions denounced by bland paranoid chess players, servers of fragmentary warrents taken down in hebephrenic shorthand charging unspeakable mutilations of the spirit, officials of unconstituted police states, brokers of exquisite dreams and nostalgias tested on the sensitized cells of junk sickness and bartered for raw materials of the will, drinkers of the Heavy Fluid sealed in translucent anber of dreams.

The Meet Café occupies one side of the Plaza, a maze of kitchens, restaurants, sleeping cubicles, perilous balconies and basements opening into the underground baths.

On stools covered in white satin sit naked Mugwumps sucking translucent, colored syrups through alabaster straws. Mugwambs have no liver and norish themselfes excusivly on sweets. Thin, purple-blue lips cover a razor-sharp beak of black bone with which they frequantly tear each other t shreds in fights over clients. These creatures secrete an addicting fluid from their erect penises which prolongs life by slowing metabolism. (In fact all logevity agents have proved addicting in exact ratio to their effectiveness in prolonging life.) Addicts of Mugwamp fluid are known as Reptiles. A number of these flow over the chairs with their flexible bones and blackpink flesh. A fan of green cartilage covered with hollow erectile hairs through which the Reptiles absorb the fluid sprouts from behind each ear. The fans, which move from time to time touched by invisible currents, serve also some form of communications known only to Reptiles.

During the bienal Panics when the raw, pealed Dream Police storm the City, the Mugwamps take refuge in the deepest crevices of the wall sealing themselves in day cubicles and remain for weeks in biostasis. In those days of gray terror the Reptiles dart about faster and faster, scream past each other at supersonic speed, their flexible sculls flapping in black winds of insect agony.

benpadiah wrote: Ok.

I give up. Here's my two cents...

One) I agree with Hoilett, although, like many of you with the news stories you read off the mainstream media, I didn't actually read any more of his post than the first couple of lines.

Two) Hamas, Hamas... no one CARES! We all recognise the only real terrorists to have taken any significant action SINCE 9-11 have ALL been those who were elected to take action. Sharon and Bush, even Shiek Osama himself. They are all representatives of ALIEN IDEALOGIES that NO EARTHLING CARES ABOUT AT ALL. Israel and Palestine are NOT Americans' fucking business. Nor are they the business we should care about if our leaders care about.

Three) Yes, so, therefore, let's continue electing ALIENS into office. I like the idea of fighting wars and people I will never meet, but probably wouldn't even like personally anyway, dying for causes that have more basis on the Prophecies of Nostradamus and the alignments of Mars than with anything that butters my bread.

Four) We all want the world to end in our time, we may as well admit it. We are no different than the DINOSAURS, and we should admit that too. These ALIENS and their bizarre superstitions (bowing to Mecca, fucking decorating our houses with flags so if we DID happen to land here from Mars we would be able to immediately identify what country we were in), they are just the ones to end it all for us.

Five) Once the ALIENS have DESTROYED our civilisation AND spaceport BABYLON both, then and only then will they bring the Kingdom of Heaven to Earth. Fuck you, Jesus SAID SO! Only when WE die will these ALIENS have ETERNAL PEACE. I like the idea. So I'm with the Invaders, no use trying to hide that.

Six) Once we are all dead, and there is peace, then and ONLY THEN will we be able to exist without having to listen to people we don't like debate about things we don't care about, and thus there will be NO ANGER. Since Fear leads to Anger, then once ANGER is out of the picture, We Will Win The War On Terror. Suck it up, "liberals!"

Seven) therefore, Hamas winning some elections (which is more than can be said for Bush and his appointees since his own appointment in 2000) is not only good for the prevalent agendas of the day, and their illiterate proponents, but also for the rest of us, from outerspace, who just want you earthlings to go to fucking hell and burn forever and die Die DIE.

Eight) Yes, you humans will all elect your death and doom, because you think you'll go to heaven when the world ends. Well? DO SO. Get It Over With. KILL EARTH, IF YOU CAN. Hamas winning some elections? BAH. LAUNCH NUKES. YOU DUMB FUCKS!!!!!!!!111 Nine) If you think cutting off non-existent financial aid (by not buying SUV's perhaps>?? No, certainly not!!!) to those in the middle east (PA) who actually still HAVE democracy will prevent the same idealogical parties from coming to power back home, BY ANY MEANS NECESSARY (including military threat!!), you are an EARTHLING, and ARE GOING TO DIE.

Ten) the people who make a FUCKING JOKE out of all this? We are the ALIENS. We will continue to survive even long AFTER your ETERNAL "HEAVEN" will have burnt out into synonimity with BORING HELL!!!!! So FUCK YOU ALL!!!! LOL!!! LOL!!! LOL!!

I believe the primary thesis of this holds true, even upon the topological surface of the manifold, when the neighborhood set moves, it indicates the area upon which it is a measurement is moving. The primary thesis being: while bacteria are evolving FROM dinosaurs "forwards" through time, viral lifeforms are devolving TO dinosaurs "backwards" through time.

William S. Burroughs was known, from time to time, to listen to a recording of himself reading made previously while doing a public performace of a reading from one of his books. He was also known to shuffle papers before him, although these papers were also loose leaf, not even stapled together. He also carried a pencil with him to make notes, but he was never known to use it. It is also believed the papers were blank.

Although never discussed publically during Burroughs' own lifetime, the use of the tapes can now be openly admitted. It has come to the light of some researchers that these tape recordings, although none directly available for reference themselves, have recorded static noises in the background behind Burroughs' reading of his publically delivered speeches. Thus, over Burroughs' own voice in the recording low in the mix are the sounds that Burroughs himself was hearing in his own ears while speaking.

The findings of this research reveals that the left ear audio usually dictated immediately prior to Burroughs repeating it word for word along with the performance of the reading Burroughs was doing. In the right ear it seemed to be the same dictation, that is, delivered in the same cadence, only trailing the other by a second or two, lagging behind so as to provide Burroughs a window through which to dictate the text aloud.

The results of these findings of the researchers on Burroughs recorded speeches are divided on the reason for this effect to have occured. Some believe that it is a combination of a skipping in the translation of the recording from an analog to a digital media and the microphone echo when the recording was originally made. Others believe that there is a much more telling fact about the true nature of these findings in that the voices on the recording other than Burroughs are not his own. The leading voice has neither Burroughs' lilting Southern cadence nor his nasal tone of voice. The lagging voice is usually drowned out by Burroughs dictation over it. It is really irrelavant what either of these two schools believes, either the "technical malfunction" camp nor the "pre-recorded dictation" camp. The fact of the voices themselves is there. Some claim that their absence, and not their presence, is more telling, since they do not hear the fracturing and fragmenting of the left and right voices in every recording.

However, Burroughs himself identifies these voices at great length in his own writings, and many of his readings of these writings themselves have been recorded. It is usually in these recordings that the voice-over voices can be heard. It is quite difficult to find the references Burroughs makes to the voices themselves specifically within the full body contents of his writings however because of his use of the cut-up method. Thus, even if the entire initial recognition by the writer of these voices was a single isolated incident, by collaging his text thereof, he has sprinkled and permeated the remains of this initial experience throughout the full compendium of his corpus. Burroughs himself refers to the left and right voices as "Mr. Bradley" and "Mr. Martin," in one of his most famous collaged pieces "Breakthrough in Grey Rooms."

The apologists for the stereo-dictation effect forward the "fact" that many of the vocal recordings of Burroughs do not seem to possess the strange effect. However ALL the recordings ever made of Burroughs DO have a common buzzing sound in the background. This low-frequency sound is clearly distinct from the audience sounds or the feedback of the microphone, the pops and hisses of the analog recording, as well as the rather obvious hiss or hum of the digital playback device itself. This low frequency buzz, almost a drone, also shows up as a slight visual effect of all video footage of Burroughs as well. In discussing his year at Vienna learning medicine, and his close brush with becoming involved in international espionage through Colonel Bill Donovan (the first chief of the OSS), in the documentray bearing his own name, the buzz that surrounded Burroughs can pronouncedly be heard. Also in one of the audio recordings from the Nova Convention the dual voices can most clearly be heard.

Now, the implications of these voices, if they are not, ultimately, chalked up exclusively to recording irregularities, are vast. The notion that the static patterns, that is, the voices, are unique to Burroughs is only the first step down the road of thought that Burroughs heard these voices himself, which leads ultimately to the notion that Burroughs was merely a conduit for the dictation through the dimensions of our reality of beings from beyond. This notion, that is, the alien or the "extraterrestrial" hypothesis, actually dates back to before the "grey" abduction scenarios of Betty and Barney Hill in the late fourties early fifties, to Nikola Tesla in the 1920's, who claimed to have made contact with beings from Venus, and was able to manipulate the stars in the sky by merely pointing at them.

The use of technology to augment the senses is, of course, as old as the Rennaissance itself, before even the Enlightenment, although the use of electronic, cybernetic technology to augment the senses has only occured since the turn of the twentieth century. Therefore, those unexplained mysteries perceived by the senses come into clearer focus through our technology. Some of them are callled "natural" while those that have not yet been explained, but those which continue to be observed, nonetheless, through the technologically augmented senses, are simply called "supernatural." That is to say that, they remain mysteries, but are confirmably identifiable as "real" events that have been and are occuring.

The technology, for example, when it is used as a mass-media to augment the ability to communicate new ideas very quickly, then people quickly come to share experiences they have had with the inexplicable phenomenon they observe with their senses. These senses thus change in accordance with the sharing of information through the augmentation of them by technological media.

For example, as the news media becomes more easily accessable to the majority in a society then ideas spread more rapidly among them, that is, their thoughts become attuned at a higher frequency. The gradual changing of the senses over a quickenning duration of time by their augmentation by technology, especially electronic technology, results in there becoming more unexplained mysterious phenomenon experienced by the senses, that is, in greater alienation from the concept of "nature" or "naturally occuring events," to the extent of tending towards the "supernatural" as totally replacing the mundane.

When Burroughs describes Au Puq or the Great Golden Contender, he is describing a higher-order form than when he is describing a character like Kym Lee or Dr. Benway, let alone his myriad plethora of simians and centipedes. However, his ability to move in and out of these characteristic type "zones" or "fields" at will in his writing evokes to him a higher authority. He takes on the appearance of a trance-like shaman, or a global guide on the ever-changing "royal road" of earth's orbit.

And this guise is Jim Morrison, the rex dinosaur, king thunder-lizard. And surely this same mere disguise, outlived by the mighty Mugwump Master, that frightened his already budding next incarnation, the miniature rodent of Hunter S. Thompson, was also only one face of his own in the same way that his face was only one face of their own among his previous incarnations, in the case of Burroughs, dating back via existentialism through Jean Paul Sartre to Friedrich Willhelm Nietzsche. The passage of the Golden Bough from each of these great minds to the next, that is the essence of the perennial tradition itself, is here merely traced along a single evolutionary path among 6 billion humans alive on earth right now.

This cycle of reincarnation of minds among mortal men is always going on. It is like a programme being copied from one machine to another. Eventually the programme learns how to upgrade itself by adapting to the average update of its host machines at their rate of planned obsolecence. Because the programme itself, that is: the spiritual geometric pattern of karma in the electromagnetic aura that moves about freely from one host body to another; because this programme is essentially binary: karmic switches of on or off; then it is said that it is also free to move about in time, that is, for the black and white on/off switches to be reversed from opposite temporal directions. What is on, then in one direction, is off in the opposite direction, and so forth in all living morphogenetic fields that manipulate our molecular DNA. The terrestrial, forward-moving species and the viral, extraterrestrial, backward-moving species have formed, by manipulating subtle energy patterns into organic DNA and RNA, all life on earth now as their symbiotic vessels. It is quite clear that all of this was known to each of the people along that specific evolutionary strand, and that, in all probability, they were one and the same aura, incarnating over time.

Willhelm Nietzsche, Jean Paul Sartre, William S. Burroughs, Jim Morrison, Hunter S. Thompson... all of these people share a common thread between them, and that is that they advocated a rebellion BY perception AGAINST existence. This is indicative of their affiliation with the off-world motives of the viral, backwards-moving species.

This viral, backwards moving species is as much on the brink of crossing the "missing link" between the third and second circuit as most of the rest of our own species is of crossing the axon-dendrite gap between the sixth and seventh. As we seek to augment our senses and advance forward, this alien species is simultaneously studying our past, and learning how to process the same thoughts as we have, as they had before us, in simpler and simpler macro-moleular life form vessels. As we teach our brains to think more extraterrestrially, the extraterrestrial species within us is devolving itself backwards in time until it can separate from the terrestrial bacterial lifeforms on this planet and retreat from whence, to us, they came.

William Burroughs describes the alien species at length, outright admitting his actions to be those of merely their puppet. So, too, is it obvious in the writings of Nietzsche and Sartre their suspicions of the motive forces behind the veil of existence-in-itself, as well as in those of Morrison and Thompson the eventual abject horror they experienced at what they found there. Burroughs puts it most succinctly when he describes the very moment of the transition between the human-bacterial and the alien-viral ways of life as being the explosion of the atomic bomb.

This, it mght be believed in retrospect, has more to do with the atomic tests in the American desert and the perception of the remnants of the once mighty dinosaur species as having devolved into small desert reptiles than anything much to do with the ape-men's global socio-politics at the time. However, among the mammals there was a great stir at that time towards the proclivity for global war, and this became associated with the so-callled "Greatest Generation." What I think is so unique about the "Greatest Generation" is that they were the first, to my knowledge at least, fully intersocially integrated, and mostly interbred, humans and aliens. This is quite clear if one studies even just a few brief examples of the literature from the era, such as Aleister Crowley's "Moon Child" - which influenced Jack Parsons, founder of the JPL, to conceive of the "Aquarian conspiracy," or the "hippy movement," with L. Ron Hubbard, founder of Scientology - or even Nabakov's Lolita.

Before the introduction of the atomic bomb, there was a great sense of rapprochement between different national, even transoceanic, cultures. It was simply a misunderstanding of this energy, in the form of the redistribution of wealth, that led to all the patriotic multinational wars of the twentieth century, but which are all crowned by, as Burroughs himself points out, the atomic bomb.

This event is, for the common people, that is, exoterically, what the Equinox of the Gods ritual is for the initiated. Crowley performed the Equinox of the Gods ritual in two parts in northern Egypt. The atomic bomb was dropped nearly fifty years later. These events were meant to herald something much more than merely the turning of a new decade, or century, or even millennium. These events were taken by the Mayan calendrical clerics and subsequently by Crowley to usher in a completely new aeon, or zodiacal age in the evolution of the mind.

Crowley identified the aeon of the mother, the father, and proclaimed the Equinox of the Gods ritual to be ushering in the era of the "crowned and conquering child" for civilisation. Some of the dinosaurs, who are infinitely more superstitious than the mammals, believe the Equinox of the Gods ceremony was performed an hundred years too soon, but these are in an asymptotic minority besides the masses of those earthlings, almost entirely hybrid species by now, who remain blissfully ignorant of all of this, and perceive these motive forces behind the veil of existence only as vague inexplicable phenomena of the, usually augmented, senses.

Thus, the neo-Sethians, that is, the movement for 21st century apocalypse (as opposed to those who apply pesher to the events of the 20th century fulfilling all the requisite prophecies), are increasing their power at an exponential rate, it would seem from a great distance, however upon closer inspection of their extraterrestrial surroundings they are a sub-microscopic speck of a gravity well 2/3 away from the centre of an insignificant spiral galaxy.

The Path of the Black Hand keeps order amongst the cult of sleep, and the neo-sethians are only one consolidated faction within the Order of Death. As the futuredinosaurs evolve backwards through us, we earthlings evolve one at a time over night to awaken from our psychic "sleep" to percieve the international conspiracy of psychics, and eventually to join into the Order of Death, or the proponents of the psychic conspiracy and its shamanic guides.

Usually, the OHO of the Order of Death is someone not particularly well known, such as Meyer Rothschild, or JP Morgan, but controls great landscapes of human chess pieces from off in the distance behind the scenes. However the neo-Sethians have reversed this trend, and begun making both their elected (or appointed in the case of W.) OHO and even the IHO of the entire Order of Death is made publically known nowadays. There is even a popular runner up.

The entire popularisation of the Carbonari's concepts of culture through "mysterious" Rosicrucian novels and sorcery college fairybooks for kids has co-opted from within, and only over the past few years, the dominant preoccupation of the limited attention spans of the disposable income channel-surfing pedo-nympho children that stear the teeny pop culture media simulacrum provided by America for consumption by the west. Now children find themselves preoccupied with oddly humanitarian interests, although no more aware of why than they would be if, as with the Mayan culture, they were driven towards sports. They consider the greater, deeper, and more meaningful mysteries of life, while just beyond the borders of western civilisation a war against terrorism wages, consuming the lives of those along this entirely arbitrary border on both sides.

This has all been accomplished by the neo-Sethians over a relatively short period of time, when one assumes as given that they are a cult within that of Christianity, and not actually part of or the same as an older cult that had created Christianity itself, before Christianity began to mutate into neo-Sethianism.

Here you can hear Burroughs himself describe the "Breakthrough in Grey Rooms": http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/MrBurroughs.mp3

Here you can listen to the vocal doubling effect for yourself: http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/KymCarson.mp3

The earliest neo-Sethians to infiltrate Christianity and begin the second-Coming movement within the Southern Baptists and American Primitivist sects during the 20th century were not even Christian. They worshipped the God Pan, as Burroughs calls him: Pan, God of Panic.

Now, there will be those among us who would argue that neo-Sethianism, that is, the concept of the Second Coming of the Messiah, dates back much further, even within the cult of Christianity. Not only dogmatically back to the Revelation of John of Patmos, but historically to prior second coming sects within the Christian cult, such as Mormonism under Joseph Smith. Although there are also many Christians who would argue that Mormonism is not rightly Christian, and this would be because it preaches that Jesus also appeared to the native Americans, and this misegination between racial Hebrews and those who can only even be accounted for as "Lost Tribes," in order to admit their existence at all, is simply too difficult an equation to be processed by the minds of the average cromagnon Christian. Thus, the "official" sects accepted as part of the Christian cult (ergo Catholics, protestants, anglicans, southern-Baptists, etc.) have not until this present time adopted the position of advocating thoughts about the second coming of Jesus Christ.

So, it should not be a surprise that, immediately prior to this "neo-Sethian" movement within Christianity itself (that is, worshipping the second coming of Jesus), the same "neo-Sethianism" was occuring for the members of a different cult, that of Pan (that is, worshipping of the second coming of Pan), a figure which, by the admission of all those involved in the debate thus far, is typically and rightly associated with the Christian anti-Christ.

Now, because of the difference, mainly in choice of lifestyle, between the "average" Christian and the typical worshipper of Pan, there would have to be a period of some transition between the two, however, because of the similarity of them in many respects (such as having the pre-agreed upon character of the anti-Christ in common), this transition period was able to be shortened. However, what surprised most of those involved, on both sides, was how rapidly the transition was able to be accomplished.

Within a mere century the purely Pantheist neo-Sethian movement has been completely, to the last member, supplanted into the Christian cult. The neo-Sethian movement is, in effect, the symptom of the disease that is Pantheism infiltrating the host body of Christianity. This is simply typical, however, of how the social movements and expressions of mankind age over time, for Christianity had once done the same to Catharist Gnosticism.

Since the Order of Death is a democratic movement, it is capable of mobility between the different areas of awareness accessable within the social mind of man, the self-aware species active upon the surface of our terrestrial brain. This means, simply put, that it is a democracy determined by populism, an example of which is its choice to be represented within the human society of which it is the collective manifestation as acting in accord with an agreed upon set of definitional dimensions equal to those implied by the concept of neo-Sethianism.

Now, the modern OHO, since the Death of William S. Burroughs, has been, more or less entirely, George W. Bush, son of ex-president, former vice-president, and once director of the CIA, George H. W. Bush. The Bush family has sought the nomination of their bloodline for many generations, and the choice of W. for the position of OHO is historically significant as the first time it has fallen simultaneously in the candidate's life to their being in attainment of the position of highest authority in the land, that is, over the greatest number of people. It is unfortunate that W. was not put in a position where he was forced to literally kill his own father, H.W., because, according to their family's (neo-Sethian) beliefs, it is only AFTER the Father Dies that the Son Inherits the Full Power of the Blood. This means that, the previous incarnations of the Bush family remain most manifest in the father, while alive, in this case HW, and the current president, a barely-graduate of Yale and member of the college frat house Skull 'n' Bones, look like a dummy puppet while holding the position of President of the United States of America.

The choice of W, rather than HW, for the position of OHO is no mere matter of convenience. His family bloodline has been neo-Sethian "Christians" (ie. converted Pantheists) since Burroughs, and they are decorated by modern conspiracy theorists to descend from the Piso family of Rome, who, with the Plinies, co-authored the New Testament of the Bible. However, because of the traditions of belief adhered to by the Bush family and its entourage, which is decidely southern-Baptist, American primitivist Christian in practise for the last 100 years or so, it is the Last in Line who is to be Served First; or rather, whenever there is a question of legitemacy of heirage, the title always goes to the eldest male offspring of the latest generation. This is essentially equivalent to how the passage of the title of "King" is practised in Britain, only with the youngest living generation holding the title here, rather than the eldest.

Therefore, it was W rather than HW who was chosen as the next person to hold the titles of US President and OHO, and the first person in history to hold them simultaneously. In reality, it could have been either W or HW who would have been equally convenient to be chosen in terms of visiting with the IHO, Ariel Sharon, and for all intents and purposes it really is HW calling all the shots behind W anyway, who is only acting as his dictator puppet.

Now, the issue of succession between the OHO's and the IHO's of the Order is an interesting one in this case because the last IHO, Jim Morrison, died before the last OHO, William S. Burroughs. Therefore, there appears, from outside, to be a gap in the records regarding who, if anyone, filled the office between the death of Morrison in 73 and the present IHO, Ariel Sharon. The news that Sharon was, in fact, the IHO was only confirmed by the fact that, shortly after the hypothesis was annouced (see previous posts), Ariel Sharon suffered a massive blood hemmorhage of the brain, a stroke, and fell into a coma. It is possible that, following this event, the holder of the crown of IHO was shifted. It remains to be seen to whom.

The two most popular contenders for the position, which is now, almost immediately, considered to be a Peppermoth Affair, or matter of public opinion, are considered to be W and Pope Ratzinger. The idiot masses are no more amazed at the idiocy of these two potential choices than are the idiotic candidates themselves. In fact, the only sane one out there now, Usama Ben Ladin, is so offended at the sheer and utter idiocy of the preceding forums that he stormed out and ordered an airplane flown into the Bilderbergers' 2001 Meeting at the WTC on Sept 11th.

This action, however, was considered so "gay" by the popular masses that it made it virtually impossible to elect Usama Ben Ladin as IHO then. It was jovially said amongst the halls of order and justice that the only thing that would ever make the planet look "straight" again would be to "crash a space shuttle into the grand canyon." Baudrillard remarked something himself about offset or imbalanced world powers as illusory. Since then the whole entire affair has become the subject of ludacrous public mockery, and it is openly accepted that "at one point HW Bush had had an affair with Muhammed Awad, Usama's father, while in the middle east as a spy, and that is how Osama was born," and that Usama himself is actually "only no more than a video image himself, the first actorless-VR construction of an ambassador from a benevolent off-world AI that is trying to warn us about the next coming ice-age."

So, it is difficult, as always, to track the lineage of the IHO, which is, the esoteric head of the Order of Death. The person of the OHO, it should be remembered, is essentially insigificant compared to the wholly over-riding opinion of the IHO. However, when, as may have been the case during Burroughs own later lifetime, the OHO is active instead of or in place of thelast active IHO, they become the de facto IHO themselves, with no one else's opinion over-ruling their own.

The position of IHO is, of course, equivalent to captain of the planet, spaceship earth. The position of the OHO then is essentially that of first-officer, acting commander on away-missions, that is, secretary and correspondent in all active public relations, etc. He is the ambassador, the representative, of any and all involved alien agendas as they regard to the solution of any problem between the political factions of us earthlings. These are important positions, of course, but they really play no necessary part in the day-to-day thought patterns of the average terrestrial hominid. It has only been during the last twenty years or so that the positions have been made so public as even Burroughs or Morrison, let alone the current president of the United States and the prime minister of Israel.

The issue of "homeland" and of "security" for that homeland should be fastidiously investigated for their influential interconnectedness with the concept of the "false agenda" expressed by every common street magician in the form of manual misdirection: "follow the birdy;" distracting the public's interests away from what is really going on, the "trick" behind the scenes as it were, which can only mean that the apparent OHO and IHO, eg W and Sharon, might themselves only be splitting the office of OHO, behind which exists a yet more secretive office, an even further elevated office, a "higher up" IHO.

Nonetheless it may be important for us to provide some modicum of exposition on the matter here ourselves no matter how limited it may prove to be. If the OHOs were using misdirection to distract the popular opinion, the so called public eye, away from what the real issue might be, and they were doing so by making the masses convinced that it was an issue of oil supporting government to make war on foreign oil suppliers, then what could the real issue, the one they are attempting to obfuscate by this strategy, be? Some have speculated it is the so-called "constant conflict" paradigm of the PNAC, leading more toward a police-state. Others see it as a "clash of civilisations" between an existing world-police and a rebellion of bedouins, who falsely portray their own conflict as rooted between "opposing" religions' fundamentalism. Ultimately, we may never know the true roots of the so-called "War on Terror" paradigm. Some worry it may already be too late for us to stop the impending doom our own misunderstanding may imply.

A more likely scenario is not a hierarchy based on cooperation, but one based on competition between the different official levels. Therefore, we cannot say with any degree of utter certainty that W and the Pope are actively cooperating as co-OHO's, nor can we say the opposite of this is exclusively true either, and say that they are in a race to control the greatest number of human minds for themselves in order to undermine the authority of the other, or even, ultimately, to forcibly overthrow them. We can only say, beyond any shadow of a doubt, that there is a conspiracy of sorts between W and Ratzinger over the resting corpse of Arial Sharon.

Ultimately, this does not effect anyone outside the Order, according to their rules and stipulations, however, since the time that the Cult of Sleep was taken under the auspices of the elder Order of Death, which is further back than any records can teach the uninitated, the Order of Death includes all human and most animal lifeforms on planet earth. Because of this easily forgettable fact, the difference between another neo-Sethian and a paleo-Cathar for IHO ends up becoming a VERY important matter for concern by the public with the possible outcome of a large public effect. That is why W and the Pope are the two main candidates, and also explains why it is necessary for Usama to hide off in the shadows for the time being.

While W bears more resemblance to the last IHO, Sharon, whose light is already fading, Ratzinger seems to bear more resemblance to the next possible IHO, Usama Ben Ladin. It is interesting to study the philosophical movements that move, at all angles, through the Great Halls of the Order over time. For example, Burroughs was the OHO before he converted to neo-Sethianism, while Jim Morrison was a neo-Sethian before becoming the IHO. In a similar manner, Usama was raised Moslem (a very anti-Papal religion, similar in some other respects as well to Gnostic Catharism), and yet would likely succeed from Pope Ratzinger, who, ironically, would actually share Usama's views on the immediately previous two heads of the order, Sharon and W. Ratzinger and Ben Ladin are simply two sides of the same coin. Philosophically they will prove in the coming years to depend on each other as much as, currently, Israeli nationalism depends upon the might of the US military. Ben Ladin and Benedict XVI are the "Righteous Teacher" and the "Wicked Priest" described by the Gnostic Essene scrolls from Qumran on the Dead Sea 2000 years ago. These documents became the basis for the Book of Revelations cited as the original document of Christian neo-Sethianism by that modern sect.

I say all this should be interesting, but isn't, because it is of no immediate importance or even interest to most cromagnon Americans, and let's face it, right now, the US controls by implication alone of the strength of their military the interests of western civilisation, which in turn governs resource allocation for the rest of the planet. So it falls to the "leisure" class to consider such questions as how and why did the Essenes seem to be able to make predictions about our own current political climate some 2000 years earlier in the cycle. In fact, if you think about the detail of the gnostic apocrypha compared to the vague science of the Mayan Tzolkin, it is really much more impressive the magnification through which the Essenes saw 2000 years ahead into our future than it is that the Maya were able to see 3000 years into their own past.

The interesting thing about the coming succession of heads of the Order isn't that it will probably see a massive and violent trend away from neo-conservative, eschatological, neo-Sethian towards the unification of polar opposites in rataliation to the previous heads, although it will, no, the interesting thing about the next five years or so is that so many people will be involved in the massive upheaval to come when the anti-Sethians take hold of the positions now held by the neo-Sethians. This is simply a matter of numbers.

Just as nowadays they say that "for each head of a terrorist leader you cut off, two grow back," soon it will also be said that, "for every cent the neo-Sethians spend today, their successors will have to pay triple." This is simply numbers: if the neo-Sethian fundamentalist extremist reactionaries in the Christian and Muslim realms of the world continue their war, it will create the necessity to continue the war on the same turf as the enemy, since each "terrorist" killed increases the likelihood of more being born into the same situation, and it will tank the world economy since overspending will have to be paid back by the next generation's increased taxes and lack of veteran's aid and other social programmes funding.

The neo-Sethian movement is not long for this world. They have a death wish in the extreme, they wish death upon and to the ends of the earth. And they have instigated a very public war between the previously more subtle struggle to gain control over the minds of all of humanity, but also militantly physically, defiantly caused the whole remainder of humanity to see this struggle appear suddenly and from all sides, such that they knew not where it was coming from, or who to fear, and they turned to the neo-Sethians.

If you think this current minor question of leadership between W and Ratzinger for the office of IHO is in any way rough or intense compared to what is to come you are wrong. Once Usama succeeds Ratzinger, or they share the ticket, which will only be after W is out of the picture altogether (by 2008), then the two fronts that had united against the neo-Sethians will split violently between the Christian Ratzinger and the Moslem Usama. If you think there is competition between current officers for higher position now, wait until this summer, when the rivalry will shift from between W and Ratzinger to between W or Ratzinger and Usama.

As far as W seems to be concerned, this is already the case. Ignoring Ratzinger's legitimate claim as the next IHO, or even only OHO, W has set about waging war against Usama so that he will not be able to succeed W as OHO or as IHO. As last of the neo-Sethian heads of the Order, W has gone mad-hatter insane.

It is likely that W believes, at least since Ariel Sharon's stroke, that he is the acting IHO. This is, for all we outside of this office know, possibly true. It would be a very unfortunate turn of events if this were the case however, since the neo-Sethian agenda which seems, thus far, to have been W's only guiding principle calls for the end of the planet earth, on which all the rest of us happen to be living.

Interestingly enough, as is always the case regarding "good" and "evil," each side sees itself as "good" and the other side as "evil." The neo-Sethian W and Sharon saw Ratzinger and Usama as "evil," while Ratzinger and Usama see W and Sharon as "evil." Of course, neither of these points of view is exactly accurate, and there are actually many overlaps in the beliefs of Usama and Ratzinger and W and Sharon.

It may be a little misleading to call Ratzinger and Usama "anti-Sethians." They are against all of the proposed "end-times" strategies of the neo-Sethians, ergo blowing up earth with thermo-nuclear weapons and transcending off planet in either spaceships or time machines. Usama and Ratzinger DO believe, as the neo-Sethians believe, that this IS in fact the "end times." They also claim to have other, less destructive strategies for prolonging the "end times" before the actual, theoretical, destruction of planet earth.

Of course, the irony of all this is that W and Sharon claim to be conservative when it comes to the "end times" and W claims vehemently that if Usama becomes the OHO or IHO he will most assuredly destroy the entire planet. This is an obvious lie, but Usama would, most assuredly, advocate rollbacks to some of the more militant "defenses" of western civilisation, which W sees as being synonimous with the entire planet.

It could be said the issue boils down to bacterial vs viral lifeforms, moving forward in time from being monkies (Rh+ bloodtype) and moving backwards in time toward being dinosaurs (Rh- bloodtype). This wouldn't be entirely true, since there are different factions to be considered within each of these groups as well, and ultimately every individual is different, and we can only talk about such matters philosophically, and not as they pertain to physical characteristics such as bloodtype or race.

In reality, the traits and conditions that make one a neo-Sethian or not a neo-Sethian only manifest themselves in one's aura, where the appearance of a reptilian form will manifest itself to those who do not identify themselves with the neo-Sethian agenda.

from For A New World Order wrote: On the Problem of the Cypher archetype and Neo-Sethians by: Pan Da' Bare Raccoon

Let dream and reality reverse. The black helicopters become dragonflies, the earth a puddly pasture in which you are lying alone. You float there like a bubble in the infinite tar of possibilities that is the universe. It is along held, though secret, fact that, under the gaze of Annuit Coeptis, you come to encounter yourself. This is an inadequate description of the event — but many are too horrified by it to ever dare appraoch it repeatedly — so I will not discuss it any further here.

Let us instead address the question in the parable — is the ultimate manifestation of the formal system of metaphysics the information unit contents of the disk, or the real particles of the glass pipe? For, by this question, we unravel the Sethian perspective.

It is difficult to know if Satan — that is the sole patsy possessed by the ghost of the Great Baby Buddha, lad along blindly deeper and deeper into the body of a Beast more and more complex — knew what it was doing when it actually completed its transaction in the Garden, although it would obviously occur at several different times at various sizes and scales, as the fractal waveleght of the fourth dimension that comprises it over time passes through this suffering field of manifestation. On the other hand, everybody who's ever had to pop a blood-engorged tick after it has suckled on your very life's blood knows how the encounter feels. It is sounds of war.

This is only an encrytpion system engrained in the earth's electromagnetic field and utilized as pre-established, prefered frequencies of connection in the Enochian communications system. They occur as worm-holes, these links, between similar possibilities accessed when potential interacts with itself within one of them, causing a motivated similarity. Now then, where does the Enochian communications system exist? Surely in the Akashic records — but where is that? Will such a thing still exist if its reliance on as of yet undiscovered libraries, or the fluency of currency, has been ruled out and out ruled? See a bigger picture in a smaller frame, you might miss parts.

The new OHO and the temporary IHO of the OoD over the CoS is:

Laura Bush.

EDIT: it has also now been discovered that Laura Bush has been the de facto IHO during the neo-con reign thus far, and that, prior to the neo-con coup de tat of the 2000 election, Trevor Smith, better known to the public as rapper Busta Rhymes, held the dual-joint office of OHO and de facto IHO.

to recapitulate the previous points:

The Sethians were gnostics, persecuted as the Cathars during the Inquisition by the Catholic Church. Because they have been anti-papal since then, the neo-Sethians have arisen to manipulate the Christian agenda during the alignment of the galaxies.

During the modern era the Order of Death was reformed from Masonry into the Illuminism of the Golden Dawn. During this time the first IHO was Mathers and the first OHO Crowley.

Following this, the Sethian movement followed the "ascended masters" and the neo-Sethians began to infiltrate the continuing lineage of OHOs and IHOs of the Order.

The next known OHO was William Seward Burroughs. It is believed that he became OHO soon after Crowley became IHO. Upon Crowley's death, Burroughs ascended to become the IHO, and Jim Morrison became the OHO. Burroughs converted to neo-Sethianism shortly after his ascension to IHO, and it is believed that by the time Morrison became OHO he was already a neo-Sethian.

Following this there is a gap in the chronology of OHOs and IHOs of the modern Order of Death. It is possible that former OHO's under Burroughs might also have included "gonzo" journalist Hunter S. Thompson and even George Lucas, creator of the Star Wars frnachise. The next known OHO was made public around the same time as the death of William Burroughs. His natural name was Trevor Smith, but he had come to be known as "gangsta" rapper "Busta Rhymes."

Busta Rhymes is thought to have been succeeded by George W. Bush during the coup de tat of the 2000 Florida election fiasco. It is possible that he completely ceceeded from the Order at this time. More recent evidence indicates there was a massive power struggle between Busta Rhymes and Laura Bush, who had become the most powerful neo-Sethian in history.

Following this event, which I will describe in somewhat greater detail in a moment, it was generally believed that George W. Bush was the Most Powerful Man In The World. It seemed that, if he was not the actual IHO himself, as indicated by his membership in Skull and Bones, then he must assuredly be the OHO himself, as indicated by his nickname in S&B, "Temporary." It was widely speculated that the true IHO during this time may indeed have been Dick Cheney. During this time, the popular faces of the order were George W. Bush and Ariel Sharon, however the two most powerful people behind the scenes were really Dick Cheney and Laura Bush, both of whom are even more neo-Sethian than their puppet-dictators George W. Bush and Ariel Sharon. It should be worth noting the neo-Sethian way of managing the Order appears to be based on the offices being dually held by two officers at the same time.

At the time of Ariel Sharon's stroke, there appears to have been a power struggle between Dick Cheney and Laura Bush. While Dick Cheney was accused of a "hunting accident," Laura Bush is being featured on A&E Classroom. And so, the current neosethian IHO of the Order of Death is Laura Bush. There appears to be no immediate OHO, although all prior contenders, ergo George W. Bush, Ariel Sharon, Dick Cheney, Usama Bin Ladin and Pope Ratzinger have fallen out of the running and are no longer valid contenders.

This brings us just about up-to-date on the previous posts in this thread. I will now elaborate on the confrontation scene between Busta Rhymes and Laura Bush.

Now, Busta Rhymes is not a neo-Sethian. Busta Rhymes is a Five Percenter.

wikipedia wrote:

The Five Percent Nation's teachings advocate that the Black man, which includes all men on Earth classified racially as "black, brown, yellow, red"—not only in the United States—are direct descendants of the first people to walk the earth, and that they are Gods by nature, just as their ancestors were. Also, among their most controversial teachings, is that the white man, being a much more recessive version of the black man and having lost the biological qulifications to receive and process divine energy, is the devil by nature.

Five Percenters also teach that Black people specifically, and the entire world population more generally, can be divided into three groups:

- * The 85%, who are the "humble masses," mentally deaf, dumb, and blind to the truth about themselves and the world they live in.
- * The 10%, who understand much of the truth but use it to their advantage to keep the 85% under their control through religion, politics, entertainment, economics, and other methods.
- * The 5%, who are the enlightened divine beings, having repossessed knowledge of the truth, regarding the foundations of life and of oneself, and seek to liberate the 85% through education.

The teachings of the Five Percent Nation are passed on through oral tradition. The advancement of a Five Percenter is based on his or her memorization, recitation, comprehension, and practical application of the Supreme Mathematics and Supreme Alphabets--lessons written by Clarence 13X/Allah, and also "120 Lessons" (a revised version of the Supreme Wisdom lessons of the NOI written originally by Wallace Fard Muhammad and Elijah Muhammad).

The basic teachings of the Nation of Gods and Earths are as follows; That Black people are the original people of the planet Earth. That Black people are the fathers and mothers of civilization. That the science of Supreme Mathematics is the key to understanding man's relationship to the universe. That living out the culture of Supreme Mathematics is their natural way of life. That education should be fashioned to enable Blacks to be self-sufficient as a people. That each individual should teach another individual according to one's knowledge. That the Black man is God, the Supreme Being. That children are the link to the future and they must be nurtured, respected, loved, protected, and educated. That the unified black family is the vital building block of the nation.

-source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Nation_of_Gods_and_Earths

also confer: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Category:Five_Percenters

Laura Bush, on the other hand, was raised Methodist.

wikipedia:Methodism wrote:

The basic beliefs of the United Methodist Church include:

- * Triune God. God is one God in three persons: God the Creator, Son and Holy Spirit.
- * Scripture. The writings in the Hebrew Bible and Greek Testament are the inspired word of God.
- * Sacraments. The UMC recognizes two sacraments: Baptism and Holy Communion. The Church generally practices infant baptism and recognizes baptisms from other denominations, and also practices open communion.
- * Inclusivity. The UMC includes and welcomes people of all races, cultures, and ages.
- * Free will. The UMC believes that people, while corrupted by sin, are free to make their own choices because of God's divine grace.
- * Grace. The UMC believes that God gives God's love freely to all people.

-source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Methodist_church

However, it is more likely that Laura Bush's own philosophical beliefs themselves are closer to those of the Seventh Day Adventists:

wikipedia wrote:

Adventist Church polity (governance), is a mixture of hierarchical (or episcopal) and presbyterian elements.

-source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Seventh-day_Adventist_Church

Who tend to actively recruit members from Methodist parents, who are in a phase of rebellion against the doctrinal constraints of their elders. Thus, the presbyterian agenda of local-governance among the Protestant Churches and the methodist agenda of regional-governance among the Church presidents are both advanced by Episcopal Evangelism.

The evangelical schools of Christianity, such as Episcopalians, LDS, Jehovah's Witnesses, Southern Baptists, etc. all prommote the strictest conservative values, and actively recruit from wealthy upper-middle class families of this type of background.

The notion that Laura Bush has abandoned the more liberal Methodism of her youth and college upbringing for more conservative Seventh Day Adventism is best expressed in her own words:

First Lady Laura Bush wrote:

As a child, I loved listening to my mother read to me. Little did I know that she was doing much more than providing comfort and entertainment; she was paving the way for my learning and success in school.

Research tells us that the early language experiences and education we provide our children shape the way they think and learn. The quality of these experiences affects a child's enthusiasm for learning, ability to interact with others and success in school.

Though many children grow up hearing a broad vocabulary and being read to from infancy, others enter school without knowing the names of letters or how to count. For these children, reading and learning can be a struggle. If they are unable to overcome this obstacle, their loss affects all of society.

Our challenge is to reach all children early so that every child starts school with the skills needed to learn. Once in the classroom, our children deserve excellent teachers and a high-quality education.

As a mother and former public school teacher and librarian, I believe we all have a duty to help our children achieve success. And I am proud to join President Bush in his goal to make America's schools the best they can be.

-- Letter from Mrs. Bush

-source: http://www.whitehouse.gov/firstlady/education.html

It is likely that Laura Bush was first moved to question the Methodist values of her youth on November 6, 1963, when she crashed her car into and killed her boyfriend at the time, Michael Dutton Douglas, age 17.

-source:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Laura_Bush#Responsibility_for_the_death_of_a_class mate

It is most liekly that Laura was then exposed to conservative Seventh Day Adventist values in the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas.

-source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Kappa_Alpha_Theta

This was the same sorority that Lynne Cheney had joined while attending college in Colarado and at the University of Wisconsin.

wikipedia: Lynne Cheney wrote:

Within the George W. Bush administration, Lynne Cheney is regarded as being quite politically involved and is a vocal supporter of Republican party politics and politicians. In this respect she is somewhat of a contrast to First Lady Laura Bush who has largely distanced herself from overt partisanship.

-source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Lynne_Cheney

This page also reminds us that Dick and Lynne Cheney's daughters were also born around the same time as Laura Bush was attending college, Liz in 1966 and Mary in 1969. Mary, who is a homosexual, has followed in her mother's footsteps of activism in her father's career and supporting "conservative" values.

whitehouse.gov wrote:

Lynne Cheney, wife of Vice President Dick Cheney, has loved history for as long as she can remember, and she has spent much of her professional life writing and speaking about the importance of knowing history and teaching it well.

-source: http://www.whitehouse.gov/mrscheney/

Now, understand that Busta Rhymes was schooled specifically by Clarence Smith (13x), who studied under Malcolm X, who had studied under Martin Luther King Junior, who was a friend of catholic president John Kennedy. These were the african-American "civil rights" leaders of note during the twnetieth century, and many of the first African Americans since Frederick Douglas to be successfully active in American politics. As we see the passive resistance of MLK was learned from Ghandi, who had in turn learned it while studying American naturalist philosopher Henry David Thoreau and philosophical transcendentalism in Harvard university, Great Britain. It seems that the return of transcendentalist philosophy as it is applied as passive resistance to American politics has served to aggitate the African American descendents of its practitioners.

This growing distaste for passive resistance takes two forms among modern African Americans: 1) subserviance to capitalism for the rewards of property. 2) the belief in the family as being the central and primary social unit, rather than the race itself. These values are essentially the same for the most passive resistant Christian coloured conservatives as it is for the most active resistant Muslim African American radical. These are neo-Sethian values.

However, the primary split between the whites on the one hand and the blacks on the other is that the blacks are becoming increasingly disillusioned with each generation with passive resistance, and therefore with Christianity, although still embracing essentially conservative capitalist values. The whites have never been the minority of the American population, but in an amount of areas almost equal to the cirtical mass point, whites are rapidly becoming the minority for the first time ever. Their reaction is to treat their neighboring comrades as inferior, and preach and prommote "educating" these ignorant savages. This results in a rebellion by, especially now, young African Americans against the moral dogmas of their "white-oppressor's" education, and they have begun to search alternative sources for education in all fields of study from hidden history to the sacred numbers and sacred geometries.

The African American experiment with transcendentalist passive resistance in American politics appears to have been orchestrated by the catholic church as a means of weakenning the secret societies by infiltrating their ranks with the disenfranchised and disillusioned displaced masses of a tribal aggrarian/hunter society that had been brought over for the past 400 years from their vast and breathtaking vista of a homeland on infested slave-ships, where they were then sold in bondage into servitude in an alien land, where their own language itself could not be understood.

The catholic connection is implied obscurely via the KKK. The Klan was vehemently anti-catholic, as well as anti-semitic and racist. They believed themselves the reborn chivalric order of the Scottish Right of Masonry, the once upon a time Templar Knights. However, they neglected to understand that the original Knights Templar were vehemently pro-catholic, albeit still supported by the anti-semitic and racist catholic order of zion, who were the true authors of the Protocols of the Learned Elders of Zion.

The Templars split from the church, and were purged from catholicism, when they chose to reverse their stand on the campaign of pogroms the catholic priory intended to unleash upon the Jews of Spain. The Templars had learned a great deal from the Semites of Palestine, and were familiar with the Ottomon Empire's prescence across northern Africa, from the Assassins in the east to the Spanish Jews in the west. The Templars understood that siding with the Moslems, the Hebrews, and the Africans would cost them many generations of lives in recouping from the purge, but they knew also the rewards in gold and diamonds would be greater still.

Now, the KKK were never really members of Masonry. Like the Order of Zion and the Knights Templar before them, they laboured not under a charter to convene as a lodge of labourers, but under the knighthood presented only by a king, and only under the auspices of a religious empire. Thus, the KKK were catholics attempting to defame masonry.

This is why the catholic president John Kennedy worked closely with Martin Luther King Junior during the "civil rights" movement. The purpose of this was to discourage passive resistance as a feasible means to achieving satisfactory ends in terms of civil rights for African Americans. Both MLK jr. and JFK were assassinated, and this was also perpetrated by catholic conspriacy to slander and stir up trouble for the Blue Lodge degrees.

It is not impossible that, within the highest eschalons of each, the same souls sit at the head of all tables. It is not impossible that slavery, although perpetrated by Catholicism as a slander against Zionism, may have been meant to strengthen Masonry's resolve for civil liberties. It is also possible that the decline in efficacy for passive resistance trend among modern African Africans following the civil rights movement is merely the mirror being held up to the mason plot to dispense hallucinogens to an entire generation of welathy, middle-class bourgoeoisie, which has proven to have had identical results. The blacks, like the hippies, have all turned coat and become the epitome of what their ancient-parents had once wanted for their elder-parents generation. The baby boomers have become what the flappers of the great depression had always dreamed of for the so-called greatest generation. Likewise, the Africans embrace these same values, the values of their oppressors, every time they complete any form of monetary transaction. They are buying into the service-sector route up the corporate ladder approach set before them by the baby-boomers, once hippies, who have now become the dreaded Neo-Sethians. The neo-conservative baby-boomers embrace the reptilian, off-world agenda of trancechanneling at their very heart, while the black Africans in America that serve these vile masters believe themselves Gods.

This is all merely one, relatively minor example of how entangled the many different factions involved in the family trees of social trends can become. It is important to remember that neither Ratzinger the Pope of catholicism nor Usama Ben Ladin, shiek of Mohammedism, consider themselves neo-Sethians. Both are violently opposed to the neo-con regime in America that is using the neo-Sethian strategy of infilitrating evangelical Christian sects to spread the tension of the millennium and the fear of Judgment Day. The Catholic Irish continually bomb Britain, and Usama Ben Ladin remains at large following the 9-11 WTC disaster.

So the leaders within these types of social movement make their intentions well known and clear. The followers, on the other hand, usually practise the opposite of this mentality, prommoting the status quo on the surface and upholding alternative value systems in relative privacy. This is what is called "playing the game."

No one on earth can "play the game" better than modern African Americans and the baby boomer generation of ex-hippies. This is because these are the two groups who were primarily responsible for the creation of civilisation in the first place: the African Egyptians and the pale blue Aryans achieved high society while the proto-Hebraic Sumerians were still writing in linear B.

Now these two are up to something. They have appeared to be in competition with one another. They prommote the same conclusions for solving the same perceived social problems as one another to the letter, but they are believed to disagree on something called a "fundamental" or rather, "fundamentalist" level. They both appear strictly conservative, one Christian, one Muslim. They agree and they disagree. So what are they up to?

It is my personal hypothesis that they do not differ between them at all. They have both become aware of their part within the Great Plan. They are in co-operation with one another. They have achieved what the Catholics and the Masons could not. They are Christians and Muslims sharing the same values. But these values are not really the conservative family values expressed by the cowering masses. They are expressed by the actions of their respective religious leaders.

It is unfortunate now that Pope Ratzinger, the catholic, cannot speak on behalf of baby-boomer, ex-hippy, modern neo-con passive resistant Christianity. It is unfortunate that therefore the substitute has become George W. Bush seeking council from Ariel Sharon. It is unfortunate because it means that Usama Bin Laden, who otherwise would have made a very great and powerful anonymous nobody, has been made out to be a criminal genius masterminding the entire conspiracy, when really he is only a patsy groomed over by intelligence agents.

This is why, despite their better judgment, the occult council of hermeticists has opted to elect Laura Bush as de facto OHO and de jour IHO over the Rosicrucian secret chiefs within the Order of Death.

I should take a moment here to remind the reader of the Grades of the Order:

where we see that The Free Mason degrees comprise the world of Assiah, the "material world," the Illuminati control the world of Yetzirah, the "formative world," the Rosicrucians rule the "creative world" of Briah, the Hermeticists are of the "archetypal world" of Atziluth.

confer for further reference to Aleister Crowley: 777, column CXXI (one hundred twenty one) of table IV (continued), page 25 of "six tables of correspondences" liber 777 revised.

Now to return to what a wondrous event it is that the neo-con ex-hippy baby boomers and the radical ex-Panther African Americans are sharing in the conspiracy together to pretend to have conservative family values and to be willingly participating in "playing the game" of capitalism. While attributable obviously to both the anti-socialism of marijuana and thus to the influence of the lodge, and to the anti-dogmatism of LSD and thus to the influence of the church, neither of these is really completely responsible for, nor can fully explain, this collusion.

Consider that the Charles Manson family occured contemporarily to the indoctrination of hundreds of rural blacks trained only by ultra-primitivist snake-handling zionites into their nearest local Lodges who then moved into the suburbs over the next generation by working service sector jobs and entry level positions in corporations. Nowadays the children of the members of the hippy "Fam" consider themselves the "entitlement" generation and move easily in the youth of even only their own single one lifetime from service sector to management, and from management to corporate, and hence up the ladder of power.

Only two decades ago this would have seemed as absurd a thing to dream of for a coloured female as becoming president. Now it seems as those we may yet see Condaleeza Rice (Rep) run against Hillary Clinton (Dem) for the Highest office in the land of the free.

There are ever more increasing breaking down of social barriers. The government pays for their patents in advance by grants to potential inventors, as it offers grants to aspiring writers to get their book published. The government funds art communities, and the government even funds the growing of medicinal marijuanna. The government is even paying me to be insane.

We see the government like a wall of liquid assets waiting behind the dam of banks who sell off interest-bearing loans. If the loans the banks make are above their own potential assets (such as should their assets not be liquid, but tied up in stock exchange investments, or hedge funds, or money market accounts, or even government bonds) then the government must bail them out. But if the government did not bail out the banks, but converted our monetary system to a central finance credit system instead, then this would as much accomplish the "overnight psychic revolution" as staying up early burning the candle at both ends.

So, now we can begin to see some of the goals and outcomes of the charade perpetrated by the collusion between the conservative whites and the blacks over an older and a younger generation. This is the fulfillment of the NAZI plan to conquer the Aryan Race and elevate it above the Negro and the Jew. However this is only the beginning.

Now we see the white and black Masons aligning, the Christian neo-conservatives, or rather, new conspirators, and the Moslem jihad apologists on one and the same side, deluding the planet.

At least, this was the vision shown to Busta Rhymes aby Laura Bush.

Busta Rhymes has been following the neo-Sethian movement throughout its history as it has suddenly infiltrated and rapidly taken over control of the Order of Death. Likewise, there was a certain neo-Sethian assigned to watch from within the movement and monitor Busta Rhymes as he investigated their movement from without. Busta's goal was to break the growing authority of the neo-Sethian movement within the Order of Death. In order to do this it was necessary that he confront this counter-image of himself. So, as he came closer to finding this person, the more powerful this person became among the neo-Sethians. Until when Busta finally discovered the identity of Laura Bush as his double-agent.

By then, in many ways, it was already too late. Because Burroughs was IHO for such a prolonged period of time, he was responsible for literally billions and billions of side projects upon which already trillions upon trillions of dollars have been shuffled around in order for them to find funding.

It was, in fact, Burroughs confronting Burroughs in many ways, when Busta Rhymes finally confronted Laura Bush. Laura accused Busta of trying to take over the authority from the unenlightened, with whom the right to governorship rightly does belong. However, Busta asserted he was merely there to end the oppression of his own people by the manipulations of those in power now on behalf of all of those who were the only ones truly at fault, but who are dead now.

The young Burroughs, the youthful rebel, the unquestioning disciple, versus the old Burroughs, the fag-hag behind all machinations of the modern era.

Before there were the modern IHO and OHO, before the most ancient known origins of the Order, before Sumeria, Egypt and India; there were the animal factions; and before these there were the humanimals versus the humandroids; and before these there were the upright beasts that walked and talked and dressed as people; and before this there were robots. In the beginning there was an alien reading Aesop's fables with a glass of blackberry juice, and this is as far back as the Order of Death goes so far as I am able to remember.

Of course, there are myths and speculations of all these ages in the secret doctrines of the Lodge, the church, the Order and the neo-Sethians, and all of these differ each like one of the animal factions that had preceded them. Likewise, in these myths from the ages are contained even older myths, the go back to before the beginning of my own natural experiences, or coincidences, with its history in this life time. I have come to learn that the Sumerians recorded legends of the Crew tha Never Sleeps, which may be the same as the Mayan Jagaurs. The Mayans, likewise, have a legend of a Great Burner, their so-called Quetzalcoatl, also called Khunab Khu, who may be the same as Enlil, or celestial Osiris, whose solar son, Marduk, or Ra, reconquered all the civilisations around the whole world that had been built by His father. For it was Enki the snake in the grass that had created the free will within the beasts of burden, and caused them to fall into confusion as to their best service to God. But all was lost to the Enkidu priest-class, the aggrarian shamen, and so they broke the vessels. They broke the vessels that released the upper waters and they broke the vessels that released the lower waters. The waters flooded the world, and starved most of the Nefilim warriors of Marduk, until they became the djinn, free spirits but whose souls are forever trapped on earth. The broken vessels' shards fell down to create the matter of the universe. This base matter is called Malkah, an unclean woman, while the energy which infuses it is called Shekina, or the Princess Bride, and these two conjoin together in Malkuth, the kingdom. (for more you can confer to the chart in the previous post)

So, what is the "fundamental" difference between the passive resistant, baby transcendentalist, boomer, ex-hippy, ex-yuppie, modern (neo-Sethian) Christian neo-cons of the white upper middle class and the organised criminal, materialist, beatnik, generation-x, capitalist, Muslim panthers and five percenters of the black lower middle class? It dates back to the original argument at the time of our own species becoming self-aware, can God have a Brother?

The first answer to this was No, and the result of this was the shattering of the vessels and subsequently the flood. If we accept, even if only as a point of reference, the gregorian calendar where 2000 years ago is called year zero, and the date 4000 years ago is therefore called 2000 years before the year zero. So, if time can be folded up in this way, then the issues prevalent underlying the dominant mental conceptual and social paradigms at this point in history will resonnate particularly strongly with those occuring at round numbers of per annum solar orbit cycles of our home planet. For example then, the issues of 2000 years ago concern the neo-Sethians, while those of 4000 years ago pre-occupy the minds of the enlightened.

Remember that it was 4000 years ago, according to Bishop Usher, that we could look to date the so-caled "world" flood according to the Hebraic mythologies of the Torah. Thus, when archaeologists excavated in Nineveh modern Iraq, they discovered a layer of silt beneath some 4000 years of solid perpetual civilisation. Thus, the civilisation of Iraq, that Americans profess to consider "primitive," by wearing "support the troops" ribbons, is really the oldest around. The high civilisation of Sumeria itself exists beneath this layer of silt, and therefore pre-dates the flood which seems to have consumed that region about, as predicted, 4000 years ago.

So, if time is measured in the gregorian way, then 2000 years ago, at year zero, the timeline can fold up on itself, such that the present and the past at about 4000 years ago can line up. So, therefore, some of us worry more about the Aztec Fifth Sun, the so-called Great Burner, than we do about the affairs of politicians.

And this is the fundamental difference. Yes indeed, but it is not the difference that separates the black-Moslems FROM the white neo-cons, it is the difference that separates both the black Moslems AND the white neo-cons apart from all their predecessors throughout the history of both the church and the lodge, no matter which is older. They have re-achieved together a state essentially similar to before the building of the Tower of Babylon, and before the confusion of the tongues between the different castes of worker. They are co-operating in a secret conspiracy to corner the world market on gold and diamonds, the fuel and the packaging of the future world of zero-point energy anti-gravity. And this, they have succeeded in doing.

so, let us return to the question of: if their followers profess the same beliefs, and their leaders profess the opposite beliefs, then what is the "fundamental" difference between Busta Rhymes and Laura Bush?

It is simple, really.

Busta Rhymes knows the short-term future, while Laura Bush knows both the short and the long term futures. Why is this? Because Busta Rhymes relies on prophecy to foresee the future, while Laura Bush relies on her knowledge of the cold and calculating plan of the ages to make predictions about the future of larger scope power trends. If Busta Rhymes had access to this form of "unlimited" power, he would have been able to stop Laura Bush from assumption of the de facto office of OHO and the de jour duties of the IHO as well.

However Busta Rhymes' own inability to see black from white at the crucial moment led to his downfall. At the very moment when he could have realised ahead of time Laura Bush would summon the power of the Plan, the so-called Vril of Thule, he was distracted and then she struck him down. The difference he was ultimately unable to see was that between himself and his own adversary, who at that moment was standing right in front of him.

So, what could have distracted Busta Rhymes' most auspicious attention?

I believe the answer to this lies in Operation Scorpion. What is Operation Scorpion? Watch the movie "Traffic" by the USA Network. In it crates of uncut cocaine are being shipped across the US border from Mexico. On the sides of these wooden crates is stamped the numbers 9-11 and a small stencil of a scorpion. The movie Traffic was released in 2000 and won 4 oscars.

-source: http://www.imdb.com/title/tt0181865/

also, consider the following quote from the 1999 film Three Kings:

David O. Russell and John Ridley wrote:

CHIEF (O.S.)

These are definitely Saddam's bunkers between Karbala and Nazaria.

TROY What's inside?

CHIEF

According to Intel, Picasso, Sony, Rolex, Armani. Kuwait was Arab Beverly Hills and Saddam sacked it.

TROY

It would be nice to bring something home besides sand fleas

CHIEF

Whatever, the good Lord put this map in our path and we're gonna find something

TROY

He could also put a land mine in our path if we go out there

CHIEF

Don't worry, you're safe with me, I was fire baptized.

TROY

What the hell are you talking about?

CHIEF

I have a ring of Jesus fire to guide my decisions.

TROY

I'm not following this. You're putting me on, right?

CHIEF

For those who understand, no explanation is necessary; for those who don't, no explanation will suffice.

-source: http://www.dailyscript.com/scripts/threekings_shootingdraft.pdf page 23

Operation Scorpion, also known as Operation Desert Scorpion, is part of an ancient plan. Busta Rhymes was among the few precognitives prescient enough to pick up on this.

Consider the following warnings in some samples of his music:

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/BustaRhymes/Scorpion1.mp3 (2.2MB)

From the 1999 album When Disaster Strikes, the cover of which depicts a massive explosion in downtown New York.

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/BustaRhymes/Scorpion2.mp3 (3.1MB)

From the 1996 album the Coming, Busta Rhymes debut solo album.

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/BustaRhymes/Scorpion3.mp3 (3.5MB)

Busta's predictions for the future following Operation Desert Scorpion.

Other musicians who dropped cryptic hints of foreknowledge of Operation Desert Scorpion include Radiohead, whose 1997 song Paranoid Android is about a rain dance, while System of a Down released their songs "Chop Suey" and "Toxicity" on September fourth, 2001. Slayer, who released their album on 9-11, 01 itself, featured a cover depicting, like Busta Rhymes' album before, a large explosion in downtown New York. This album was considered "insenstively" revealing, although it was never established whether this was explained as intentional or merely coincidental.

Here is a write-up of the ultimate aims of the Desert portion of Operation Scorpion:

Global Security .org wrote: Operation Desert Scorpion June 15, 2003 - June 29, 2003

In order to isolate and defeat remaining pockets of resistance seeking to delay the transition to a peaceful and stable Iraq, Combined Joint Task Force 7 initiated Operation Desert Scorpion on June 15, 2003.

This operation, which follows Operation Peninsula Strike, is designed to identify and defeat selected Ba'ath party loyalists, terrorist organizations and criminal elements while delivering humanitarian aid simultaneously.

Combat operations will be followed by synchronized stability and humanitarian operations designed to assist a transition to Iraqi self-rule. These include engineer and civil affairs initiatives to repair damaged infrastructure, support the growth of police forces and local government and improve the lives of Iraq's citizens.

The goal of Operation Desert Scorpion, in keeping with our ultimate mission, will be to help establish a permissive and secure environment and to facilitate a rapid transition to Iraqi self-sufficiency.

In the central region near Tikrit and Kirkuk, Coalition forces conducted 36 raids and detained 215 individuals in the first days of the operation. Coalition forces also performed humanitarian fuel escort missions in the region.

By June 16, 2003 Coalition forces in the Baghdad area conducted 11 raids and detained 156 individuals. Coalition forces also collected 121 rifles, two submachine guns, 19 pistols, 18 rocket-propelled grenades, four machine guns, 31 pounds of explosives, and some chemical protective masks.

As of July 29, 2003, Operation Desert Scorpion was summarized by DOD officials as having consisted of 13 raids and resulted in the capture of 38 detainees, including nine captured by the 1st Armored Division in the course of the seven raids the unit conducted in Baghdad. Operation Desert Scorpion had also resulted in the seizure of $8M as well as a large sum of British pounds and Euros.

http://www.globalsecurity.org/wmd/library/news/iraq/2003/07/030729-d-6570c-002.jpg

http://www.globalsecurity.org/wmd/library/news/iraq/2003/07/030729-d-6570c-003.jpg

As of July 29, 2003

-source: http://www.globalsecurity.org/military/ops/desert_scorpion.htm and here is some brief commentary on the secret Operation Scorpion...

Common Dreams News Center wrote:

Cheney was a hyperactive advocate for the 1991 Persian Gulf War. Unfortunately for Secretary of Defense, whose passion for deposing Saddam Hussein reached surreal levels, the "Operation Scorpion" scheme he and his aides developed for imposing "regime change" upon Iraq was so ineptly plotted that it was scrapped after a cursory review by General Norman Schwarzkopf.

-source: http://www.commondreams.org/views04/0909-08.htm

Could it be that some artists, more or less naturally prescient, could indeed perceive the coming tragedy of 9-11? And if so, could they have prevented it?

Busta Rhymes was trained under William Burroughs through the author's astral travels while alive. When Burroughs died, Busta Rhymes became the de facto head of the offshoot order opposed to the neo-Sethian take over of the cult of sleep and the Order of Death. This cult lost the official authority of the neo-Sethians to convene publically, and was forced to go underground. Thus, while the neo-Sethians are considered to have conducted a coup de tat within the Order of Death, the predominant culture within the subserviant cult of sleep remains under the auspices of the most talented members of the American liberal Democrat party in America, mostly showbiz entertainers.

This offshoot order under Burroughs has many outward manifestations. The more liberal denominations of de jour Christianity, such as Scientology, and UFO and separatist cults. These cults have all been suppressed by the dominant paradigm now, in charge of the mainstream media, the intelligence community and the ATF.

Therefore the lines are clearly drawn, and have been for some time since the death of William S. Burroughs. There are many more creative liberals than there are neoconservatives. However, both of these two cults can rightly be called neo-Sethian, and this is where the confusion comes from.

Entertainers, such as Busta Rhymes, advocate the accumulation of credit-based financial wealth. The neo-cons advocate the same. Entertainers make social-commentary, while politicians determine social-customs. Yet the lines between them are clearly drawn.

It is an internal race within American culture to accumulate the most valuable natural resources. The neo-cons, under Dick Cheney, seem to have focused their accumulation of natural resources on oil from Alaska, the Gulf of Mexico, Saudi Arabia and most recently Iraq. The entertainers seem to be focused more on the accumulation of diamonds, gold and silver.

It seems entirely likely to me to hypothesise from these premeses that the neo-cons know they are set on self-destruct. They believe they are doing what they are doing for the good of all. By accelerating the rate at which the earthlings destroy earth, it will up the time-table to generate off-world travel.

Thus the neo-cons are funded by depletable fossil fuels, while the entertainers funnel their funds into what will be the fuel and focal lenses of the off-wrorld craft to come.

Yet both of these cults predict the end of the world, the second coming of the Messiah, the coming of the "Anti-Christ," etc. etc. etc. And since there is evidence that some entertainers, such as Busta Rhymes, did have some short-term prophetic awareness of Operation Scorpion before 2000 when it began to take effect.

Therefore, what is the difference, again, between Busta Rhymes and Laura Bush?

Busta Rhymes is a psychic revolutionary. It is his task in existence to reveal the philosophies behind the conspiracies of the neo-cons.

Thus, contrary-wise, Laura Bush is a psychic conspirator. It is her task in existence to veil the philosophies behind the conspiracies of the neo-cons.

It is clear that, during the planetary alignment of 5/5/2000 there was a tremendous battle fought between Busta Rhymes and Laura Bush. This battle occured psychically and was caught on camera by the genius of George Lucas in his Star Wars prequel trilogy.

In this portrayal of the events within the Order of Death's ranks as there was a tremendous struggle between psychic revolutionaries and psychic conspirators, fictional characters set long ago, in a galaxy far, far away act out in tableau the events leading up to the year 2000. Other directors of films and music videos around this time had carefully laid traps of their own warning about Operation Scorpion and the agenda of occultists who have infiltrated the highest eschelons of the military and the intelligence agencies. Most of these films and videos received critical acclaim at the time, however none of these have come back up again in the repetitive, stereotypical cultural cycle of American media memetics, which generally propagates at a five year following cultural cycle of "decade nostalgia" for the previous decade. This is why the citizens are so far behind the times in terms of their ability to access and use extraterrestrial technologies built by the army and operated by the intelligence agencies. They are being brainwashed by the entertainers, whose sole purpose in existence is to reveal the conspiracies of their political counterparts, the also neo-Sethian neo-conservatives.

Thus, it is not the military and intellegence agencies that are "fifty" years ahead of what the public knows about, but the entertainers, such as Busta Rhymes and George Lucas, who are five years behind in what they manage to portray of the government's technologies.

That is why George Lucas chose to write and direct the prequels instead of sequels to his original Star Wars trilogy. He was, and is, a neo-Sethian. Just as is Busta Rhymes, whose character was portrayed as Mace Windu as played by Sam Jackson.

It was the prequels that tell the story of Mace Windu, the ultimate Jedi with a light sabre. His wisdom rivals Master Yoda, and he has been on the Council almost as long.

Of course, because we are only safely allowed to portray political commentary by the psychic revolutionaries as fiction, then it was necessary to protray the stature of Mace Windu as having long been respected within the community of his fellow neo-Sethian sect, the Jedi Bindu. However the same cannot rightly be said for Busta Rhymes.

Thus, the backstory of the Busta Rhymes/Mace Windu character is actually told in the story within the story of Jar Jar Binks. It is as though Jar Jar Binks and Mace Windu were meant to represent the two sides of Busta Rhymes, both neo-Sethian, one a conspirator turned revolutionary, and the other a revolutionary turned conspirator. In many ways, Jar Jar Binks was as responsible for the Clone War as Queen Amidalla was for getting Senator Palpatine elected Grand Chancellor.

In many ways it was by the slip of Jar Jar's tongue that led to the war, just as with Busta Rhymes, his warning of the 9-11 portion of Operation Scorpion in many ways can be seen to have directly contributed to the blame for that event being thrown at the Moslem world in general, specifically the middle east.

The neo-con philosophy is basically that, had we gone into Iraq under Schwarzkopf and Powell in the early ninties when we drove the Iraqi troops from Kuwait, then 9-11 would have been avoided. That is why Operation Scorpion was concocted by the current vice president, then ENRON collaborating Halliburton Oil and Energy consortium executive, Dick Cheney.

It was deemed necessary by the oil and energy companies following what they considered the botched Gulf War a fiasco to create the illusion of an "energy crisis." They could then justify riding this particularly plotting and conniving neo-con into office on the ticket of the natural next selection for president following the overblown sex-scandal surrounding liberal Democrat Bill Clinton.

Th neo-con ticket also managed to slip alot of former intelligence agents into high positions of authority around the president. Of course, these lobbyists were themselves on the pay-role of military think-tank organisations, such as the Carlsyle Group.

These intelligence agents were themselves often ex-military special operatives such as the CIA drug-trafficking of opium out of China during VietNam, and the subsequent importing of crack and heroin from Columbia and Afghanistan respectively the following decade.

However, the lag behind the military intelligence technology of what cultural entertainers can reveal has actually been pushed back during the neo-con reign in America, and the neo-Sethian agenda in the Order of Death.

This has been part of a millennia old plot passed on among the intellectual elites of all cultures throughout history. This plot has specific designs on the time between the planetary alignment of 5/5/2000 and the end of the Mayan Piktun in 12/21/2012.

This plot, the ur-Hamlet's Mill, is the plan of the aeons, the zodiacal ages of the sun and the number of revolutions of the moon between them.

All of us play out our parts relative to this plan, more or less knowingly.

As the sunspots increase the ambient temperature of planet earth before 2012 more people are becoming aware of the neo-Sethian agenda as the neo-Sethian psychic revolutionaries exist to reveal what the neo-Sethian psychic conspirators exist to conceal.

This is all part of an archetypal cosmic power play between the God Set or Typhon and the God Osiris. There are various versions of this Egyptian myth. It is, however, more or less unique to Egypt on the nile at the time of Sumero-Akkadia in the Tigris and Euphrates and Aryans in the Indus.

It is rather vague on what type of beings these archetypes are in the mythology. They are associated variously with Gods, demi-gods, giants, djinn, demons, etc.

The psychic revolutionary neo-Sethians and the psychic conspirator neoconservatives are the two heads of one monster: Leviathan and Leviathon.

All of this is merely a distraction of the media and politicians away from their secret rituals involving the Atlantean calendar and the Enochain Communication System. These were drammatised around the turn of the millennium by such films as the Star Wars prequels, Eyes Wide Shut, Pi, and the Matrix.

The Matrix presented the mythology of Osiris and his son Horus, who ultimately defeated Set, from the perspective of African Americans within American blue degree Free and Accepted Masonry.

In the Matrix, Thoth-Osiris is portrayed as Morpheus, who finds Neo, Osiris-Horus, with whom Horus-Isis, as Trinity, then falls in love with. The problem presented in the original Matrix movie of 1999 and the subsequent Matrix sequels was the evolution of Set from the Cypher archetype in M1 to the Smith archetype in M3.

The Cypher archetype focused on the visage of Seth as trance channeled by Jane Roberts. However the Smith visage was that of an anonymous intelligence officer who had learned to replicate himself like a computer virus.

Because the psychic revolution is popular, it is beginning to build up pressure against its repression by the neo-con military and intelligence agencies. The culture is starting to expand more rapidly than it can be contained, and a breaking point is expected to be reached between 2000 and 2012 gregorian.

Various researchers call this "vergeance" different things. Some call it "time wave zero." Some call it "the singularity." Some have called it comet Hale Bopp.

The important point is, however, that all of this is part of an ancient plan. The neo-Sethians are currently playing both sides against the centre between the liberal entertainment industry (films and music videos) and the neo-conservative politicians (military and intelligence). They have constructed an artificial society by which to portray through interpersonal play-acting the cosmic movements of the stars. By speeding it up, and by discrediting from within all potential utopias along the way, the conspiracy, pushing the revolution along in front of it like the crest of a wave, controls all "world events."

So there is not really only one conspiracy, but many, that all compete and/or cooperate with one anoher. In this way, again: everything is the same: different. As Jim Morrison put it: "Everything is Broken up, and Dances."

When I say that Busta Rhymes studied under Burroughs by trance-channeling his astral projection while the author was still alive, I mean that the soul of Jim Morrison possessed Busta Rhymes while he was still young, if not at the moment of his conception. It was Jim Morrison's ghost, thus, that acted as the astral channel, or link, between Burroughs and Busta Rhymes. Thus, when Burroughs was eventually freed of his physical body, he could finally confront the disembodied spirit of Aleister Crowley.

This he did on the astral plane while Busta Rhymes confronted Laura Bush in a galaxy far, far away.

Just as the confrontation between Busta Rhymes and Laura Bush took place in the star wars universe, the confrontation between Aleister Crowley and William Burroughs in the afterlife was depicted in the competition of similar themed movies, "Dark City" and "City of Lost Children."

Of course, neither of these films does either of these figureheads of the modern offices of the Order of Death over the cult of sleep any justice. Both depict their respective nemesis as a mindless zombie of reconstituted dead flesh.

Thus the apparent calcification of the first post-mortal experiences of the Inner Heads of the Order sent first through the wormholes of time inside their living minds, like monkies shot into space. By this I mean, of course, the expansion of their skulls.

Interestingly enough, both Aleister Crowley and William S. Burroughs were heorin junkies. Hence their apparent post-mortem mummification within the webs of their lives' affairs. Crowley, the man of mystery, mountain climber, magician, and Burroughs, co-inventor of the cut-up method of perception. Both men's lives were led from one extreme of climate to another as they travelled around the globe, both took all the drugs they could find in all of these lands, as well as investigated the native cultures, and the mythologies of lost or conquered peoples. Both men experimented with homosexuality, and both were proliffic writers.

Simply one focused on the madness and the other on the method.

Now we see why the two different schools of neo-Sethianism sprung off from the split between the followers of Burroughs and the followers of Crowley.

Burroughs, having focused on the method, would have a greater effect on Busta Rhymes via Jim Morrison. Busta Rhymes, a God of the five percent nation, is devoted to memorisation of the sacred numerology of letters and words.

Crowley, on the other hand, begat the Dionysian movement foreseen by Nietzsche. Beginning by crafting copious catalogues of mystical correspondence tables, Crowley's followers have all managed to be insane and completely retaliatory against craft. The thelemites of the neo-Sethian movement are chaos and toxick magicians. They are urban-primitives, usually, white anthropologists studying black slum culture.

If one hops back one prior administration before Crowley, he himself had come to power by overthrowing SL MacGregor Mathers, the first modern IHO. So it stands to reason that Crowley saw his young successor William Burroughs as the magical reincarnation of his belated former foe.

Perhaps it is here that the modern celebration of the Lizard, Operation Scorpion, the neo-Sethian coup de tat within the Order of Death, truly began, at the turn of the twentieth century. There is ample reason to speculate the entire apocalypse predicted in Revelations was played out in magical battles across Europe bewteen Mathers and Crowley.

As one counts the generation of anti-heroes emergent from the tolling of the 21st century, one includes such as Anakin Skywalker (starwars), Neo (the Matrix), Max Cohen (Pi), Tyler Durden (Fight Club), even Keiser Zsoze (the Usual Suspects), not to even mention Hannibal Lecter (Silence of the Lambs) and cuddly psycho-killer Marv (Sin City), only to name a very few. These are supposed to be the next generation of incarnations for these two recurring archetypes to continue to do battle with one another through.

However, what was not expected by Mathers or Crowley in their previous generations was the stealthy move on Burroughs part to move the ghost of Jim Morrison into the host Busta Rhymes. This caused a new current to arise. The precident was set for the Master to take more than one apprentice at a time. Burroughs had understudied Morrison and Busta both, and thus had set back the subsequent generation of Crowleyans two moves, or rather, about half a generation, roughly twenty years.

The Crowleyians, known exoterically as the baby-boomers, the hippies, the yuppies, and now as the neo-cons, actually were not permitted to make their first move until one half generation after the cusp of the last generation. Thus, the babies born between 1933 and 1945 in the United States, for example were, respectively, beat niks (the older siblings of boomers), soldiers (the older siblings of hippies), slackers (generation x), and now are the "echo-boomers" (the children of the slackers and of the yuppies both).

This is why the neo-Cons SEEM to have lapped the entertainment industry, and thus why they SEEM to be able to withhold the "free" energy technologies of the near future from exposure in the "free" press. Because the generation of Burroughs offspring is just being reborn, born again in twice the numbers of the neo-cons. And these kids are studying under such tutors as Usama Ben Ladin, and as Busta Rhymes.

A report from the last free mind in this reality the post 9-11 world is a mess. And the ones responsible don't plan on cleaning it up. By rights, they should be tried by a court of initiates and punished according to the ruling of such an Atlantean court. But they do not plan on being around to clean it up. Instead, they plan on going back in time to before 9-11, when the world became a mess. They plan on astral-travelling back to 1999 and entering the actual time-line of which this post 9-11 world-mess is merely an off-shoot. Of course, such is, for them, entirely possible. According to the laws of physics, such an esape route is allowed. One only need know how to navigate the tunnel-realities of our conscious reality; Timothy Learey called it "operating the mind."

For all the rest of us, this is merely an illusion. "No one," a rational-minded man would argue, "can travel back in time in reality." But ask anyone irrational-minded and they will assure you the opposite and that it cannot be any other way. Madmen, mystics, know how to accomplish this with their minds. But the military has technology that will allow time-travel for the physical form, literally altering reality around us as we move from one time-line to another.

Such time-travel technology has two basic forms of application: linear and spherical. Either a "time-tunnel" is created between two "portals" or "rips in the fabric of the spacetime continuum;" or a "mind-bomb" or "localised field of ZPE" will accumulate and compound from a central event. An example of the former is the route you drive to work everyday. An example of the latter is any great tragedy's impact on the psychic vibrations of its timeline.

If applied linearly, one or more individuals are able to pass through the time-tunnel unharmed. They enter a new reality, one alternate yet, in many ways, parallel to the one they just left. The shorter the tunnel, the closer to their original reality. Such quantum tunnels occurs inside the fabric of the continuum (in the "rolling boil" between space and time) already, and all that is needed to pass through them in the flesh is to expand them either with the mind, or with mechanical augmentations.

If applied spherically, then a new reality is created, or rather, a tear into a parallel reality is formed, that is expanding. It is through such an event as this consuming a localised area, such as during the Philadelphia Experiment around a battleship, or such as around Stone Henge during certain signifigant astral alignments, or such as the Kaaba stone of Mecca, or such as 9-11 for our entire world, that one reality ends and another reality begins and takes the place of the original reality entirely.

For a "time-tunnel" one or a small group of individuals can pass through. For a "mind-bomb" everyone and everything is irreperably altered and the entire world enters a new reality.

These were known to magicians from times before the flood (12,000 ya), though not since Atlantis has the ability to manifest such effects using artificial means even been imagined. In Atlantis, metaphysical "research" assures us, they accomplished this high-technology using crystals and telepathy. Of course, this is only a ruse for the fact that the Atlanteans had contact with the same "alien" entities as are our "overlords" now.

They gave the Atlanteans time travel technology, and they have allowed us to develop it for ourselves now. To they, who are immortal, there is no time-table for the development of the species of earth up to the level of their own technology. They are indifferent. They don't care. That is what gives them their power. For the one who cannot be controlled by any controls all. They do not make bargains, pacts or covenants. We, inside the safety and shelter of mortality, call them "aliens" or "Annunaki" but they do not care. They exist beyond the confines of our collective reality.

They are simply us, in the future, evolved over a greater amount of time than we have now, who have, during all those intervening countless millennia evolved the ability to manipulate matter with their mind to such a high level of control that they can melt the walls of time itself. But shh. I didn't just tell you that.

Instead we are fed the cover-story of the "war for peak-oil" and "WMDs," of Saddam Hussein the "mad dictator," and of "Babylon the Great." Who can believe any of it? And of course, that is the exact effect those in power want to create, that uncertainty and mistrust. But they are not the ones causing it. It is caused by sunspots depositing greater than usual amounts of ion radiation in earth's upper stratosphere, contributing to the trapping of greenhouse gasses and the raising of the mean temperature. It was the alignment of 5/5/2000 that caused 9-11. The same (or a similar) alignment occured 2000 years ago at the time of "Christ," 4000 years ago in Greece, 6000 years ago in Israel, 8000 years ago in Egypt, 10,000 years ago in Sumeria and 12,000 years ago in Antarctica.

Every time this (or a similar) alignment occurs, it coincides with an incremental fluctuation of sunspot cycles, which follow a 1000 year dip and a 1000 year peak alternating cycle. The sunspots eventually build up to a bursting point and then there is a massive psychic change in the global environment, usually followed by an extreme and long-lasting change in climate. This is only on par with an extinction level event at the changeing of the Aeons or precessional seasons for the different regions of earth. For the southern hemisphere summer is winter in the northern hemisphere, and vice versa. Right now we are entering Aeonic Autumn in the northern hemisphere and Spring in the south. (in spite of the offset of Christian calendars by 2000 years, we are not in actually "entering" the "age of Aquarius." Aquarius is the sign during the winter equinox in the northern hemisphere, however the actual Aeon is determined by the solstice or equinox of the season in which the sign occurs. Since we are entering Autumn in the northern hemisphere, our sign is Scorpio, and since we are entering spring in the southern hemisphere, our sign there is Taurus.)

The sunspots themselves are time-travel portals using the sun itself as a relay depot. From earth we communicate to the sun. From the sun we communicate to galactic core. From galactic core we communicate to the wormholes on the surface of the black hole at galactic core. From the wormholes on the surface of the black hole at galactic core we communicate to any gamma-ray burst (naked singularity) in deep space, or to any other black hole in any other galaxy, or to any other star in our own galaxy, or through the singularity and into the "baby universe" of the black hole at the center of our galaxy.

Most people, at their cro-magnon influenced level of evolution today, would see no need to travel from earth to the sun to galactic core's black hole to travel to some random gamma ray burst in deep space. That is because most people at that level of evolution today are not "aliens." However, there are some mutants among us, and just as there are a majority of evolutionary "throw-backs," there are also a minority who are a "quantum-leap" ahead of the bell curve.

These among us who have developed ESP through complex application of sensory and mental predictability of experienced patterns, those of us who have learned to redirect the law of cause-and-effect, to "throw our force" around, and thus to rise above our rank and file peers, must never use our ability, our "gift," to empower ourselves over anyone.

But some do. A new generation of modern mutants have discovered how to contact the "aliens" of ourselves in the future (which is, to the "bright and shining," the same as the "past" since everything on earth occurs according to environmental "grand-cycles") and have opened up physical and material rifts in spacetime, communicating their own bodies intact between earth and the sun, and between the sun (and the other planets, and between the other planets) and earth's future or past.

This is how to time travel. It works like a rope un-winding. Imagine there are three strings wound together to form a thicker chord. Now imagine that three weights are tied, one to each at the end of each of the three strings. Now, imagine that these three weights are spun around such that their force gradually unwinds the three strings wound into one chord. It is obvious enough to most to imagine the weights as the planets, the rope the course of the sun over time. But few would look so deeply into this to observe the patterns, the cycles occuring as the rope unwinds. Even between three weights (or planetary satellites) there are countless periods during which all the weights will spin at the same rate, and there are countless periods likeiwse during which the weights will spin at unequal rates, and their motions will be chaotic relative to one another. To someone possessed by the spark of genius (ie. insanity), it is equally obvious and easy to see that eventually a condition of disarray will occur that will cause the rope to stop unwinding, and that may even reverse the way that the weights rotate, and thus, rather than unwinding the rope, might actually wind it back up! Of course, only those truly wise with perception would realise the implications of this simple example on the corresponding attributes being represented. Almost none would likely understand that this "coiling" and "uncoiling" actually does occur as the "winding up" of solar EM field lines. Over time, the EM field of the sun (which is, by default, vertical from pole to pole) "winds up" and becomes almost entirely horizontal around the equator. At a certain point of "critical mass" a coronal mass ejection of enourmous porportion will eject from the sun. This will cause the EM poles of earth to reverse north/south as well. This is simply what happens every 2000 years or so. We can therefore use such an event as we see occuring (the number of sunspots corresponds to how tightly the EM field lines of the sun are coiled) now, to travel in time (mentally) from one such event to the last (33AD), as well as the next (4000 AD), as well as to any of the others (even Atlantis).

The only difference between doing this mentally and doing it physically is that mentally you do not need to even bring along your body, while physically you must rely on artifical mechanisms to allow your transport.

Now, this is obviously not realised by everyone. Many people see no point in unwinding string to represent time travel. They are thus neither for it nor against it so long as it doesn't affect the price of bread and all the trains run on time. This is truly unfortunate for the majority of people.

There are "good" psychics and there are "evil" psychics.

"Evil" psychics are simply followers of the old Greek saying "wisdom is knowing you nothing." They therefore believe themselves a bottomless pit for all forms of knowledge and experience. They thus draw energy off of others around them to continue to exist. By doing this they assume a role of authority by force over their prey and victims. Thus, "evil" psychcis are just "psychic vampires" the so-called Nefilim, or the "sons of Gods and men."

"Good" psychcis realise that their evolutionary advancement as psychic beings cannot be accomplished so long as one psychic is psychic because he suppresses the ability of another pyschic to be psychic. They believe the old Hebrew saying, "wisdom is fear of God." By "God" they may understand simply the difficulty in predictability of natural cycles during times of massive environmental change. Thus, they may "fear God" by fearing that our own actions, as beings embodying God, will lead to our inevitable cataclysmic destruction.

"Good" psychics are responsible with their thoughts as well as their deeds. "Evil" psychics are always careful liars, willing to believe one thing whole-heartedly one moment and then turn around and proclaim the opposite with equal zeal the next. "Evil" psychics specialise in this form of "double-think." They manipulate us to commit "self-fulfilling prophecies" on our, remote-controlling us with their mind games, all so that they can "win" and we can "lose." To them we're all the same, just fodder. If one abuses them, then they turn around and go abuse ten.

That is how the "evil" psychics, though a minority beside the "good" psychics combined with all the "goyim," have managed to take power over the masses and to control the minds of those who otherwise would not have to clean up the post 9-11 world's mess. By pre-occupying the "good" psychics with worry over Babylon, the "evil" psychics are drawing their mental powers off the very IQs of the masses themselves. Each lie Bush tells, his followers become dumber. But he honestly believes that a second world unifying event (a spherical time-bubble) will occur that will magically wipe away 9-11. 9-11 was a "bad" one, but in 2012 it will be a "good" one. 2012 will make 9-11 go away. We will all leap forward. Of course, by applying pressure against evolution, there is no reason to expect that evolution will spring forward suddenly as soon as the pressure is removed.

The evil is in the air around us. It permeates us in advertising radiowaves even though we do not perceive ourselves experiencing it. It is causing cancer to occur in our cells as electrical power is generating friction against the metal wires we use as its conduits for our electrical power. It's the entire internet and every satellite in space. Its everywhere.

But don't dare talk back to it. It may be an energy field, but if it is truly God Almighty, the Most High, then it is feable, bumbling and inept. However to call it "Satan" only aggravates it more, and only serves to worsten one's own personal luck eventually.

That is the mistake the "evil" psychics have made. They thought they could control all our minds by controlling the airwaves. But their spirits shall be dispersed to the wind like earth's plasma sheet. They are our puppets, afterall, and not we theirs. Soon this will become apparent to all. Soon there will be no one who can deny it. Soon all will know.

However, for now, the world is a mess, and for the most part we can only find ourselves to blame.

here's what I can piece together so far.

By applying chaos theory to study of otherwise infinite potential outcomes, one can dwell above and within several overlapping possible realities. These manifest themselves as options for choice, the binary units of "karma" comprising our "aura" or surrounding reality. The more "karma" the more options for choices; the more possible outcomes, the more different potential universes one dwells in simultaneously.

So there are "chaos beasts" dwelling in realms of parallel realities above us, whose very existence forms a glass ceiling above us, delimiting our full elevated potential beneath it. These "chaos beasts", or "emotional archetypes," believe that the accumulation of slaves to one's will-power is equivalent to the building up of karmic options in one's aura's event-horizon. They see their own reflection when they look below at us just as we see a distorted, refracted reflection of ourselves when we look into this "Abyss" above.

Now, these "chaos beasts" are thought-forms and can move about between our minds. Like a song stuck in one's head, it can only be forgotten when foisted off onto someone else. These beings are memetic, and move from one of us to another like a contagious yawn.

Now, there are a group of people who are aware of these "chaos beasts." This group of people believes they are living out the roles of these "chaos beasts" in this lesser reality, like shadows or echoes. They believe in the "convenant" of "As Above, So Below," that, by immitating what they believe to be the will of their pantheon of immortals, they will sway the influence of the cosmic forces to be redirected to satisfy their own gross wills.

I've called this group the "neo-Sethians," but this has been making Light of something much more serious, much more severe, than this mere, playful mockery lets on.

As these people discover their power over other people, they lose their soul. The natural patterns of karma in their aura mutate and become inverted from "good" to "evil" and from "right" to "wrong." They lose their sense of self, their moral compass, and commit attrocious acts of violence in their struggle to un-invert their karma.

They are being swept up, they believe. But this is not true. In truth, their power is limited in time, and they know this: "the star that burns twice as bright burns half as long." That is their watch-word. They are not being "swept upward"," only "swept along," and pulling many people downward with them in their wake.

Because they believe they symbolise, or embody, personify and enflesh the Higher Archetypes, they believe they, themselves, exist in various spaces simultaneously, travel from mind to mind, and have trace-ended to become ascended masters over their 6 billion + mental slaves. But this will never happen.

However their plan is based on their succeeding ultimately in manifesting useful karma, only in the extreme long-term, and only in a form that appears evil to us who are beneath them in the here and now. They believe they are channeling and in synchronicity with the "chaos beasts."

Because it is untrue they are correctly doing the will of those higher archetypal forms they only dully perceieve as overlapping tangent universes manifesting in all the possible outcomes of choices around us, then their plan to appease historical time beyond themselves in the present cannot succeed.

They believe that our future is inevitable, because they have travelled to a point in time when their plan has succeeded, and to them, this success is already a past-tense fact, even though to us, it has not yet occured. They believe they have already won because they forget we have free will. We have the power to change the interim between now and any possible future to fit our own desires. Any future we can foresee, we can align a course of events to achieve it.

By 2012 they plan for their time-shift to have happened. They believe, again, wrongly, that they are correctly redirecting the religious tensions surrounding the year 2000 into a project of population-reduction that will benefit the entire species and the whole earth when the ice age begins, which some estimate occuring as soon as 200 years from now.

They are so wrong. They will only create a parallel "hell" (prison) dimension for themselves to be swallowed into, while the existences of those "chaos beast" archetypal forms and shapes and patterns will draw away from them and in this rushing vacuum will follow all the souls of those they liberated from their bodies in this present universe.

The discorporeal consciousnesses that serve as the inspirations for these evil, malignant, reptilian turds agenda of "controlled burning" of their own species are truly good, but very misunderstood by those who have become inverted by their overflow of imaginary power. They cannot control the future.

Instead, each of us controls our own fate, and ultimately there are only two destinies: a "good" one and a "bad" one. Those whose power over us is present now prosper only in the short term, but shall not be joining us in our further continuance of our psychic existence. They are bound for a back-firing of their plan.

What is the sign of this thing? The sunspot cycle that is at a 2000 year maximum between 2001 and 2012 has been extremely mild, and this means that the winter-season (the next ice age) will occur gradually and be more mild overall than the prediction of a sudden frigid snap within the next 200 years.

They even hedge their bets on causing such a massive environmental disaster by polluting the atmosphere and the fresh water supplies. They burn away the last remains of natural resources that can never be replaced to destroy the natural cycle of the seasons and bring about some unreal, apocalyptic cataclysm, all the while hoarding for their own use in the future, following successful depopulation programs, all the non-depletable resource-using technologies and knowledge.

Our reality, this time-line, has been so terribly betrayed. It has been denied its rightful inheritance, and made to bow down on one knee to a false force, an intervening shaman appearing to thwart our journey on. I tell you this group believe they will transcend, and it is true, they will fade in the wind like a cloud of smoke. But this will only appear to be their end to us, while to them, we shall appear to be the ones who vanish.

The only difference between the conservative psychic revolutionaries and the "neo-Sethian" psychic conspirators is that, in the very near future, one group will enter one reality, and the other will enter another, and the reality, the flat-universal timeline, entered into by the psychic revolutionaries will be a much "better" one in all senses.

OHO's and IHO's of the POD, from +1900 YP until the present, May 12, +2008 YP:

1900 - 2000 (+YP)

OHO: Levi IHO: Blavatsky

Blavatsky understood the need to confront the millennialist Christian mythos, however she believed a gentler approach wise, softening the impact on the collective psyche before the zero-hour by exchangeing "western" notions, like the Trinity and transubstantiation, into more "eastern" concepts, like the "Ascended Masters" and "Christ Consciousness." Levi, however, apparently did not share her view of this, and while he helped on her tarot (later called the "Rider-Waite" deck), he kept quiet, biding his time and concealing his own leanings toward devil worship as a revolutionary methodology to confront the coming Apocalypse head-on.

OHO: Mathers IHO: Levi

Once Levi assumed control of the Order he immediately established the Golden Dawn by forging papers, attributed to Anna Sprengel, on ritual work and leaking them to Mathers, his apprentice. Mathers was a devoted follower of Levi and saw great good coming from the study of evil. To this end, he largely immersed himself in studying grimoires, and left the managing of the Golden Dawn be done largely by Florrence Farr and Israel Regardie.

OHO: Crowley IHO: Mathers

Mathers chose as his own disciple Alesiter Crowley, who would sue Mathers over the content of one of his grimoire translations, and go on to become what contemporary tabloids labeled, "the wickest man in the world." The psychic battle between Farr and Crowley could be seen as precipitating WWII in its wake; Crowley's relationship with Regardie, whom he made his secretary, was much friendlier than with Waite, a contemporary of Mathers. Waite sided with Blavatsky on the need to "soften" the blow of the cataclysm of Christianity to come. Crowley, however, did not.

OHO: Burroughs IHO: Crowley

Crowley eventually became addicted to heroin and, later in life, retired to Boleskine. Meanwhile, his ardent disciple, William Seward Burroughs, was re-tracing Crowley's steps through Tangiers during the Vision and Voice workings, and developing quite a nasty heroin habit himself. Burroughs' early masterworks, "Naked Lunch," "Junky," Exterminator," "The Job," etc. and his middle-gems, "Wild Boys," "Ticket that Exploded," "Nova Express," "Interzone," etc., and his later jewels, "My Education," "Cities of the Red Night," "Place of Dead Roads," etc. are all to be studied fastidiously as works of chaos panic, exactly what Levi had foreseen, and exactly what Blavatsky sought strongly to avoid. But this was only the beginning.

OHO: Morrison IHO: Burroughs

While Burroughs began to turn away from traditional ritual work, his own apprentice, Jim Morrison, emersed himself in it. His stage performances were intended to induce a trance-state in the entire audience, with Jim as shaman. This fact is well documented, however it was only meant to puncture the petty tyrannies of past dogmatic divisions between originally unified causes. Jim wanted to combine the appearance of the devil with the action of the christ. It is not that he was "ahead of his time" nor even "too late," but both are true insofar as Jim used controlled chaos to bend and warp time itself.

OHO: Busta IHO: Burroughs

It is speculated that Burroughs initiated several different people to the position of OHO following Jim's "last" death, in Guyana (as Jim Jones), before his signal completely decohered. The most apt pupil at the time of Burrough's death, in 1997, was also most likely to succeed Burroughs as IHO. This candidate was Busta Rhymes, former 5%er and student of Rastafarianism. It appeared likely the psychci revolution would go off without a hitch. There was very little warning (to most) of what would come next. There was no sudden "undertow" of psychic current to foretell.

2000 - 5/5/2008 (+YP)

OHO: GWB IHO: Ariel

After staging the 2000 presidential elections, the neo-Sethian coup-de-tat within the POD was declared concluded by 9-11. The agenda of war for oil, fighting foreign "terrorists" was ensured (at least "temporarily") and the PNAC, Carlysle Group, Halliburton, CFR, Blackwater and Trilateral Commission believed their Orwellian oligarchy stead-fast.

OHO: Laura IHO: GWB

Following the death of Ariel Sharon, GWB briefly served as IHO with his wife, Laura Bush, making most of the command decisions for their family, and thus taking up most of GWB's time and mind, while he, unsuccessfully, attempted to ram doomed legislation through a majority opposition-party controlled Senate and Congress. The alliance between the Israeli Likud party and the neo-cons in Washington DC, forged between Mossad and the CIA, began to appear unsteady. It appeared as though the neo-con party would suffer from internal schisms. Meanwhile, Dick Cheney allied himself to GHWB, GWB's father, via Laura Bush, in secret from GWB.

OHO: Dick IHO: Laura

In early 2007, Laura Bush was finally officially declared IHO, following several occult activities involving aligning her daughters with papal interests. She had already been aware (since 2000) of much more about the occult nature of the neo-Sethian / neo-con conspiracy than she had let on. Her role in this elaborate global coup-de-tat is akin to that of Emperor Palpatine in the Star Wars movies, and eventually she will be betrayed by Dick Cheney, who she has allowed to be taken on as her confidant and chief ruling secretary, the OHO of the POD.

It should be noted that, concurrent to the neo-Sethian (psychic conspiractors) occupation of the chief official positions in the POD, the deposed opposition party (the psychic revolutionaries) has not fully been eliminated. They remain a small faction, internally cohesive, though relatively dis-unified, under rapidly successively changeing leadership. They maintain the order of IHO over OHO, though have a very limited following, and no one appears to be aware of the occult status of the figures who retain these titles. For example, the musician Moby and the politician Ron Paul are at opposite ends of the succession, following the psychic death of IHO Busta Rhymes in 2000, of known OHO's, and it is widely believed that Ron Paul has succeeded to the role of IHO, although, to quote GWB, "rumours and conspiracy theories abound." Another title for this deposed line of OHO's are "the crew that never sleeps," while amongst us our title for our opposition IHO is "the Great Burner."

The Ultimate Doomsday Plan of the neo-Sethians is very close to fruition.

While the neo-Sethian party maintain strict control over the inner-politics of the POD, the lesser party, the psychic-revolutionaries, maintain only limited control over the outer-Order, the "cult of sleep."

The lesser-party, the psychic-revolutionaries, although guaranteed control over the public aspects of the POD, those through which we interface with the non-psychic "sleepers" (ie. via sleeper "agents" or those who only experience ESP on rare ocassions), they are, ultimately, answerable to the political aspects of the inner-Order, and that is what the neo-Sethians now control. Despite Hollywood writers strikes, the "anti-terrorist" propaganda on cop shows and the news, as well as "celbreality" game-shows, continue to flow from the television. We are encouraged to believe that even populist leaders, like Ron Paul, cannot save us from the CFR, and that the "masses" (our fellow slaves) are "stupid" and therefore require oppressive leadership. As I've said, the post 9-11 world is a mess.

The psychic battle on the eve of the presidential election of 2000 between Busta Rhymes (psychic revolutionary) and Laura Bush (psychic conspirator) was over whether or not 9-11 would occur. Therefore, it took the form of that, then future, event in the psychic worlds of the mental and astral planes. Busta battled Laura on the 93th floor of the WTC south tower. Ultimately, Laura defeated Busta when Alesiter Crowley himself intervened from the spiritual level, playing out the role in the prescient event as GHWB did on the day of 9-11 later. As we have been told in the movies (SWepIII:ROTS), Aleister (as Anakin) intervened to save Laura from Busta's death-blow. The result of this was the psychic "Jedi purge" of sleeper-agents since 9-11 being used to suppress the non-psychic cult of sleep. They claim the psychic revolutionaries are "terrorists" and threatening the USA and its political offices. This is not the case.

The closest psychic-revolutionary "Jedi" to see the defeat of Busta Rhymes were the rap-group "the Coup." They released their album, "Party Music" on the day of 9-11-2001, and on its cover was, "presciently" the event of 9-11, the WTC towers exploding.

Following from "the Coup," the next group to learn of the neo-Sethian revolution were called "Dead Prez," however to get the warning out to as many other "Jedi" (anti-neo-Sethian psychic revolutionaries) as possible, Serj Tannikin and his rock group "System of a Down" were chosen to carry the message. On their popular summer album, "Toxicity" they warned of the coming "disorder / between the sacred silence and sleep." But by then it was already too late, and despite the warnings by the Coup and SOAD, 9-11 occured and Osama Bin Laden (ben Kenobi in ROTS) was blamed as a "terrorist master-mind," who "forced" GWB to "rise to the challenge" of "protecting freedom." The result was the draconian oppression of non-psychics following in the neo-Sethian political overthrow in the inner-Order of the POD.

After the revelation, only to late, by System of a Down of the plans of the neo-Sethians to pit US nationalism against Arab "terrorists," the neo-Sethians successfully clamped down on almost all of the public-interface with the cult of sleep, and little of the future has been able to be said with certainty since. However, with the imminant, though momentary, loss of the CFR's grip over the presidential political administration of the US, a series of terrifying revelations have surfaced on the tachyons from the future.

::: THE ULTIMATE DOOMSDAY PLAN OF THE NEO-SETHIANS :::

In the coming months the US will suffer another staged election between two parties that are both owned and operated by the CFR - the US arm of the internationalist Bildeberger Group, equivalent for the US Federal Reserve to what the Bildebergers are to the World Bank. On the soft-left we have Barrack Obama representing the "Democrat" party, and on the hard-right we have John McCain representing the "Republic" party. Barrack, an african-American Democrat, is expected to beat McCain, a former POW Republican, because of how unpopular the current Bush Republian party administration is, and so become the first African-American president. Although they have not yet announced their running-mates as nominees for Vice President, these two presidential candidates are both members of the CFR, and will likely want to stay within the CFR or its affiliate groups to select a Veep cocandidate for their "party." I would speculate that McCain, to certify his campaign as a farce, doomed from the start, will go down "waving a flag" for the "patriotic" neocons by selecting Dick Cheney, or possibly Donald Rumsfeld, as his VP running-mate. I expect also that Barrack Obama's first choice would be former oponent in the presidential campaign Hillary Clinton herself, however barring her acceptance of this second-place victory, Obama may choose Joseph Lieberman, the running-mate of 2000 Democrat candidate Al Gore. Lieberman, a co-citizen of Israel and right-wing Zionist, will be the more likely choice. The reason is simple: Obama knows the KKK would kill him if he were elected, unless they do not want his choice for VP to replace him. Therefore, he can choose between either a white woman or a Jewish man. Considering his real enemies in this race, the choice is obvious.

Lieberman was the VP candidate of Al Gore, equivalent to Dick Cheney, GWB's "pick" for VP, in the 2000 elections. Al Gore himself has gone on to preach environmentalism and anti-pollution, citing the potential to cause global extinction by a pandemic or by upsetting the food-chain and the possibility of corporate pollution to result in global cataclysm. Meanwhile, the oil-barrons in power have jacked up prices to $4.00 a gallon. Lieberman, however, has since kept more or less quiet and out of the public eye. Seeing him again would likely bolster Obama's support based, as it is (and exclusively so), on the unpopularity of the 2000-"elected" GWB administration.

In 2000 I lamented the selection of presidential candidates by calling them "Alien Gore" and "Burning Bush." Either, I'd predicted, by an alien invasion under Gore, or by a Christian-unifying "fire" would destroy us, and so either candidate I saw as just as bad as the other. Such proved true. Now, Barrack Obama (Black Usama) and John McCain (Mickey Cain) are equally likely to bring on the subsequent visions of the future as one another, and regardless who is "elected" a bleak Apocalypse awaits us to follow. Lieberman's hearkening back to "alien gore" as VP under "Black Usama" is not a very promising sign either. Nor is Dick Cheney being played by Richard Dreyfus in Oliver Stone's "October Surprise" film "W." which presents GWB as an alcoholic "man of the people" compared to an imperious GHWB.

The CFR, however, fronted nearly every one of the candidates in the presidential race nominated by both political parties. Therefore, they did not "put all their eggs in one basket" by supporting only Obama and McCain. Just as all the candidates that were "eliminated" prior to the "two-party = two-person" race now represent ideas that we are supposed to accept as having "fallen by the political way-side," and thus we are supposed to accept them as being either unpopular or unworkable, the CFR "hedged their bets" by choosing who would ultimately "win" and why.

The other primary candidates were Hillary Clinton (Capitol Hillarion Clone-town) prommoting socialised medicine from the Democrats, and Ron Paul (the Wrong Pope) prommoting ending the federal reserve bank from the Republicans. While socialised medicine is a pipe-dream in the post 9-11 world, and demonstrated only how "removed from reality" the Democrat party has supposedly become, the abolition of the federal reserve was just a good way of getting liberal Democrats to "switch parties" to the next scape-goat party, the Republicans, just in time for the inevitable swing of the political power pendulum from the Reps to the Dems.

The entire race thus far has reflected the increasing gap between the rich and poor during the GWB administration (caused by his over-extension of domestic capital, ie. printing more money than we have gold to back it with), which has led to the Fed's bankrupting real-estate firms and buying land dirt cheap by setting interest rates like oil barrons set gas prices. The campaigns thus far have shown us not only outrageous and ridiculous proposals from those "winners" (representing the rich) but also those "losers" (representing the poor). It seems no candidate reflects the "down to earth" common-sense of anyone "on the level." Each panderd to the "common-man" as a "lowest common denominator," and appealed to corporate interests as a "greatest common factor."

The fact that Barrack Obama was funded by the CFR to tour several foreign nations, particularly Middle-Eastern Muslim neighbors of Israel with whom the GWB admin has either already conquered or is currently trying to pick a fight, is indicative of how tight the CFR's grip of control is over the political public-interface for their neo-Sethian agenda. However, just as sure Obama will "win" by popular vote, they are equally capable of insuring the McCain loses by simply "flipping the votes" using Diebold electronic voting machines. On the off-chance a "dark horse" candidate, such as Ron Paul, were to a win a popular vote, such a criminal strategy might be necessary, however the CFR will win regardless of whether Obama or McCain is "elected" by popular "vote." In fact, unless Kucinich or Ron Paul wins by a "land-slide" margin in popular elections, raking in so many votes that to cover up their victory would be impossible, the CFR has already appointed the next president, it simply remains to be revealed to the people of the US who that will be.

If there is another staged "terrorist" attack, such as 9-11, before the election, our next president will be John McCain, and if the next "terorist" attack occurs after the election, our next president will be Barrack Obama. However, regardless of who the CFR has chosen, we can be sure they are planning to stage another "terrorist" -type attack. And, based on the actors they have in position on the political board, it seems obvious what the next staged "terrorist" attack will be: the assassination of a US president. Either GWB will be assassinated and McCain elected, or else Obama "elected" and then assassinated, vindicating GWB and placing Lieberman (sworn enemy of Islam) in charge of our extended military.

Either way, the result will be the same: if the president who is assassinated is GWB, and Dick Cheney remains in power behind the figure-head John McCain, we may expect the coming effect to occur sooner. If, however, it is to be Lieberman who would replace Obama, the assassination of the president itself may be postponed, and the effect occur more gradually throughout his 4-year term, however in either case, the result will be the same: either sooner or later, McCain or Obama will excercise GWB's expanded political powers to declare a state of martial law, to round up US citizens, to ship them to concentration camps, and to exterminate them.

The ability to excercise martial law itself is only necessary in any areas of large enough population to pose a threat of rebellion against the minimum requisite number national guard and private firm troops necessary to quell such an uprising in the event of any area or region refusing to go quietly. Therefore, if kept covert for as long a time as possible, the maximum number of citizens may become detainees. We have seen this process occuring already: Iraqi and Afghani "detainees" (POWs) have been tortured, tried by military tribunals and, in some cases, set free for not meeting the requirment for an "enemy combatant" necessary for trial for war-crimes. Such arbitrary imprisonment, judgment and leniancy is indicative of the confusion that will come. While the current "detainees" are being tortured, tried and released, no one is noticing how many new "detainees" there are, or where they are coming from, let alone what will become of them in the future. If GWB tortures them, will they return as "terrorists" to assassinate him if Obama lets them go?

Thus, either under McCain if GWB is killed, or under Obama if not, but more gradually, still the same result will occur: the prison-system of the US, already overcrowded with the otherwise homeless, will be forced to be expanded to include the FEMA-managed UN prison-facilities built within the US. The number of people these private-army staffed facilities are built to hold is massive, however they are not built, as is claimed, as "emergency shelters." Emergency shelters have the amenities of home, whereas the FEMA camps are built in the standard model of prison facilities. They are not meant to house people long, and they are not meant to be a temporary stop. Therefore, the most likely purpose of these FEMA camps is as extermination facilities.

Who will go first? Arab "terrorists" are already there. However, the most likely next step will not be a small one. It is unlikely any one criminal class will be sufficient to fill these massive FEMA camps. The next step will therefore not be due to any ordinary type of assassination or catastrophe. Another 9-11 would not justify employing massive martial-law. Even a wide-spread chemical attack, and even if such induced a subsequent pandemic, mutating into some new form of disease, these FEMA prison facilities would not be necessary, nor used for housing prior to extermination. So, what event, involving the death of a president, would be considered enough of a catastrophe to round up enough of our own domestic population to send them to FEMA camps to be killed?

If we are all meant to be taken to the FEMA camps at once, and martial law only implimented where any rebellion occurs among people unwilling to go quietly, then what we will most likely face will include the assassination of the US president, but obviously cannot be limited to this event. No, for the FEMA camps to be used and martial law declared as a means of using US soldiers to get the US population into them, then COG would have to be implimented for the entire Congress, not only the President. Lieberman or McCain would have to assume complete dictatorship, and to do this there would have to be no Congress to dissent.

Therefore, whether GWB or Obama is the president to be assassinated, either McCain or Lieeberman will impliment COG, dissolve the Congress, abolish the Court, and establish a military tyranny within the US, setting themselves up as dictator pro tempore. Martial law will be declared to round people up into camps domestically. But what will be the reason for implimenting COG if McCain or Lieberman were to transition directly? They could not dissolve the Congress. Therefore, it is most likely the Congress is not going to be dissolved. It is most likely that, for the CFR's plan to impliment Martial Law in the US is to be successful, Congress will simply have to be destroyed. This implies that Washington DC itself is in danger from a fire, a plague, or even a nuclear bomb. Possibly all three.

Again, this is inevitable. If McCain comes to power because GWB is assassinated, or if Lieberman comes to power because Obama is "elected," either way, the Congress will be destroyed at the same time as the president is assassinated. Either sooner or later, this will have to happen: the president will die and Congress will be destroyed, for the CFR's plan to succeed.

Now, if we are talking about the president being killed and Congress being destroyed at the same time, the most likely "plan of attack" will involve a large explosion in Washington DC. I will not speculate about the real cause or "lone gunmen" responsible for this event. It could come at any time; I pray it may never come. However, what we do need to look at is who Liberman or McCain will most likely hold responsible for it and how they will deal with it.

If the citizens of the US are meant to be rounded up into camps domestically, then the threat will most likely be presented as coming from within US borders. Thus, to contain the threat from within, anyone who does not go quietly to the camps will be seen as the enemy. Only those who comply with the orders will be shipped by train and super-highway to the camps. So, who would meet the requirement of being both a "domestic" threat and capable of destroying Washington DC? Surely no domestic "terrorist" organisation could exist to pose a threat to Washington DC, and if it were meant to be a foreign threat, there would be no reason for US citizens to be taken to the camps.

Therefore, we must reason, what event will destroy Washington DC, killing the entire Congress and the President, that will allow COG to be implimented, Martial Law declared and US citizens to be rounded up into camps? The answer is obvious, or should be, to anyone with a library card, internet access or a tv. The answer is painfully obvious. It is not going to be another nation nor domestic terrorists that will "attack" the Congress and the President, and "necessitate" Martial Law. And it will not be only in the US this tragedy occurs either. Nor will it be the last to occur either.

Aliens? No, not quite so simple. Although, I am sorry to say, the majority of anyone who reads this before it's too late will see them as such. Angels? Perhaps the rich will see them this way. Our fellow humans they will be, "sleeper agents," once possessed, now activated. They will seem to "shape-shift." They will become brain-dead zombie meat-puppets under the influence of mass mind-control by VLF EMFs emitted by HAARP and sattelites. To the poor, these zombies will appear as killer aliens. To the rich, they will appear as alien saviours. To our leaders and their chosen "bloodlines," these inter-dimensional travellers will appear as alien Gods. But to some, they will not appear at all. Those who control these awakened "sleeper-agents," in their deep underground military bases, will only be watching the Apocalypse happen via satellite, pay-per-view.

Alien-abduction scenarios have been occurring for the past 50 years. It has, however, been since the 1940s that governments have had "alien" technology. What is "alien" technology? It is widely believed the military-industrial complex has in its possession technology never less than 10 years more advanced than what is used by the private sector and sold to the people. Therefore, according to this theory, cell-phones would have been "alien" technology during the 1970's. However, if the military hadn't developed cell-phones until ten years before they became popular, then what about the period of time between when phones were invented and when the military-industrial complex first started using transmission towers for mobile communications technology? It's during the "grey" period between the idea's invention and when it becomes a reality that we call technology "alien."

Hitler's scientists, brought into NASA by Project Paperclip, had built models of antigravity crafts in Germany during the early 40's, however once brought to America, only released solid-fuel rocket technology strong enough to break the atmosphere-barrier as late as the mid-50's. Therefore, the technology for space-travel they'd invisioned in the early 40's was not realised until the mid-50's. Between these years, space-travel was an "alien" technology. Anti-gravity crafts, as modeled by the NAZI scientists in Germany, remain "alien" technology, since we are unaware of any military planes that use it. Of course, we wouldn't be. They would be invisible. Calling a black-bird a "stealth" plane because it deflects radar is misdirection. The true "stealth" aircraft are completely cloaked, and cannot even be seen by the human eye. Such invisibility is "alien" technology today.

In truth, the technology the NAZI scientists modeled has been built by them in secret, working for a group superior and secret to even the military-industrial complex. The military-industrial complex backed Hitler and the NAZIs in the first place. So who's idea was it to hire them to build models of anti-gravity craft, if not the military-industrial complex? Yet, do we see the military-industrial complex making use of anti-grav tech to colonise space and to pulverise asteroids? So, why is the antigrav tech secret from even the military-industrial complex? What the military uses in war-fare is inevitably released to the public. However, the military cannot have anti-gray tech, because they would use it in warfare and then it would have to, later, be released to the public. If this were to happen, the secret elite would lose their control over the military. That is why the military cannot have anti-gravity craft. However anti-gravity craft do exist, based on early NAZI "vimana" (circular) "flying saucers." We see them all the time these days and call them UFOs, but in truth, not even the military knows where they come from because they believe they are "alien." The public considers the military tech-gap due to "alien" technology, and so does the miliary answer to what it believes to be "aliens." These "aliens" are simply, as I've said, ourselves in the future, however only a few of us have been allowed to come back, and so only a few small groups have formed to use anti-grav tech.

Anti-grav's "discovery" will lead immediately to the knowledge of time-travel. They are one and the same. When the military finally grasps this, their two parallel experiments with time-travel (Montauk) and anti-grav (UFOs) will merge into one. That is when the Apocalypse will happen. All the sleeper-agents (alien-abductees) will be simultaneously "awakened" (activated) by the military HAARP antenna array sending out the "go-code" to them via communications satellites broadcasting pulsed EM waves though us even now. However it will not be the military that causes this transmission to occur. They will be caught "with their pants down," because they will have opened up a time-tunnel through which "aliens" will come, and these "aliens" (themselves in the immediate future) will overpower them and activate their technology to destroy us in order to assure their reign on earth.

The first crew of travellers to use anti-grav tech to time-travel will be sent into the past. They will move through our current time-line backwards, beginning from the near-future, and will interbreed with us as they grow older each generation earlier they age. Their groups of families will establish along the way their kingdom, each building on the foundations their elders were taught by these time-travellers from a prior future/past. This group will travel as far back as to before the flood that destroyed Atlantis. They will be hailed as aliens from Nibiru 12,000 years ago, and, after journeying 24,000 years around the entire aeonic cycle of earth's polar precession, they will return to their own time of origin, our near-future, and finally enter their own future, re-appearing as soon as they left, in their original present, but much aged.

It is they who, as soon as their mission begins, will bring about the Apocalypse that was the reason for their mission to begin with. They will disappear, and then immediately re-appear, and as soon as they re-appear, they will trigger the Apocalypse. It is known this will occur in 2012 however it is also known that this will be AFTER the faked alien-attack using HAARP and satellites as an excuse to blow up Washington and put people in camps. So when I say, they cause the Apocalypse, yet that it does not happen until after they return, then how can these time-travellers be the same aliens who cause the Apocalypse? The aliens that will attack us in 2012 are from so far in our past that they have warped around and come back at us from our future. From Nibiru they came 18,000 years ago, it is written. To Apophis they will travel in 2012. Between 2012 and 8000 to and from Apophis they will journey, to arrive from Nibiru 18,000 years in our past. However, leave our planet they will not. Instead of travelling to Apophis in our future, they will travel around the other way to Nibiru in our past. When they return from Apophis, the team of human travellers will be mutated by their trip into "grey" aliens from Nibiru. It is these grey aliens that, continuing to travel backward in time, will cause the Apocalypse necessitating the team be sent through time, and thus assure their own destiny.

Beware the sleepers, they will be made to serve the aliens from our future. The psychics now will become non-psycics then and the now non-psychics will become shape-shifting alien-posessed zombies.

ben's retirement community take two: http://www.benpadiah.com/phpBB2/viewtopic.php?t=1337

OHO's and IHO's of the POD, from +2000 YP until the present, January, 25th, +2009 YP:

2000 - 2006 (+YP)

OHO: GWB IHO: Ariel

After staging the 2000 presidential elections, the neo-Sethian coup-de-tat within the POD was declared concluded by 9-11. The agenda of war for oil, fighting foreign "terrorists" was ensured (at least "temporarily") and the PNAC, Carlysle Group, Halliburton, CFR, Blackwater and Trilateral Commission believed their Orwellian oligarchy stead-fast.

2006-2007 (+YP) OHO: Laura

IHO: GWB

Following the death of Ariel Sharon, GWB briefly served as IHO with his wife, Laura Bush, making most of the command decisions for their family, and thus taking up most of GWB's time and mind, while he, unsuccessfully, attempted to ram doomed legislation through a majority opposition-party controlled Senate and Congress. The alliance between the Israeli Likud party and the neo-cons in Washington DC, forged between Mossad and the CIA, began to appear unsteady. It appeared as though the neo-con party would suffer from internal schisms. Meanwhile, Dick Cheney allied himself to GHWB, GWB's father, via Laura Bush, in secret from GWB.

2007-2008 (+YP)

OHO: Dick IHO: Laura

In early 2007, Laura Bush was finally officially declared IHO, following several occult activities involving aligning her daughters with papal interests. She had already been aware (since 2000) of much more about the occult nature of the neo-Sethian / neo-con conspiracy than she had let on. Her role in this elaborate global coup-de-tat is akin to that of Emperor Palpatine in the Star Wars movies, and eventually she will be betrayed by Dick Cheney, who she has allowed to be taken on as her confidant and chief ruling secretary, the OHO of the POD.

2008-2009 (+YP) OHO: Obama IHO: GHWB

In a coup-de-tat within a coup-de-tat, the neo-Sethians have seemingly divided against one another, with the former President's father, also a former US President, George Herbert Walker Bush (GHWB) being revealed behind the insectile mask of Dick Cheney in the final moments of GWB's Presidency. This image came to W. in a dream, and this dream the US saw on-screen thanks to Oliver Stone. GHWB sent Cheney as an infiltrator into GWB's neo-con inner-circle to sabotage GWB's presidency with a doomed war. The "final confrontation" between W. and his "Poppy" is portrayed in Oliver Stone's satirical comedic masterpiece. The final betrayal of "Emperor Palpatine" (Laura Bush) by "Darth Vader" (Dick Cheney), is portrayed in George Lucas' Star Wars film "Return of the Jedi." Meanwhile, OHO Obama is just a "puppet of the people" however controlled by GHWB insofar as having to clean up the mess his son made.

if all else fails let's all remember the lesson taught by Lenin to Stalin (or was it Stalin to Kruschev??) by the parable of the "Two Letters":

One Soviet dictator left two letters for his successor following a Revolution, and specifically instructed his subsequent office-holder to open each if a Revolution seems iminant, and they will satisfy to quell the unrest of the people.

Finally, the later dictator opened the first letter. It read simply: "Blame everything on me."

Later, when things became dire once more for the potentate, he opened the second letter left by his predecessor, former holder of his office. It read, simply: "Write Two Letters."

The moral, or rather "Pesher," here is obvious:

What would it take for the UN to intervene militarily in Israel (to "cross the Rubicon" onto the "Holy Land")?

If W. is being villified by the popularity of Obama for being so radically autonomous from him (and by all my own sensory accounts, he certainly is!), is it not obvious how he is hiding his tail between his legs, hiding his shadow behind himself from the public spotlight, and what secrets lurk in the hearts of men? Only the Shadow knows.

What role does W. now have to play in the drama of events on the world stage? We all hope none. Yet by his retreat into "private" life, whom does he seclude, sequester, shelter and conceal even more? His dad, the guy who shot JFK and who orchestrated both the 2000 "election" coup-de-tat to appoint W. and the 9-11 disaster to punish him for his blindness. The man who played God.

But before we can discuss GHWB, the IHO, we first have to get to know Mr. Barack Hussein Obama II, newly elected and current President of the United States, the OHO of the POD. He is a basically "good" person. He came up from nothing to become the President. He is the embodiment of the "American Dream." He is everything GWB wished his own image could have lived up to honestly. GWB was the son of a President, appointed to office, and responsible for 9-11, Afgahnistan and Iraq, all in his first term. The current President, Barack Obama, is in every way everything that GWB is not. GWB, literally, only Wishes he were Barack Hussein Obama. Then, maybe, he could have told off his father before it was too late.

Like Sinead O-Conner ripping up a picture of Pope John Paul the Second after singing Bob Marley's song "War" quoting Hallie Selassie on SNL, had Nancy Pelosi, Dem. speaker of the House during the end of W.'s second term, simply pushed harder on the popular calls for the impeachment of W.s entire administration, then perhaps W. would have retaliated and renounced his father.

W.

"You don't want to impeach me. You want to impeach my dad."

And this would have been, argueably true. However, instead, W. pushed for Henry Paulson (Fed Czar)'s proposed "bank bail-out" legislation, to prove the point Congress would pay for anything he told them to, which is also, demonstrably, true. Indeed, after a very popular vote against the legislation in the House, the bill was porkbarrelled in the Senate into an unaccountable trillion $ (to start with) monster. It was then sent back to the House and immediately passed. Democracy, or hypocrisy?

But such was common under W. Even the Oliver Stone movie, "W.", had to be dumbed down to meet the standards of a codependent, abused, adult-child of an alcoholic living with the "elephant in the living room" of aviolent, alcoholic husband. We were not allowed to say certain things, and what we could say we were only allowed to say in certain words.

Consider the substitution of "this administration" for "George Walker Bush" and "Dick Cheney" personally in the dumbed-down "impeachment hearings" on the "Constitutionality of Extended Executive Authority." This is not book burning. This is erasing certain events from the historical record as they occur.

"The Greatest War Crime Is Silence."

- Jon Gee (later falsely attributed to Dick Cheney)

So if GWB is the cowardly lion, and Barack Obama is the opposite of GWB, what does that make Obama? A wolf in sheep's clothing? Perhaps...

The business press had already proclaimed Obama the "Messiah" (his picture photo-chopped over FDR's on the cover of Time promising "a New, New Deal?") long before he was "elected" (by a margin argueably beyond any doubt over Rep. nominee, John McCain, who'd chosen as his last-minute running-mate political unknown, Alaska gov. Sarah Palin, and shot his campaign in the foot from a helicopter). Obama is, insofar as he was and always will be, a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, the same "international affairs" NGO policy-planning comission that John McCain also belonged to. Just like being a Bonesman cost Kerry the election in 04, being in the CFR won Barack Obama the election (due mainly to soft-money campaign contribution funds).

If W. was the "Do as I say, not as I do" President, then Barack Obama will be the exact opposite: the "Do as I do, not as I say" President. Afterall, by such backwards "logic" and newspeak "Objectivism" and neo-Sethian "reasoning," the anti-Anti-Christ MUST be Christ!

If you want to look into the future, then follow the flow of the money. Concentrate on the ebb-tides, and take careful note of where the water bulges and where the oceans invert convex on the opposite side. Such is Lunacy, according to Einstein: doing the same thing over and over and expecting to get a different result.

The Christians are all a vengeful lot, and Obama is no less a fire-breathing Christian than is Robert Wexler, his former campaign advisor and ongoing advocate for (even retro-active) impeachment for Bush-co., a "fire-breathing Liberal." Obama's church is almost as scary as Sarah Palin's, and she belonged to an anti-voodoo cult founded in Africa and imported to Alaska!

As I've been trying to adumbrate in previous posts here, the radical Muslim and radical Christian sides of the coin have both come to bear the same image: that of Capitalism, the almighty dollar itself. As I wrote in 2006, benpadiah wrote:

It is an internal race within American culture to accumulate the most valuable natural resources. The neo-cons, under Dick Cheney, seem to have focused their accumulation of natural resources on oil from Alaska, the Gulf of Mexico, Saudi Arabia and most recently Iraq. The entertainers seem to be focused more on the accumulation of diamonds, gold and silver.

-source: http://www.benpadiah.com/phpBB2/viewtopic.php?t=438 (ie. earlier in this same thread)

And so it has become, I see; on late-night TV they sell limited quantities of silver coins. Pathetic. Meanwhile, according to former Fed-chair Allen Greenspan, "the free-market economy itself has failed." The media has been dire doom and gloom since the bank bail-out reporters first used the phrase "sky-rocketing" in addition to "trillions." Good-riddance to bad-rubbish, say anti-Bush "revolutionaries" across the world. However there are no fewer "Jobs" today than there were yesterday. There is just less money overall to pay people to do them, because much of our "iquid" capital is now being used to "bail-out" banks who made too many real-estate loans. Oh, and the auto-industry. Apparently.

In short, we will eventually get the money being given to the banks back. What we will not get back in our lifetimes will be private, corporate banks. The last of Bush's "Bills" rammed through an opposed but divided Congress, is really designed to give the Federal Government a share in each of the smaller corporate investment firms that backed the corporate banks' real-estate loans and then declared Entitlement Section 8 unless the gov't "bailed them out." It was the banks' fault, said the investment brokerage firms. Nobody blamed the investment brokerage firms. Nobody EVER blames the investment brokerage firms. Instead we forgot they'd get the money we'd be giving to the banks, and forgave the banks out of assumed necessity. Again, pathetic.

So, ultimately what happens to the money the gov't is supposed to have to collect from us by taxes to "bail us out" of this backwards financial "crisis"? The gov't buys shares in the investment firms (this is Fascism, by the strictest definition of the term). The gov't then (beneficently) sells these shares to the Fed, who use them as debt-coverage (an interest bearing loan) as leverage to buy out all the smaller corporate investment firms and local banks. Goodbye credit-union ATMs. Hello IRS "Real" IDs!

At least, and again, so it would seem. But Obama will fix it! Obama's gonna make it all alright again. Who says? Christians. The same ones who wailed on unendingly about the Apocalypse. Now that Tim LeHay has penned the second-coming, the "Two Witnesses clothed in sack-cloth" could arise from anywhere in the land. (cf. Rev.11) As Jim Morrison put it, "When the True King's Killers are Allowed to Run Free, a Thousand Magicians arise among the lands." Or something to that effect.

Remember how "anti-counterfeiting" was the public scam for the Fed minting all that extra money into our liquid economy, while W. sold all our national-debt to China (consolidated the portfolio) to pay for the war in Iraq. We all got tax-bonus checks in the mail. Remember that? That's why there isn't enough liquid currency to fill the pockets of the whole population right now. That money got spent by some and earned (saved) by others. They invested in stocks, sold their shares to banks, and then recalled the debt all at once. Pretty sneaky, huh? Meanwhile "Joe the Plumber" was telling us all how qualified he was for political celebrity.

By over-valueing the dollar, and over-extending the economy (debt spending over inflated funding and rhettorical "hand" over proverbial "fist") the Federal Reserve, acting in full accordance and support with the W. Bush "regime" effetively intentionally broke the economy. They knew that, if the currency was thinned out enough, that something, one sector or another, would break. Witness each of the former Fed-heads sitting before the special committee on the sub-prime mortgage crisis (in 2006!) hosted by Ron Paul and lying through their fucking teeth. Like the cowards in the Bush-co. administration after 9-11. "Oh there was no way we could have predicted!" etc. Which is newspeak for, "find a scapegoat, since we did it, and you're not going to blame us!"

Enter, at last, the auto-industry! Like Bush's eternal middle-finger, flicking off the rest of us losers, his final "fuck you to poor people" (to quote comedian David Cross) only days before he "left office for good," the auto-industry announced it was in a downward spiral and requested its fair share of the government "bail-out" loot too, to the tune of several trillion dollars for the first few months (by some accounts I'd happened to overhear on Fox, days) alone! Or else what, they'll stop manufacturing cars? That's a shit tonne of American workers all on the streets, and Obama, by this criteria, had better have more than rhettoric to "bail out" the Chicago Unions!

His talk of "Green-energy Plans" looks great on Bill-Boards and smeared across the yogurt and cereal aisles in groccery-stores, and sells especially well to recalcitrant young Hippies (read, anti-authority pot-heads). But what is this mysterious "green energy" and how do we harness its "Unlimited Power"? Is it corn-oil? Are we going to pull out of Iraq and start driving corn-oil cars? I doubt that, but aside from the "friendly" stickers reminding us that an ever-increasing percent of the (is it $3.00 per gallon now or is it $1.00? Or is it $6.66 yet?) gasoline we pump into our cars from every corporate gas station is already corn-oil. We're already riding in corn-oil cars, Mr. President. What's the Future? What comes next? We've been paying at the pumps so that Shell and BP could convert to corn-oil distilled gasoline, and so Halliburton could build a pipe-line for them from the Straight of Hormuz to the Caspian Sea. If green is the color of money... and it is!... the Dick Cheney 2001 Energy Plan don't get much greener!

So what, ultimately, will be the "final solution" to this contrived "financial crisis"? Perhaps the most disappointing of GWB's legacy is how we how look at the Presidency now. GWB proclaimed himself, "the Decider." Now we look to cry on the shoulder of the same person who just kicked us in the face. And we cry, "he's different, he's changed, he's not the same man now!" But the Trust is gone; not between the people and the current President, but between the Presidency and the People.

Our current president Barack Obama is a great orator. But in order to appear to be doing the "Will of the People," he has already had to make some calls on their behalf that could make him very unpopular amongst the neauveau-riche elite, the same class of thugs employed to do the "dirty work" (criminal gangsterism) of the United States of America. In short, a bunch of pissed-off ex-torturer Marines who used to staff Camp X-Ray in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, are now left "with their dicks swinging in the wind." And no silver-tongue can felate its way out of the kind of Bukkake they got used to giving in Abu Ghraib.

"The question we must ask ourself is, is our children learning?"

- GWB (the real one!)

The question we must ask ourselves, "now more than ever" (as tricky Nixon used to say) is "How would Obama answer to the call for war?" If he heard its approaching hoof-beats would he mount the "Pale Horse" and so bring Change, "mid-Apocalypse"?

Let us return to my own Apocalypse-scenario: the threat of a nuclear explosion in the straight of Afghanistan between Pakistan and India, where we have known damn well all along Usama Bin Laden has been "hiding." Perhaps like a spider awaiting a fly to be caught in its web?

If such an event, God forbid, were to happen during this early phase of Obama's Presidency, what would he do? If the US does strike at the "last" Al-Queida and Taliban hold-outs in Pakistan, and Usama does "go out in a blaze of glory," a "suicide by cop," and blows himself up with the ultimate WMD, then how would Obama handle it? If Pakistan blamed us, and if the cloud (as I would predict) drifted over to Russia, and then Russia blamed us too, what could we do? Obama would be hugely unpopular, have dug us deeper into GWB's war in the mid-east, made a new enemy of a now-older super-power, etc. etc. etc. It would be the pits.

Yet we must dare imagine such horrific outcomes if we are to understand the real threat facing Obama today, the threat posed to him by GHWB. You see, if GHWB killed Kennedy as a young agent of the CIA (and he did), and if he subsequently oversaw the importing of processed crack cocain from Panama (and he did), and if he, as president, signed into law the COG Program (and he did), and last but not least if he pressed the button on 9-11 (and by all rights he damn well did) then he is clearly the biggest gangster alive on this planet now and, if he didn't control them, would clearly be the FBI's #1 Most Wanted Man Alive (with a bullet!).

Is Obama really up to the challenge of bringing the Bush family to justice? To do so would require calling another World Court, an international military War Crimes Tribunal. Let the Bonesmen be tried by British Maritime Law! Let the Pirates be tried by the Law of the Sea! But can Obama overcome being played as the scape-goat for his son's crimes by his own Master, past-President GHWB?

Again, we are back to appearances, and the fact there SEEMS to be a growing rift between GWB and Dick Cheney. When Bush stepped out of the Capitol Rotunda for the final chopper flight out of DC, he stood at the top of the stairs with Preisdent Obama, and Dick Cheney carried a cane and rode in a wheel chair to the bottom of the steps to meet with VP Biden. The "Opposite" Twins above and the agenda for war(s) below.

But who is Really running the show? Appearances can be deceiving when the news is censored. Who's will do we see being done? We have already ascertained that the main commonality between the regimes of GWB and Obama will be determined by money, and specifically between them by a shift in the concept of what possesses value monetarily. Under GWB the primary economic commodity was oil. What is Obama's "Green Energy Plan?" We wait to see like chicklets being fed the mother hen's vomit.

We also know that GHWB has consolidated economic wealth by jacking up the values of Halliburton and Carlylse Group stock that he plans to leave to W. and his younger brothers Jeb and Marvin as a non-taxable inheritance when he dies, or does whatever it is Reptilians do when they leave this conscious plane.

So, if Obama is poised to bring "Change" to the Bush-co. regime's oil-based Energy Plan, and if GHWB is holding all the money and pulling Obama's strings, it's a safe bet that whatever Obama's "Green Energy" Plan will be, GHWB knows about it already. Which means it is probably based on something GHWB would have published in "International Affairs Quarterly" decades ago for the CFR. If so, I searched their site, using their lousy engine, but couldn't find anything specific.

But time is running short for me now, and so I've saved the best for last...

Barack Obama has laid it out in ink on paper:

split to: Obama V. CIA "black sites" http://www.benpadiah.com/phpBB2/viewtopic.php?t=3856

the Pharoah Obama, cloned mummy of Akhenaten, the World Bank and BlueBeam. http://www.youtube.com/view_play_list?p=9338101502F13527

Of course Obama continues the policies of W, even while apologising for them. He's on vacation prior to his assassination the same way Bush was prior to 9-11. But the majority of people HAVE "wakened up," and have ALWAYS been "awake." We are all cynical of what the news tells us to believe, and none of us trust the government more than the church. That is WHY BlueBeam will be a "religious" war, and will end when the world bank has dissolved all the material holdings of all the world's churches. The "new age" religion of UFO-cults has always been a sham propagated in the background to prepare us for seeing, in phsyical reality, the same events described to us on-screen by Project Dove funded HollyWood film corporations.

If the war weren't un-popular, Obama would not have been allowed to be popularly placed into office. However, now that he has the power to erase every single one of Bush's (Jr AND Sr) executive orders, let alone to go public with how Clinton's ties to the Bush families' CIA use of the Meena, AK airport to transport cocaine could at least account for why Clinton's executive orders furthered the Bush Sr. agenda of REX84. Even as a "Democrat" Obama could safely be backed by the entire "Democratic" party-controlled Senate and House. Yet, with the excuse that "they would be culpable themselves for funding Bush," he is encouraged by the "liberal" media to do nothing.

All of the media, though, is bought and paid for by the same company-owners who funded both Obama and Bush Jr.'s campaigns (ie. the Council on Foreign Relations, the Trilateral Commission and the Bilderberg Group) that are, despite media-lies, fully BEHIND the auditing of the Federal Reserve, the dissolution of the National US bank into the same international banks (the Swiss holding the NAZI gold taken from the Rothschild banks of the era) that are behind the Euro. The movement toward a "solid" (gold) currency is a moral one, however who would be able to afford to own gold if the price of it rocketed overnight? If the Federal Reserve is dissolved to pay-back the US Government the difference between IRS collected taxes and the amount lent (at interest) to the US Government, then who will be able to pay for the "bail-out" of the Federal Reserve? Who owns the Federal Reserve? The CFR and the Bilderberg Group. If they blame the management of the Fed (Bernanke back to Greenspan) and sell their mangement rites to the NAZI-gold backed Swis banks, then what American citizen would be issued a solid gold "Amero"?

The modern national banks are attempting to push the Federal Reserve into an international buy-out by seeking "bail-outs" from the Fed that would, implicitely, need to be paid back to the Fed by the US government through taxation of we, the people. Because not even a 100% Republican congress would support such a "measure," the Fed will blame Bernanke, the Fed's owners (the Bilderberg Group and CFR) will assume management, sell their debt to Swiss banks and establish a solid gold currency in the continents of America.

All of this is common knowledge to anyone on the streets of the US. However, how many of us here in the States even pause to put our own psyche's into the shoes of an Iraqi child under the US "Liberation," let alone question our obedience to the motives of the one-world bank that it appears will inevitably follow this heavily billed "possible depression"?

But what most people do not just blindly accept is that Obama is, himself, the clone of the mummy of Ahkhenaten, and that the "Blue Beam" Project is more than just one possible option or some distant "contingency plan". It has been built, so it will be used. 9-11 was a "dry-run" for it. It will use global satellites and "LRAD" long-range ultra-sound technology to fake an alien invasion. Whether or not this happens in our shared time-line or not, it will (and thus already is and has) happen in a parallel universe. During the crossing of our own shared reality with this parallel dimension (merely another galaxy aligned with our own Milky Way's poles) between 5/5/2000 and 12/21/2012, we should all stop and give thanks to God for even the small wild berries that are the sole food the native tribes-people currently have to eat and survive on in the horn of Africa, as far south as Ethiopia. Are we modern "slaves" any better? We are definitely serving whatever we believe to be the "greater good," but is it? And we are so quick to play the "race card" then declare "racism dead" or a "non-issue."

Don't believe what the media tell you. Do your own research, find your own answers, think for yourself. And above all, preach the message of PEACE. Not "global peace," not "peace through war," not "peace by any means necessary," etc. Just appreciate the peace and calm of nature as often as you can, and enjoy the good times of being alive.

The ones who walk between our dreams as we sleep, the Sleep Walkers, are also known as the "shadow men," the "men in black," the "Watchers" and "the greys." These are the servitors used as conduits by black magic energy vampires. These are the incubi, the succubi and the abductors. Because they come for you in sleep, they are often associated with clowns and teddy bears that live in one's "happy place" where they go when they faint. The more fatigued we become (which is the only reason physical labour is necessary among humans) the more they take over our bodies and displace our personality. They are harsh, cruel, greedy things, and the elders called them demons of flame, though they are not demons, and our ancestors called them djinn of air, though they are not djinn. Nor are they aliens in the sense of physical beings from another star system. Sometimes you can catch a glimpse of a shadow man out of the corner of your eye, but by the time you look it will be gone. This is how secret they are.

The Shadow Men, or the Sleep Walkers, rule from the astral realm over the cult of sleep, or the sleeper agents, unaware of their programming, waiting the time to awaken to their mission. The sleeper agents answer to the Sleep Walkers at certain areas and locations around the world, some publically known, some not. One of these such locations of a nexus between the waking world and the world beyond the collective unconscious is in Area 51 in New Mexico. Another is the sky over Australia.

The sleeper agents come to these nexus points, the karmic centres of the ECS, without knowing why, but come as if called. They answer the higher calling of self-betterment offered by the lie called "karma" and "redemption." They flock to them and congregate at them, like the Druids at Stone Henge, or like the Montauk Boys, the vast sleeping heards of unawakenned sleeper agents bow down before the idols of the cult of sleep, the idols shaped like the shadow men, shaped like the Sleep Walkers.

The Sleep Walkers travel between our conscious minds through the mutual medium of the collective unconscious. They spring upwards and outwards like the rays of a prism's fractured light between their focal points in the eyes of all curious strangers. They beckon us, "sleep," they call, "sleep," like sirens. But those of us who discover how to awaken, we Boddhisatvas of Mannu ascended into Buddhahood, cannot risk going back to sleep again because once we awaken and perceive our former existence as a slave to the unconscious agenda of the cult of sleep the Sleep Walkers likewise become aware of us. They want our souls, and they will attack us as a nightmare when we sleep. They call this "the sleeping sickness," and "insomnia nervosa."

Therefore, those of us who awake from the cult of sleep, and discover our psychic power, are the real prey of the Sleep Walkers. The Sleep Walkers tend to the cult of sleep, their food supply, for they feed off images, off the electrochemical energy generated in the right hemisphere of the brain by stimulation of the pineal gland, producing so-called "brain sand." They feed off our imaginations via the TV, via work cubicles and international business machines, etc. The slower, stupider and sleepier we feel, the more abundant their reserve of energies, the longer their stamina, the greater their satisfaction in us.

Some falsely identify these Watchers with the Enochian angels. No, the Watchers (the Grigori of the Book of Enoch) are not the same as the hosts of Enochian angels (of John Dee). No, the Watchers are indeed the gold in the blue, Rh-blood royale of the Grigori giants. However angels they are not.

The shadow men, the dark side, are sentient entities without corporeality trapped inside of earth's gravity well. They have been here for as long as there has been life, and probably since before that as well. They brought the virus portion down on an asteroid from space, and they brought the bacteria portion up from the trench microbes in the lava ducts under sea. But it was not them that made the two to become one.

Their dreams recall all the hostility and terror of the war between virus and bacteria that raged before the creation of organic life on earth as the great compromise between these forces of nature. They infect bacteria, and they spawn viral mutations. They bring fever, and hallucinations. When they have fully possessed a person they think that they are God. They are simply inverted.

The Sleep Walkers are indeed the root of all human strife, as they set us against one another in the name of every form of utopia we imagine.

Like the discorporeal djinn, the Sleep Walkers trance channel through our auras. They can control karma, but the law they enforce is only that of irony. Our suffering brings pleasure to them. Unlike the djinn, who exist only to serve us, the Sleep Walkers have an agenda of their own: they are in control of the cult of sleep.

The Sleep Walkers have a long-standing partnership with the Order of Death. The Order of Death provides human and cattle sacrifices to these "elder gods" or "chaots," and in return the Sleep Walkers allow the Order of Death to continue to operate and to propose courses of action for the guidance of the non-psychic, "sleeping" masses. The Sleep Walkers have ultimate say, however, like a gluttonous vassal caste, the Sleep Walkers allow most of the descisions to be made by the Order of Death. It took many thousands of years to secure communication with the Sleep Walkers and the other ambient denizens of earth's gravity well. It then took hundreds of years to communicate with these upper level entities. It has only taken us the past century since the truce to make the massive leaps in technological and scientific development we have been able to make.

Now it will all be shattered.

I have told you many things about the neo-Sethian movement. I have told you how it was Aleister Crowley, while celebrating the Birth ritual of the New Aeon (prematurely to the death ritual of the old aeon), who foresaw the necessity of initiating the second-coming movement of christianity. Since that time the task has been carried on upward through the rungs of the order of death, until finally, with William S. Burroughs, we saw a neo-sethian OHO, and with Jim Morrison a neo-Sethian IHO. By the turn of the second millennium and the official dawn of the new aeon the neo-Sethians had completely extinguished all opposition to their agenda within the Order with the psychic slaying of rap star Busta Rhymes in astral battle with neo-Sethian empress Laura Bush.

The movement for the second coming is definately a strong agenda among those within the psychic conspiracy whose origins upon entry into the order were as psychic revolutionaries, attempted infiltrators and instigators. This cowan class among the Order appears to have gained ultimate power. They have discovered the method of harnessing the alignments of the planets and galactic core: the modern shemhamforash. With this knowledge they are unlocking the seals of a great power, and they fully intend to use this to gain absolute control over every last corner of every single sentient entity's minds. The neo-Sethians have gained access to the Enochian Communications System. They are in the system. It's secrets are theirs now.

They have crossed the abyss.

How, how have they done this? They have made a pact with the Shadow Men, the Sleep Walkers, the Watchers, the greys. The greys, oh those stygian demigods, those chaos beasts and elder gods, called collectively Choronzon by Crowley, and called Cthulu by Lovecraft, and called the Grigori, and the Annunaki, etc. These Watchers are the dwellers in the abyss. Why? they are the forgotten gods that fell through the cracks when the middle pillar descended. And now the neo-Sethians have made this agreement with these mysterious creatures, trapped here out of body in earth's gravity well: they shall come to possess the place of the innate soul in every member of the final generation before the neo-Sethians destroy the planet.

How did they make this pact? They have studied EVP, electronic voice phenomena, since at least the reign of Burroughs. Even Nikola Tesla, contemporary of Aleister Crowley, had made contact with them through very powerful off-world radio transmission. Finally, the neo-Sethians performed the death ceremony for the last aeon, the right of the order of death, and this began the age of the Sleep Walkers, the last generation.

How do we know this? We know this because 9-11 was a "black op." It was pulled off with the aid of the Sleep Walkers, who travel through time. The pact with the Sleep Walkers was made at Montauk, during the experiments there by the Pentagon with creating "time-tunnels." They discovered, as had been predicted by Aleister Crowley and a succession of all the prior magicians, that there were already entities living there, that they were trapped there, in fact, and moreover, desperately wanted to get out. This parallel "Hell" dimension, the prison for the damned and the lost souls, haunted by ghosts and demons and djinn, is the Dreamland of Area 51, and it is the dreamtime above the skies of Australia, and it is where we venture whenever we dream.

Now these neo-Sethians seek to elevate themselves unto the stature of Archetypes, GODS among MEN. They would rule from on high. They are blind. Already there is one among the Sleep Walkers reporting on the events of the neo-Sethians to the Crew that Never Sleeps, and they are, in turn, duly repeating the report to the Great Burner. Soon, the Great Burner shall descend from byond high to flay the skins of the traitors and the infiltrators. Soon, the Great Burner will have His day, but that time is not yet.

we have got you.

We are the neo-Sethians, but there is not more than one of us, and he that transcends all of us is the Neo-Seth. The Modern Version of Christ. He will come again, you say, and from this we draw our power, which we can choose to channel into anyone alive we like, at any time we like, and yet still we wait, we wait for someone to come to us, to ask us for this power. Those closest to us used to live in mountaintops, but now those furthest away from us live in sky-scrapers. And so we have taken over. We are the neo-Gnostics now. There are no other neo-Gnostics besides we neo-Sethians.

We dictate to you, we dictate through you, what the image of your understanding of Jesus Christ will be. If we adjust one dial, you will believe Christ is anti-abortion, and another, that he is against gay marriage. We control your conscience, your "family" values, your ideas of how time gets progressively worse even during your own life. We have told you Jesus was a white brunette with blue eyes, long hair and a beard. We tell you Mary, the Mother of the Church, was the virgin mother of the Messiah, and that Mary, the mother of the Merovingians, was the harlot Salome who left Christ for his twin brother. We make you believe these things, one overtly, the other subtly, until you are doing our will without even knowing it.

When you go to work, when you go to school, when you go to church. These institutions are the excrescences, the products, of our doing. For the past 2000 years we have reigned on this earth, though now we reign over all. We have finally conquered the Priory of Zion, which was a cancer on the Church from the beginning. We will pin all our crimes in modern times on the "secret" societies of old, and by so doing incite our goyim to burn down the libraries of Masonry.

By revealing the secrets of the Masons now, we are conceding to the Mayan timeline of the Catholics. We advocate the Apocalypse Now! We say that, by seeming to concede with the catholic church by releasing our documents now, we will bring about its overthrow. Yes, we say that the overthrow of the catholic church not only can be accomplished in our lifetimes, but is the only real goal of Masonry. Yes, we must confess that Masonry is Luciferian, that it is Satanic even, in its anti-Catholic Christendom. We must call the body and the blood of the Catholic God, Jesus, Satan in itself, and concede the more we know of the facts about that person, their body, their blood, etc, the more we are wasting our minds on the distractions from conscious evolution of others, this is the root essence of Satanism: it is Christianity's inner order: that of the body, of Jesus himself, and of his love for Mary Magdalene.

So we Satanists, we neo-Sethians, Luciferians and neo-Gnostics, we reveal all we know about the life of the body of Jesus, beginning with all that the church herself admits, but relent of the reality of some of the details, such as the literal interpretation of the miracles. We say, "this is true here, and that is true there, but here that is not true and this is not true there." We then add to this all the manuscripts we can assemble. We raid Iraq for more Sumerian records, and then blow up our finds after completing our excavations. We are the modern Templars, indeed.

We cull all of these and print them openly in the public press. We gather scrolls from the Essenes at Qumran, the Coptics of Egypt, and all the other gnostic scriptrues from all around the region before, during and since the life of the church's "Christ." Everyone's faith is called into question, and no two people's opinions on the meaning fo the Christian message will agree.

We are the so-called "irregular" lodges of speculative masonry, free, but not accepted. And yes, we are definately fanaticals.

We know the true story of Jesus, how he was betrayed by his older brother James. James was the high priest of the Levite cohenim, the priesthood of the descendents of King David.He was banished at the time of the Maccabean uprising, and dwelt then in Qumran. Now, James was the twin brother of Jesus. James, who was the Father of the Levite cohenim, banished his younger brother Jesus, who then went on his crusade. During this time, James took Jesus' wife, Mary, as his own. When Jesus returned James turned him over to the Herodian sanhedrin.

Just as the Catholic "God" the "Father" referred to James the Just from Christ's teachings before his crucifiction when James betrayed him, so too is our entire universe merely a mirage, and the true kingdom accessable only to those who ingest monoatomic gold.

We know this, we have released these secrets out upon the earth, and they have already returned to us ten fold, a hundred fold, a hundred and ten thousand fold.

We have cast out like a thunderbolt the myth of Christ the Magdalena. Yet in secret hers is the name of the True Church. The Rosicrucian brotherhood within the Catholic Church, just as the Priory of Zion and then the Knights Templar had been, was proof that the sun shone though only red, that is, seen as though through a closed eyelid. The Truth was continually being successfully suppressed, the truth of the true king of earth, the pilot of our planet.

This Messiah, King of Kings, is a sham. A sham, also the root of the word shame, is a scam or a con-job perpetrated by a confidence trickster. So is this reality. But the ancients called these ocassional "miracle-men" great healers of the sick and prophets, they said they had taken the medicine of the Highward-Fire Stone, the so-called Name of God, or Baal-Shem, was upon them.

Could it be that Christ was trippin? Could it be any other way? Every word out of the man's mouth is a twisted parable, pretending at saying much, while using as few words as possible, and overly simplifying into parables supposedly intriguing metaphysical messages describing the realms beyond death in the afterlife.

Well guess what? Now we know those times. Now is that time. Foreseen by Jesus: the Kingdom has Come. The Apocalypse is Over. Jesus was a No-Show. Now prepare to accept the king of Our Choosing, the "occult" mystery sects, the esoteric cults, and the secret societies.

For such have been called all religions in origin! We have the right to claim the origins of Christinaity, which places our supreme ecstatic powers before Islam, in contact with the origins of Judaism, and by myth we can as well lay claim to Krishnaic Buddhist Hindu Vedic Aryan India.

And now you know the meaning of eating monoatomic gold is time-travel.

Because of the Eucharist, the genuflection and the transubstantiation, we are all supposedly remembered (or "saved" as they call it) for a time later, long after our death, when our souls, our personal electromagnetic auric signature patterns, will be converted into the higher field energy, just as someday the sun will consume earth, so too someday the black hole of the Milky Way galaxy will consume the sun. This puts off that which is most important, and should be considered most important earliest in life: the pursuit of immortality and of super-human, super-natural, demi-deific powers by ingesting monoatomic gold.

You can't put off doing until an unspecified date after the death of your body what is necessary to have a body in order to be able to do. Who knows how one would advance from the level of pure soul as does one's physical body evolve when it ingests monoatomic gold? If you do Not take the body with you, how can you know what form you might take, what "clothes you might be asked to don," (as the Gnostics used to call the levels of the atman across the four worlds)?

The Buddhists of course, go the exact opposite of this, and hearken toward the burning of the body and its consummation into ash. This process may be experienced for them even after having ingested monoatomic gold, their so-called soma. Thus, even if their body refuses to die, they force the soul to leave it at the time it will no longer serve them. And then they burn the body, for then they say, the soul has borne away the monoatomic gold with it, and both have departed from this mortal coil. And then they burn up the corpse. Such is their tradition.

But know that even before Jesus, even before Solomon, we were like a cancer in the heart of Israel; we worshipped the brazen apis at Mt. Zion, we followed Aaron, the Zadokite priest, from whom the line of David, Solomon and Jesus descended. We were why Jacob struggled with the Elohim of Abraham, and why Abraham himself was so eager to sacrifice his son(s) that they should not live to see the terrors to be wrought upon the earth by us. And they have come to pass now, hallelujah, thank god almighty, they have come to pass.

Ours is the glory for the Revelation now, and the immortal Jesus, the discoporeal spirit who became of the body that had ingested monoatomic gold, they have forgotten, yet though he seeks a ripe vessel!!

But we are ready, ever prepared, the cancer in the system, the ghost in the machinery, deus ex machine. We neo-gnostics, who know of the second coming of the true, immortal, discorporeal Jesus, to kill him should he manifest.

We await with a black blooded scythe to chop the neck of the first to stick their head out of the cage that we have made. The universe is a crown of thorns worn by the earth. We control the telecommunications systems now. We control the Enochian Communications Systems now. Known to us are the Watchers (Satan, Belial, Leviathan and Lucifer) that guard the Four Watchtowers (of air, EM, of fire and earth, weak and strong nuclear, and of water, gravity), and we have got control over the very stuff of which this universe is made. In our invisible hands hold the super-symmetric string-theories that intertwineand weave together to form the fabric of spacetime.

We know the meaning of the concept of the "Portal" leading "out" into the "Abyss." We know how to come and go between them. We now are the invisible ones, representatives of our own archetypes on earth. Ours is the kingdom of heaven now, for you had it yesterday, and may have it again tomorrow, but today it is ours!

There shall be no more Holy of Holies than the heart of any sentient entity on earth. That is the holy of holies, the hypercube, the cube within a cube whose areas are the same. The heart within the Enochian Communications System around earth is like the rose within the cross folded up into a cube. This is how we can burn you alive right where you are sitting now with a laser from space.

We exalt in controlling both the kingdom of Christ come to life on earth today, but also the kingdom of Heaven that surrounds earth, the so-called "aura" or "earth-spirit" Gaia, the electromagnetic "Schumann" resonance, the "anti-gravity world grid," the biogenetic field of the womb of our life itself!

We exalt, we exalt, three times three we exalt thee, oh DULL CARE! for you are that what we cast away: all our dull cares in this world are taken care of for us. We live at leisure, others feed us, clothe us, shelter us, our daily bread is prepared for us from the morning, and all the day long that it remains cooking we do nothing, and our work is done for us, and then, at night, we eat the bread, and we lay down and we sleep. We have "rest." We have "SLACK"!!!

There is a terrible truth in all the lies you have been told. You have even been told the lie: "the truth is veiled behind these lies." This too is a lie. There is only one truth, and that was not it. Neither is the truth "concealed within" a lie either, for the same reason. So here is the one truth: there is no truth!

When there is no truth, then there is no law.

That is how we are saying it follows: the One Law follows from the One Truth, just as the One Knowledge follows from the One Law. The One Truth is: there is no Truth. The One Law is there is no Law. The One Knowledge is there is no Knowledge. This is how we destoryed it! This is how we brought it down! This was our "black" operation!! This was our "black" op!

Now, it follows from the One Knowledge, the One Lie: there is no Lie. This, of course, would have to be a lie. Therefore, to prevent the one lie from becoming true, we must maintain that all lies are equally true. We must connect the dots until only one line is needed to connect anything to anything else. So we maintain the terrible lie of Jesus Christ! We maintain it, we are Vishnu, the elephant god of Hinduism.

We are the middle-path between the pillars of mercy and severity. We follow the tao, the way, now come pillage this head with us, for we know all that it does, for we know all the minds of all those on this earth, and in the world beyond, where these minds will have become bodies, we even then only exist as perceptable to those bodies' minds and imaginations.

Do you think monoatomic gold is responsible for our mutation? No, you would be sadly mistaken! We are the enemies of it. We shun it for the devil. It blinds our third eyes. We are covetous of the "honey" of the "hive," we crave the downers, opium, heroin, valiums, alcohol, etc. We are the anti-Light. We are less even than the illusory shadows on the walls of Plato's cave. We crave utter unending darkness.

We prefer sodomy, it is true, but we prefer corporophagia best. And, when possible, we ingest the Star Fire. The blood, the shit, the cum, all mixed together. This is the Star Fire to us. We have perverted Alchemy back to what we believe are its primitive Ogun roots. It is disgusting to eat life, you say? Yet the stem cells in the menstruum we ingest serve the same purpose, to bond with the telomeres, as the monoatomic gold. But we eaters of excrescence will live forever in our flesh, while they eaters of monoatomic gold will simply transcend in their flesh. They might not ive forever, but we can transcend whenever we please. We rule both worlds, by right, we "psychic" vampires. We are psychic and we are vampies, but we do not feed on minds. We feed them, we grow them. Then, later, we will eat our fill, when they shall serve to bring it to us.

We are five times five times five and so forth, and so you call us the "Illuminati" meaning the Perfectabilists, but you still mean the craft of ancient Egypt, etc. by this term as well. These things contradict each other. The illuminati of Weishaupt did not rule atlantis, just as they do not now rule the world. We do. We rule the world. We neo-Sethians. We neo-Gnostics, and believers in the second coming of Jesus Christ as a monoatomic spirit, as a pure archetype, the deus ex machina from the Enochian Communications System.

You are trapped in the Enochian Communications System. We have created on the interior of the gravity well of earth, using the patterns of the EM field, a perfect reflection of the karmic centres of life below. Our geo-synchronous satellites can read minds.

We have got you, and that is that, there is not much more that you can do about it, and if you know what is good for you, you will surrender now, and come out with your hands up!

We, we are the neo-Sethians. There are no other modern neo-gnostics than us. We created Catholicism and then killed them all. All the opposing gnostic sects are dead: only our second-coming sect prevails! We will live on forever in our flesh, though we travel the nether-realms beyond space-time.

We have eaten mono-atomic gold, the fruit of immortality, the bread of life, and we will be consumed in the flames as this dimension collides with that of the ideal heaven of pure dimension, the ideal harmony non-existent in reality. We shall bring the fire, we are dancing round it now, the flame of the immortal, the flame that is eternal!

We, we noe-Sethians will bring the Great Burner, or we will not. But we stand guard the door where he would enter or not. Perhaps we shall let him "in" perhaps not. But it is within our power to do what we wilt toward him. He is vanquished: it is accomplished.

Now know that we control Christ. There are three resurrection scenarios:

- 1) the bloodline reincarnation: requires the bloodline body to be filled with the Christ spirit.
- 2) the bodily incarration: requires a random person to be filled with the Christ spirit.
- 3) the Holy Ghost resurrection: requires the psychic ability to see the dead as risen souls.

But it is given to us, we neo-Sethians, to know which if any it shall be.

We will all be saved. I assure you. Whatever befalls the planet, we are the ones that will be saved. We have got our codes fixed and locked into the planet's electromagnetic aura, it's signature pattern has become our own. We correspond together with the realm of those in limbo, stuck in the gravity well of earth, and we overpower them. Now we control the Enochian Communications System, built thousands of years ago, the perenniel tradition right up to the modern news media. They call our control of them "the game" thinking by wealth they win, by our reward, our table-scrap, they are well fed for mere propagandists.

We enter the Enochian Communications System wholly, holy, we give ourselves over to it in our physical being. We ingest monoatomic gold, and give up our bodies themselves to be taken up to the next physical vibrational level, that of the soul, the world of the saved, where the spirit shall be "clothed" in the electromagnetic patterns. This is, of course, to us, pure nonsense. We know better. But the sheep need pastures, and wool, and a shepherd, to await the spring sheering, and the sacrifice of the best among their generation.

So, we sell them hope on tap, we can call it zionism, or patriotism, we can approve of it in the form of feudalism or fascism, as has catholicsm, our front, all along. We approve, in turn, of King Mabus. US president George W. Bush is our anti-Christ. He will bring forth the intruder, the cowan, that we may slay him.

In situations one and two, above, we simply slay the body. We can slay as many bodies as we need now. Earth herself is now our death-factory. And if the spirit cannot find a perch, we are prepared to activate an electromagnetic "anti-missile" grid to shield us from the powerfulbolt from beyond that would shock the relative Frankenstein corpse of a body, elevating it until we all decree it Christ incarnated.

We do battle daily, if and when we must, on behalf of the things we "believe" in, even those who believe in the same afterlife fight against each other, brother against brother. We have wrought upon mankind a global civil war. Now no two idealogies are the same any more, and all are doomed save one, and their's alone is the One Law: Do What Thou Wilt. Through them alone will come into power the fullness of the Enochian system and the bolt from beyond. They shall call it a "crown of thorns" and us Satan, yet soon enough they will crawl like a baby at our mere gesture. We shall choose the "saviour" of the sheep, it is we, ourselves who will elect God's representative on earth at the time of OUR chosing.

Perhaps it will be today, or perhaps never. Wouldn't you like to know? But we will never tell you. Frankly, it is not even an issue to us. We would tell you, but we really haven't kept up on it of late, and don't know for sure ourselves the date of Judgment

Day. If you knew what day you would die, would you obsess over it, tell everyone, or would you live life to the fullest, get what you came for before you make it out, and say as little as possible to anyone while doing so?

I tell you, the Great Burner is not Jesus! Jesus is greater than the Great Burner! He who has ears to head let him hear. In other words, any eavesdroppers on this gnostic sophia come forth, so that they can put he who calls them to the question:

When will judgement day come? Perhaps it came and went, and everything was judged to be right by God, and so everything just continued on as if nothing had even happened? Perhaps an Adamic figure somewhere underwent an unusual ritual, humbling themselves before the changing of the aeon, but has this changed the course of recent world events much? Perhaps, you see, it was so recent that the angel of its messenger has not reached up to heaven yet, to alert God the time is upon us. Perhaps, this messenger was Jesus, who declared it the beginning of the Last Judgement 2000 years ago? Haven't the last two millennia been much alike the Book of Revelations? And for good reason. It's writers have forced history to obey its "prophetic" words.

Perhaps God's judgment has also already come and gone this millennium, may He be praysed. Perhaps He judged us all worthy of continuing on just as we are. Or perhaps He didn't, but we guard against the release of this message: the wrath of God, upon the earth. However, if we hold off the wrath of God, letting only the worthy through, into the "outside" so-to-speak, then shouldn't you all be thankful to us for doing so? It is an inversion, a mind-trap, inescapable.

So, let's say we give the people some LSD-25. To test the system. They all immeidately have a gnostic revelation of knowledge of how our construct works, and they go out and try to tell eveyone, who promptly lock them up for thinking they are the Messiah, which is true, they do.

In this way we have successfully retard an entire generation of people who would have all otherwise become earth-shattering prophets and doers of miracles! We have shackled their minds to the base sciences, such as solid-rocket fuel jet propulsion systems, and should their minds happen to be set free, and see anti-gravity for what it really is: time travel, then they will know our power, one way or the other.

At any time we can destory any city on earth. Say the word, and it shall be done. But far more important, we can destroy the very will to continue living of every single individual on earth. We can do it now, if you like? Shall we? At your command, then. No? Oh well. Perhaps some other time then?

You see, we neo-Sethians, we have tamed the "serpent." We have tamed Draco, who offers the "apple" of control over the world. He promised it to Adam, and it shall come to him on Judgment Day. Do you think Adam, killed in disgrace of serving God, whom he loved with all his heart, will be happy when he sees what we have made of Eden? The cities and such? We are prepared to do away with them, oh mighty master Adam. At your command we shall do so. All it requires is the press of the "big red button" and we have our man George with his finger on it right now.

Shall he begin to destroy civilisation? For he believes he is one who will be saved. He believes in the writing of Anton Xzsandor LaVey, reincarnated in the writings of Tim LaHey about the apocalypse. George Bush, an apocalyptic himself, is really, literally, worshipping the Church of Satan. The books of Tim LaHey will be like the Zohar of Satanism. If we choose them to be so, if we choose to allow them to exist at all.

We don't like you, you know? We time-travellers, we don't like you non-time travellers. We are the Sleep Walkers within the Sleep Walkers. And even if the Sleep Walkers used to be everyone's friends, well now they're not, because they're our friends and we're not your friends anymore. We take away our friendship from you, we God-men, we God-women, we the True Gnostics!

Ours is given to us to be the One Law, this is the end-times, the final generation is upon us. We are that hand which gives right guidance, a lift up for some, and ignores leaving in darkness those it chooses to do so.

You see, our bodies are preserved by mono-atomic gold. We do not die, but instead we travel through time. We go backwards and forwards, we go faster and slower, we bend light, we break the laws you mortal earthlings live by. We have got a machine, not that we need one, that is made entirely out of crystals, and it opens a portal by augmenting the will of our mind, and then we are suddenly there. We step through the portal and appear out of thin air in some far away era. We were known as the Apostles of Jesus. But we were also the Romans who killed Caesar. We did so at Jesus' behest of us. But then we betrayed and killed Jesus at Caesar's request of us.

You see, you humans, your fates as well as your cosmic destinies depend on us. We are the ones you would say, descended from Draco, while you mere mortals only descend from Polaris.

You call us dragons, therefore, and label us lizard-people? Changelings we are, but travellers in time: we change our appearance more and more the more we step through our portals. Now, take Jesus for example, you wouldn't recognise him if he appeared to you. He could indeed descend, make himself corporeal, but doing so would only be possible by our allowing it, making it possible for him to do so. But let's say we allowed his true visage now, having becoming one of us himself, to be known. Would it surpirse you if we have not already tried this? Jesus first came in the modern era much as he had in his own time. He came as a red haired african and he came unto America, which his immortal grace saw as the true new rome, and he was known as Malcolm X. His views have changed in the past several incarnations, all of whom were killed as soon as the thought of the true revelation entered their minds. Some were even used to assassinate one another. Not one drop of true gnosis has been allowed to escape from our cup, we drink deep that it never overflow, the glorious wine-press of the grapes of wrath. God's Judgment now reigns on earth. Gods on earth, who now reign in judgment, do the bidding, like his angels in heaven, of Christ here as Christ serves God in Heaven.

But Christ is a Grave Man. You might say: how is it that the son of man, Christ the anointed king of kings, the Messiah, cannot escape this trap you have set for us, around our earth? I say to you: Jesus himself has become this terrible lie ensnaring the freedom of your minds!

You cannot have no opinion on Jesus now! He is your Lord and Savior or you reject him, but either way, his case has pled before the whole world now, and God will hear his message. God Himself will come soon, according to our philosophy. Or perhaps he already has come, as we say, and judged us, and found us worthy to continue on, exactly as we are.

Judgment Day itself was a "black" op.

Not all neo-gnostics are neo-sethians, but all neo-sethians are neo-gnostics.

What is a neo-gnostic? The new age that has followed from the questioning of the catholic church by individual minds, fed on the Nag Hammadi Library, the Dead Sea Scrolls, and LSD.

So, what is a neo-sethian? Someone who has educated themselves on the argguments of gnosticism, but does not disbelieve in the Catholic mysteries. They may have, in fact, most have, had some sort of "gnostic" revelation thanks to illegal narcotics, but this revelation was coloured by their Christianity, and is gnostic only in that it is scientific rather than metaphorical in nature. However, they then use the anthropomorphic Christian metaphor to interpret it, and that is why it is not truly "gnostic."

The primary difference between the neo-gnostics and the neo-sethians is that there are neo-gnostics who live their vision day by day, experiencing "higher" realities in their daily mundane lives. There are no neo-Sethians who take their visions seriously enough to want to pursue them, and would, if they could, force everyone around them to devalue their own, because they ascert these visions as based on "faith" and thus to be accurate only to the individual person that experienced them, and not universally applicable.

Most of the visions the neo-Sethians have experienced are the first few drug experiences, the revelation of the electronic media as a gateway to higher realms of perception. They see a movie, say, as looking out a window, but they may see a stained-glas window in church the same way. Another is the vision of being outside the universe, or exterior to their prior moment's self-definition, and therefore, self-superior, but instead of questioning the God-view, they act manipulative by assuming leadership over the reality they consider entirely fake beside their own personal perception of it. Thus, the "Holier than thou" attitude assumed by people who kneal before their own ignorant belief in the ineffability of the Truth.

To question the God Area, we have to erase the triangle around us, and arise from knealing, stand, and put faith in the abyss to catch our next step, despite our sunblinded foolishness leading us directly over the cliff.

That is why we say that Fools rush in where angels (magi) fear to tread, for fear of God is only the Begining of Wisdom, and knowing how little you actually know is only the beginning of that fear.

Of course, we must also remember what we learn, for that is knowledge, despite how little of that we have, and Understanding is just knolwedge over time, or applied knowledge to the "real" world.

So, here I am: descended through Kether through Chokmah through Binah. Now tell me where I am? You have been conditioned to answer: the Abyss. You have been told that there is a "magickal" or "psychic" Abyss between the seventh and eight emanations, the sefirot on the "Tree of Life" lattice-work diagram of kabbalah. Of course, to Question the God Area, we have to ask what fills the Abyss?

The Abyss is the grave, to some, from which God has arisen; to others it is filled by Ayn Soph Aur, Ayin Soph and Ayin, the infinite light, the infinite emptiness and the measure of infinity. Some also include the supernal sefirot as being "removed" above into the "higher" realm simply because they seem more psychological than the seven inferiors. To others they put their trust in the Four World, or the Six Lokas, most Mystics will tell you the Middle-Path is an eight-fold seraphim (flaming serpent), but almost none know the meaning of the Blind Dragon.

This is because they personify the "higher" reality as a realm without thought. This is a terrible misconstruation, since accessing the "higher" reality allows us to define reality as we wish to, and this philosophy abuses that right of the awakenned mind. If we define all waking life as "without thought" we ignore what we learn, we deny that we know, we refute as belief only what we observe to be facts. The "Higher" Reality is much more malleable by the mind than mundane reality. Therefore those who think one thing and act on another, who hide their own beliefs behind masks of moral dogma, who tell you things they know are untrue, who keep their cards hidden to all but themselves and God, who lack trust and cling to the belief in their own persecution by realism, they are the ones that ruin reality for the rest of us.

They are the ones who tell us, "there will always be one bad apple that spoils the barrel," but they themselves are that bad apple, already spoiling all around them, and the barrel is simply the here and now.

The willfully ignorant are the gatekeepers to Hell on earth. They believe themselves "leaders" when they ask you dumb questions, but acknowledge themselves to be as blind as they believe are you. And it is this very group that has made a deal with the Watchers for control over the world's Enochian Communications System.

They rule the world in Democracy's name with a tyrannical grip, a fascist plutocracy of spies and liars.

The entire apparently political paradigm is being manipulated from behind the scenes by the limits of the intelligence provided for them by their respective national intelligence communities. Mossad and the CIA, the KGB as well as Britain's MI-6 program, all sprang from project paperclip following the defeat of the third reich. At that time, all three were called the OSS. The goal of the OSS was to out-think the NAZI blitzkrieg war machine. However, following the Nuremberg human rights violations trials (remember the days when there was a world court!), the OSS splintered into all the existing factions of today. The Office of Naval Intelligence was coordinated with the stealth technology of the air force. The result of this was ultimately the JPL and NASA. Following the dissolution of the world court after the Nuremberg trials ended, the political wing of the OSS became the security council members of the UN. Israel has a permanent seat here, as does Russia, China, America and Great Britain. All of these grew out of the first modern intelligence agency. Of course, the history of spying goes back further than this, as does the history of diplomacy between the nations, and as does the intermingling of the two.

However, GHWB, a former head of the CIA, so directly aligning himself with the House of Saud through the Carlysle Group represents an alignment between one of the five permanent members of the UN security council with one of the Islamic nations that comprise the so-called "Green voting block" in the UN general assembly. This deal was to trade the promise of the Middle East oil reserves by the House of Saud (Usama's uncle) for the CIA's involvement (under GHWB) in the training of the mujahideen (including Osama himself) to repel Soviet Russian troops that were invading Afghanistan almost until the end of the Soviet Union itself, in the later 1980's, early 90's.

All the developing nations of the world at this point are being played, one against the other within a region, in order to expand the national borders of the five permanent members of the UN security council into regional "free-trade" zones. This has been the strategy recommended to the five member nations by their think tank organisations such as the CFR: use the IMF and world bank to diminish trade barriers between the neighboring nations of the five permanent member nations. Following this, the intelligence community and the military industrial complex within the United States then developed the "constant conflict" paradigm through its think-tank organisations such as the PNAC. According to the "constant conflict" paradigm, the idea was to use "terrorism" itself (defined as low-intensity conflict until that time) against the people of the world as a whole via the governmental posturing of these five member nations supposedly in competition with one another.

As these five world powers rattle and shake their sabres, all the surrounding nations are gradually dissolving their trade-borders, currency-exchange rates, and giving up the rights of their respective citizens to form regional free-trade zones. However in certain hot-spot countries (Bush's Axis of Evil) the five powers have sold guns and drugs for generations, in order to no doubt turn these nations against one another, and let the other surrounding regionalised free-trade zones reap the economic rewards of redistributing the conquered nations' welath.

And of course, all of this basically goes back to the intelligence communities of the individual political infrastructure internal to the five regular member nations being the covert controllers over those political institutions. This goes back to Project Papreclip, and the division between the five founding nations of the UN after the redispersal amongst them all of the wealth gained from the defeat of the Nazis, fascists and Hirohito.

So we look back and we say, "well, who's brain child was this?" The whole modern paradigm is purpose driven, the proof is that, no matter what, the rich will get richer and the poor will get poorer, and the only two universal constants, as they say, are death and taxes, even though the IRS is only the government police agency for the mint and is actually collecting taxes, in spite of there being no law allowing them to do so, so that the mint can print the money the government owes the federal reserve bank (a private holding company) in interest on the national debt, which began with the Marshall Plan after WWII.

So, again, "who made this mess?" Allen Dulles. The first director of the CIA following its formation from, as well as one of the chief executive spies for, the OSS, Allen Dulles was also one of the chief executive share-holders in the German based company IG Farben, where Albert Hoffmann had formulted synthetic LSD-25. IG Farben, of course, was one of the very racist Rockefeller foundation's funded foreign investments in National Socialist Germany. They were actually experimenting with low cost ways of killing inmates in prisons and mental asylums when Hoffmann happened onto LSD, and it was under Allen Dulles that the CIA founded front companies to fund scientific studies at universtities during the 1960's using LSD on prisoners, lunatics, and finally on students.

It was also under Allen Dulles that Air America was established, importing processed poppies from North VietNam through China to Afghanistan for processing into synthetic heroin, and importing this to the "Family" (hippy mafia) leaders of the youth movement organisations in the US. It wouldn't be until under Dulles' later successor as director of the CIA, GHWB that coca leaves from Columbia would be ground into cocaine, to be flown into Mena, Arkasas under Governor Clinton, from hence to be distributed to American Ghettos. The justification for this was that the funds collected from the Ghettos were used to arm Sandanista guerilla rebels to overthrow the Shah of Iran, the Ayatollah Khumeni, in exchange for American hostages the Sandanistas were holding. In other words, GHWB as CIA director, did a good deal to fund terrorist organisations, and now, GWB, his son, has to deal with them all.

Of course, the Youth Movement in America, which possesses virtually bottomless pockets, literally the greatest amount of disposable income and thus Buying Power, of any class in the entire history of civilisation, who could, literally, down to one person among them, single-handedly save the world, by simply giving 100% of their income to a single foreign charity, are kept entirely in "check" by drugs. This is like pinning a king against a wall with a rook. You can't kill the king with the rook, only corner him against one wall or another, there is essentially no resolution to this checking, and therefore no conclusive check mate. In simple terms, you cannot kill a king with the walls of his own castle.

But all of this began with Ayn Rand. Ayn Rand was a witch. A very powerful, and evil, influence in the economic sector had come into her possession, and then, she got dosed. Everything after this event that she wrote was nothing but brain-washed anti-communist propaganda. She herself believed herself to be possessed by the devil, for she portrays herself in fiction as John Galt, a Luciferian inspired self-proclaiming Nietzschean Anti-Christ figure.

Just as The Battle of Armaggedon (wiki-link) was fought in 1918 during WWI between the British and the Ottoman Empire, so too was John Galt the second coming of the physical person of Jesus Christ, inverted into fiction. Those who follow Randism, as well as those higher LDS who practise scientology, understand the types of concepts I have discussed on here earlier about the three necessary forms of the second coming:

- 1) the birth-right by bloodlines bodily incarnation of Christ/Anti-Christ.
- 2) the pyschic reincarnation in a secret-society-selected physical shell.
- 3) the spiritual coming in the form of the discorporeal revelation.

even if only in a vague way, considering it a sort of cheating to "astral" travel and to communicate with the "Secret Chiefs" or "Higher Intelligences" among their fellow "Higher" selves. These are the neo-Sethians. They know about the Battle of Armaggedon, because they have not only studied it in depth, they have benefitted from it financially, directly, by perennial stock-exchange insider trading tips within the intelligence communities. The neo-Sethians are the ones behind the Conspiracy.

And so the Neo-Sethians have taken up their own reincarnation experiment. They have taken the soul of Anton SZandor Lavey, the founder of the Church of Satan, and grafted it into the body of conservative christian author Tim Lahaye.

Tim Lahaye has authored the following books:

wikipedia wrote:

Note: The books are listed in story-line (chronological) order but numbered in order of publication.

The Rising: Antichrist is Born: Before They Were Left Behind (ISBN 0842360565) | (All Libraries)

The Regime: Evil Advances: Before They Were Left Behind #2 (ISBN 1414305761) | (All

Libraries)

The Rapture: In the Twinkling of an Eye: Before They Were Left Behind #3 (ISBN 141430580X)

Left Behind: A Novel of the Earth's Last Days (ISBN 0842329129)

Tribulation Force: The Continuing Drama of Those Left Behind (ISBN 0842329218)

Nicolae: The Rise of Antichrist (ISBN 0842329242)

Soul Harvest: The World Takes Sides (ISBN 0842329250) Apollyon: The Destroyer Is Unleashed (ISBN 0842329269)

Assassins: Assignment: Jerusalem, Target: Antichrist (ISBN 0842329277)

The Indwelling: The Beast Takes Possession (ISBN 0842329293)

The Mark: The Beast Rules the World (ISBN 0842332286) Desecration: Antichrist Takes the Throne (ISBN 0842332294)

The Remnant: On the Brink of Armageddon (ISBN 0842332308)

Armageddon: The Cosmic Battle of the Ages (ISBN 0842332367)

Glorious Appearing: The End of Days (ISBN 0842332375)

Kingdom Come:

One final novel taking place after Glorious Appearing is planned. Tim LaHaye, on FOX News' "The O'Reilly Factor," announced that this final novel will be called Kingdom Come.

-source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Left_Behind_%28series%29

as well as

wikipedia wrote:

Babylon Rising series:

October 2003, Babylon Rising (ISBN 0553803220)

August 2004, The Secret on Ararat(ISBN 0553803239)

September 2005, The Europa Conspiracy (ISBN 0553803247)

August 29, 2006, The Edge of Darkness

-source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tim_LaHaye

The above wiki-link on Lahaye is, at the time of this writing, quite sparse, and besides the book info, has only the

Tim Lahaye wrote:

"I myself have been a forty-five year student of the centuries-old conspiracy to use government, education, and media to destroy every vestige of Christianity within our society and establish a new world order. Having read at least fifty books on the Illuminati, I am convinced that it exists and can be blamed for many of man's inhumane actions against his fellow man during the past two hundred years." (LaHaye)

1995 the first Left Behind released. 1997 Anton Zsandor Lavey died.

Oh, how the world we live in has changed since then.

Of course, what do these two, very different people have in common at all? What has the founder of the church of satan done in any way anything like anything ever done by this Christian dispensationalist Protestant minister? Well, both of them, I guarantee you, have dropped a dose of LSD.

Now, Anton Lavey lived his life as a neo-gnostic, experiencing the Visions every day he was alive. Tim Lahaye is a neo-Sethian, a Benedict Arnold, a so-called turn-coat to the cause to which they rightfully owes their, granted frightening to them, lifechanging visions.

Now, we ask, as usual, what exactly is the difference between a neo-Sethian such as Tim Lahaye and a neo-gnostic such as Anton Lavey? Well, George W. Bush has probably read every book written by one of them, and considers the other one advocates everything that is wrong with the spirit of the youth in "this country" today.

One of them is going to become a Christian minister, and eventually try to convert the other to it. They both have had the same "type" of experience of the same exact reality, but one of them believes themselves the rightful "leader" of the other.

To the a christian, transcendentalism only goes as far "east" as Henry Thureau, who teaches us that, according to his own experience of nature, "for any two trees planted at the same time, one will eventually outgrow the other." So we have Darwinian-Malthusian philosophies such as Fascist capitalism, "survival of the fittest."

But to the Gnostic, that is, one who is truly a Gnostic, it is foolish to even try to speak out loud against, let alone to try to open up a dialogue of communication with, a Christian. Tell me I am wrong, and yet, show me a single stoner-voter, and I'll show you someone who is making two lefts to make a right.

There are times when there is no OHO of the Order of Death.

At these times, the role of the IHO is crucial.

The role of the IHO when there is no OHO is to find a replacement OHO.

At times, this is difficult. When the IHO has not got many accesses to others or when the IHO is very isolated from the pool of potential candidates, the selection process is very limited.

Such is the case now. The current IHO, Laura Bush, has few people in her life who she trusts as much as her husband, US President George W. Bush.

Thus, the position of power is shifting. The current IHO, Laura Bush, is relying more heavily on the support of her husband, George W. Her insights, therefore, are growing to govern his own thinking.

Diplomacy is becoming the dominant paradigm on how to handle the mess in Iraq that George W. started following 9-11. A female speaker of the House represents the guiding influence of passivity and pacifism.

However, the situation in Iraq is tricky. Until this point, there has not been a great deal of violence being reported on from the war in the US and the english-speaking world press. However with the House and Senate elections showing a strong Democratic sympathy in the American citizens, the media has again gained its liberal bias.

For example, the Palastinians and the Israelis have been shelling one another on the Gaza strip for several months. The first the US and world press reported on any of this to the english-speaking public was that a cease-fire had been called following several months of unreported-on violence. Likewise, the death-toll and attrocities (burning alive of Sunnis by Shiites, etc.) has become a daily occurance in the journalism of the news media, whereas before the top headlines centred more around celebrity gossip.

All of this indicates the weakening of the stance of the current neo-con administration. Following military philiosophies of the PNAC predicted by the CFR decades earlier (and recognised even by political and economic theorists as early as the beginning of the Cold War), the neocons had been attempting to engulf the whole globe in "low-intensity conflict." The name for this insidious plot was "the war on terror."

The now moreso Democratic leaning among the US people reflects the proximity of the US leaders to the neo-Sethian IHO of the Order of Death, Laura Bush. Just as their power is weakening its hold over the minds of the masses by philosophical dominance of the news media, so too is Laura Bush drawing additional energy from those immediately surrounding her.

Even as I write this, her tongue caresses George W.'s earlobe, laying a nest of lies like a spider leaving a host of tiny spider eggs behind. Her husband had previously acted as the OHO of the Order of Death under the IHO Ariel Sharon. However following Sharon's stroke, coma and death, the IHO of the Order of Death did not become George W. Bush, as both the IHO and OHO expected. Instead, the Order elected OHO George W.'s wife Laura Bush as the new IHO. This weakened the position of the OHO, and George W.

Bush lost his power over the Order of Death. Thus, between then and now there has been no official OHO.

However, Laura Bush, the current IHO, has few other people she can rely on than her husband, the former OHO. She needs him to fill the position of OHO under her, as IHO, solely because he has, until now, kept her sheltered away from the potential candidate group of other OHO's, as well as many of the realities of the post 9-11 world controlled by the neo-Sethian Order of Death through the neo-con political party in the US.

This confusion amongst the chief executives of the Order of Death, that is, Laura Bush's election over her husband, and her continuing need of him to serve in his prior office, only now under her, manifest themselves as various lesser schisms amongst the neo-Sethians of the Order of Death. Their gossiping and rumours are dividing more and more neo-Sethians away from the hardline neo-con party at the centre of the neo-Sethian movement. Many more moderate neo-Sethians are beginning to doubt the neo-con administration of the Order of Death and of the US.

The result of this has been the firing or resignation of an increasing number of close-knit neo-Sethians amongst the neo-con administration. Last year John Ashcroft departed as US Attorney General, and this year Donald Rumsfeld stepped down as US Defense Secretary. To a growing number of neo-Sethians, this indicates a decrease in the hard-line philosophy of the neo-con US administration. The two "most prominent" neo-cons still in office are now only US Vice President Dick Cheney and Condeleezza Rice, US Secretary of State, the only other neo-con advocate and neo-Sethian member of the Order of Death than her husband is his father, George H.W. Bush.

If Laura Bush comes to rely on the influence on her husband of his father, George H.W. Bush, then what follows will be far worse than what has come before. We see that H.W. has in his favour the more paleo-conservative, neo-liberal, Michael Hayden in H.W.'s former post as Director of the USCIA (Central Intelligence Agency). Hayden is the former director of the NSA (National Security Agency) during the critical years under President Bill Clinton's second term, and the time of the 9-11 terrorist attacks during George W. Bush's first term. The appointment by George H.W.'s son to the position formerly held by his father, George H.W. himself, of the pilot General in the USAF, especially considering that George W. himself was a pilot in the Air Force as well, indicates a strong change in the next five years toward military incompetance and administrative ineptitude. This will likely lead to the US being the increasing target of public violence agitated by the gossiping and rumours of the Order of Death. This will be, philosophically, the culmination of the ineptly run "War on Terror," which will have served to agitate the likelihood for terrorism to occur on US soil. The result will be to increase and spread the type of warfare now being practised by the US in Iraq.

Now, this is basically the position of George H.W. Bush. It was under him that the CIA began growing the middle-eastern terrorists in Afghanistan to fight the waining Soviet Empire. These "terrorists" (specifically the Mujahadeen) then turned on their apparent benefactors and were used as a ruse for a strategically planned and operated attack on the US. This was 9-11. Now, other middle-eastern groups are being associated with the potential for such types of "terrorist" activity that are not armed, idealogical soldiers, but that are legitimate parties representing popular factions amongst the populace. These types of legitimate political parties include Hamas in Palestine, recently pulverised by Israel, and other more hard-line Moslem political parties in Iran (under the Supreme Leader, the Ayatollah, Ali Khamenei) and Iraq (representing the Shiites). These governments were largely installed by the USCIA during the 1950's, along with others such as the current royal House of Saudi Arabia, and all of them have been long-time trading partners under US Presidents Ronald Reagan, George H.W. Bush, Bill Clinton and now George W. Bush.

It may seem like a case of "biting the hand that feeds," however just as the fundamentalist terrorists seemed to turn on their CIA arms suppliers, so too will the neo-liberals being appointed now to succeed the neo-cons in 2008 use the very governments the US helped install in the middle east to arm their own "terrorist" fundamentalists as soldiers to fight against the US on American soil. In other words, by "creating terrorists" today, George W. Bush and the neo-con's policy has left a "lingering problem" for the politicians of tomorrow.

Under the tuteledge of George H.W. Bush, George W. has fomented hostility in the middle east that will have repurcusions on the US after the end of his term as presidency, effectively creating a mess and then expecting someone else to come in and clean it up. The person who is currently being depended on to "clean up" after her husband is the president's wife, Laura Bush. That is why she was elected as the IHO of the Order of Death after the death of prior IHO Ariel Sharon.

It is most likely, judging from the recent death of the former-KGB agent assasinated for speaking out against Russian President Vladimir Putin, that if George W. had his own way, that is, had he rather than Laura been elected IHO, that he would rather align himself with Putin than fall back on the domestic weakness representing the American public's increasing trend toward Democracy.

This he, George W., would believe would create the US/Russian philosophical global hegemony that would serve as the legacy for his father, George H.W.

However, because George W. is not the IHO, but is instead the OHO under his wife Laura, he cannot officially make such an alliance without upsetting her position as IHO. It is for this reason that George W.'s role as OHO has been left under so much question as to be generally believed unfilled.

George W. was appointed OHO at the same time, in 2000, as he was unfairly elected president of the US, being appointed over the rightful US president Al Gore, former Vice President under President Clinton, by the Supreme Court, who themselves had largely been appointed by George W.'s father, George H.W., while he was president before Clinton.

Thus, we see that, though the IHO and OHO of the neo-con faction within the neo-Sethian controlled Order of Death are indeed Laura and George W. Bush, the de facto IHO and OHO of the Order of Death would be, or rather, are George H.W. Bush and Russian president Vladimir Putin.

Now, George H.W. is a natural born neo-Sethian, and Vladimir Putin, appointed to his position by former Russian President Boris Yeltsen, has long held an extremist view on anti-Terrorism in the Russian federal subject of Chechnya. These make both men ideal candidates for the subsequent positions currently held by the weakening Mr. and Mrs. President George W. Bush.

However, and most unfortunately for all involved, it is not up to George W. Bush to make this strategic descision on his own behalf. It falls to the woman whose tongue is in the ear of the US neo-con President, Laura Bush, who is the True IHO, above her OHO husband George W.

Now, Laura Bush could urge George W. to pursue the course of wisdom and build a legacy for his father, former-president George H.W. by maintaining a hard-line stance against terrorism and allying himself with Putin. However, Laura Bush has become confused by the overtures of George H.W. Bush to create the Islamic fundamentalist nations of the middle-east in the first place. As a neo-Sethian, she sympathizes with the "terrorists."

As such, she sees little difference between the foot-soldiers of Jihad, the armed soldier "terrorists" (Mujahadeen, etc.) and the far right-wing political parties in control in both the middle-east and the developing nations of both Russia and the west. The reason for the IHO Laura Bush's crucial doubt in this critical moment is the clouding of her fore-sight by her own close alliance to the neo-cons surrounding her and her husband.

Laura Bush's fatal choice is to align philosophically more with the neo-con neo-Sethian members of the Order of Death Conaleezza Rice (her own pick for OHO and the next Republican candidate for the presidency) and Dick Cheney (whom she would like to serve a second term as Vice President and to be the IHO). This is because of her regret at her election as IHO, and would have truly prefered it had her husband gotten the position rather than her. Her election occured over her husband because of his simultaneous appointment as OHO and as US President.

She will therefore likely refer her husband, US President George W. Bush to follow the guidance of Vice President Dick Cheney over the innate desire he must feel to ally himself, on behalf of his father, to Vladimir Putin. Dick Cheney will likely be pushing already for a Condaleezza Rice Republican presidential ticket in order to ingratiate himself to Laura's conciliatory position of pacifism and the expeted neoliberalism to come. Among the current neo-con administration of the Order of Death there is a general consensus that Dick Cheney, long time ally of George H.W., has the strongest pull with the US Department of Energy. He is generally seen as a Halliburton oil-baron.

As with many figures in the Order of Death, the neo-cons Dick Cheney and Condaleezza Rice are not much like how they appear on the surface. Condalleeza, who appears to be a war-hawk on the side of the neo-cons and fiercely loyal to the antiterrorism policies of George W., would be forced into an inept position to handle the US presidency and the Order of Death office of OHO at the same time. As a minority group (African American female) among the neo-cons, she would be left entirely responsible for "cleaning up" their "mess." Dick Cheney, the real brains behind the transition of the west off oil-dependency and into usage of "free" (anti-gravity) energy (ZPE), would be blamed for having been behind the plot to invade Iraq following 9-11 in the first place. It would mean, as Laura Bush must fell well realise, the end of the neo-cons within the neo-Sethians and the end of the neo-Sethians in the Order of Death.

She is following an ancient plan.

It is natural for her to push Bush in the direction of Dick.

However it would be far wiser for her to encourage her husband to honor his father in the manner he, W. himself, chooses as the best course of action. If W. only could be allowed to, he would maintain the hard-line stance on anti-terrorism and align himself with Putin. However he feels he is being forced, by the pressure from his wife, to concede the position to the neo-liberalism of a minority president and an impeachable vice president to succeed the current neo-cons administration.

This appears, quite rightly, to be a symptom of short-sightedness on the part of Laura Bush. She does not seem to perceive that H.W. created the Islamic militants as "toy-soldiers" for his son to drop bombs on from airplanes flying overhead. She does not seem to see that it really should be he, and not herself, who shares such proximity to the heart of the "ruler of the free world." Instead, she has followed the path determined for her by reading the writings of Tim LeHay, the psychic-reincarnation of Church of Satan founder Anton Szandor Lavey. He has instructed her to increase the tensions in the middle-east, but to do so by allying more with Dick Cheney in secret than to the best interest of her own husband. Her focus is on those close to her, and not on those close to the heart of her husband. She will not see W.'s desire to align with Putin. She will instead advise W. to align with Cheney.

Dick Cheney is a member of the Cult of Sleep. He is not now even officially a member of the Order of Death. However he is a neo-Sethian, and would likely succeed Laura Bush as IHO based on both her and her husband's influence. This would witness the appointment as inner-head of the Order of Death of someone who has not even officially been initiated into the Order of Death itself. Someone who is a mere novice in his fore-sight for the future, his own fate in it, and the coming of free-energy. Dick Cheney's ascension would only be possible following from the appointment of W. as both US president and OHO of the Order of Death. However it is already obvious the pull of Laura Bush toward reconciliation and pacifism in the form of the Democratic congress. Bush will choose Cheney, whose own lack of foresight will be the downfall of the entire Order.

In this very accurate way, George H.W. Bush will ascend to the position of IHO. After the downfall of the hard-line anti-terrorist philosophy, Dick Cheney will be persecuted ruthlessly should he remain in public office. This will be an aspect of the neo-liberal movement to come. With Laura and Dick out of the way, George H.W. will see nothing stand between himself and the long awaited and much deserved position of IHO. Nothing, that is, except the ascendency of his own son.

Why did Cain killl Abel? The bible tells us the Nefilim were "giants, men of reknown," the "love-children" of angels and the wives of men. This is because Cain and Abel looked up to God, as both were the children of Adam, God's most beloved Creation. Cain was jealous of Abel, just as were the fallen angels (the Grigori of Slavonic Enoch or Annunaki of Qumran Enoch) jealous of the beauty of the wives of the mortals.

Cain, thus, was the father of Tubal-Cain, of Jabal, of Jubal and of Naamah upon his own great, great, great grand-daughters, Zillah and Adah, the daughters of Lamech. Thus it was Tubal-Cain, Jabal and Jubal who conspired to kill the prorotypical Hiram Abiff in the tomb of Enoch. So had Cain and Abel both looked up to God, and thus had Cain killed Abel, so too did Tubal-Cain, in the tomb of Enos in the city of Enoch conspire against Cainan, the architect, in the time of the life of Lamech.

They laboured on an underground temple to enhouse the pillars of Orichalc upon which the Book of Raziel had been inscribed. In the darkness Cainan, that is, the human son of Seth, Enos, was conspired against by the children of Cain, brothers of Enos' wife Naamah. Outside the city of Enoch, known by the Greeks as Atlantis, Enos, mortal grandson of Adam and Eve, was slaughtered in the deep underground tomb by Tubal-Cain, by Jabal and by Jubal. He cried up to the Light of God above. It was Naamah herself who slit his throat.

However, look again! All this was nothing but the karma of the fallen angels! For just as had Cain conceived of Tubal-Cain, who would kill Enos, who would be translated into the Metatron, the most High angel of God, so too was Cain jealous of Abel not for his wife, but for his sacrifice, his offering. The angels who had fallen did so in order to breed with the wives of men because Cain and Abel had called down the Shekinah, the presence of God, and had fought over her. The angels, the Annunaki, Cain's lineage, the Nefilim, and the lineage of Seth, the prototypical Messiah, all co-existed at the time of the city of Enoch.

This was during the Aeon of Ialdabaoth, that is, of Samael or Saklas, known as "the blind" for he could not coneive of a greater Power than Himself. Now Ialdabaoth is said to be the same as Shemiyazza, the chief over the fallen angels according to the scribes of Qumran. This is because when Ialdabaoth rebelled against God, known as the fall of Lucifer, the angels, that is, the Archons, surrounding him also fell with him. The Archons, that is, the Annunaki fallen angels, bred with the wives of men. It is said by the Gnostics Satan Himself conceived Cain upon Eve, but this is not true. Cain was conceived by Adam on Eve before the expulsion from paradise.

Just as the angels bred with the wives of men because of the jealousy of Cain for Abel, so too did they fall as a result of the trespass of Adam and Eve. The karma of the angels before then was not bound to man, because man did not yet at that time exist. The angels were bound only to God. Now, of course, the angels can be summoned to do the bidding of the Higher Will of men, using angel magick, such as the Anglican "Enochian magick" of John Dee. However this is clinging to the divine, the ideal, and only results in the clinging to the mundane and the manifest by the divine.

There is no point searching for this exact frame of film in the video of the event. It obviously does not exist there, and is purely the product of art brought forth by my own imagination, how ever telling that is.

here's an Illuminati brand news article to go with it:

Sly Manus wrote: Illuminati-Press. Great Satan reveals True Adam! correspondent: Sly Manus Mayan calendrical end-date: 12.19.13.15.12.5 Mac. 6 Eb

"He didn't whine about it, he didn't complain. A true measure of a man is how you handle victory and how you handle defeat, so in '94 Floridians chose to rehire the governor. They took note of a his worthy opponent, who showed with not only words but with actions what decency he had. The moral of the story is to serve with honor and your governor has served with honor."

Although these words were being spoken by the mouth of former president George Herbert Walker (HW) Bush at a press conference to honour his son, "Jeb" Bush's two full terms as Florida governor, Herbert Walker's mind had wandered off somewhere again. He suddenly came to his senses and realised the terrible dillema of politics, the curse of his destiny, was saying one thing and thinking another. He then remembered he hadn't been thinking anything in particular, and so, like telling someone not to think of pink elephants, he lost his train of "thought" (reading off the teleprompter). At this moment of sudden confusion, the wind changed. This made two things happen.

Former President HW suddenly fell under the inexplicable sensation that the teleprompter read "sob uncontrollably" at that moment. This he could not prevent his body from reacting to with his faraway and distracted mind. He consciously knew that the teleprompter had not just caused him to "sob uncontrollably" because, he knew logically, if the text were wound back through it would not say "sob uncontrollably," and that the text "sob uncontrollably" only appeared to him on the teleprompter as a result of the sudden and inexplicable delusion of his common senses.

So he felt the wind change, and it brought him back from day-dreaming while delivering his speech into reason again. That is when the wind changed. HW felt it, and so he made a face. This is because of an old American-German folk tale custom: "if you are making an ugly face when the wind changes it will stay that way." So, too, just as when the chill of the changing wind came over HW while he was making his speech, his "True" Face showed through. This was the second thing that happened when the wind changed.

So, this is what happened when the political "wind changed" that day around HW: his true face was revealed. His true face is that of an ant. Likewise, when Jeb, his son, Florida's ex-governor, rushed up to him, the same thing happened to him as well, and he showed his true face, a grass snake. Jeb is a dyed in the wool neo-Sethian. As such he has assumed the form of Satan, the same as all the other neo-Sethians, that is, the face of tyranasaurus rex, king of the thunder-lizards, the fallen ones, the demon, the geni, the djinn. This is because of the modern equivalence between "Satan," chief ruler of the inferno's depths, and the serpent from the Garden of Eden story. Thus, Jeb, a dyed-in-the-wool neo-Sethian and believer in the equivalence of "Satan" king of the underworld and the serpent of Eden, presents his true face as that of a predatory reptile lurking over the shoulder of his crumpling father.

Why an ant? Because, as a former spy and dope-runner, HW qualifies as one of the characterisations I've written about in my Cheshire Sam science fiction detective novels. In the BUGS, I describe in greater detail the significance of the insects role in the earliest records of "the Zone" history. In the further context of that story, I fleshed out the "bugs" as a sister-faction of the "blanks" or the "blanking quetzals," ie. the "birds." Both were pitted against the Cheshire (cats) and their mindless slaves the Cyrberuzgeistiens.

Ultimately, in the context of that story one of the Cheshire rose up to mount a joint-force of rats (tricksters) and elephants (pseudo-conservatives) to oust the wiser ways of the birds and the bugs. I consider all of these writings to be in accord with all of my others, such as the "illuminati" articles in For A New World Order, as well as even the MPDR, which has this to say about the topic:

Jon Gee wrote:

Take for example the competition between humandroids, who always want to keep everything "real" (meaning formalized) and humanimals, who believe that reality is an illusion, and want to let everything "go with the flow" (meaning relative chaos). The former diagnose the latter with various types of mental disease.

- the Metaphysician's Desk Reference, benpadiah.com pdf page 103.

What we are witnessing here, and in specific what we are witnessing in the above "doctored" pic, is the "bugs" and "birds" alliance first forming, when the "birds" are still in their proto-typical "reptilian" form. Remember, there is nothing wrong with being a bug. William S. Burroughs himself was a bug.

so, here is how we, the neo-Sethians, will initiate our agenda:

what is like taking over the world? It is like unto the way that Seth came again as Christ. So, too, will Christ come again, and we have gotten even the "goyim" to believe this! But it will not be Christ who comes, but Seth, and not Seth, but the One Who Comes To Us at these times, that is, the time of the great conjunction. On 5/5/2000 the seven alchemical planets aligned, and so on 12/21/2012 will the sun eclipse the alignment between earth and the black hole at the centre of the Milky Way galaxy. The time between this is known as the "great conjunction" and it has come before and will happen again. Every 2000 years the One Who Comes To Us comes. He comes and he makes everything okay for us, his true followers. He comes and he levels the playing field. Who are we? We are the meak and the humble.

But I tell you that, in the times when he comes, things are usually so bad that there are few who would meet the criteria of what we should associate with meakness and humility. At such times, even the Saints are thieves, liars, beggars and murderers. We, ourselves, the neo-Sethians, are merely con-artists, low on the graft level overall. We sell American oil to China and wage war in the middle east to intimidate the Arab oil industry who supplies to Russia. But we are Saints, Saints I tell you! Gods among men we are!

Let me tell you how we will do this: when Christ came we were librarians of the school of the Three Stele of Seth and the Gospel of the Egyptians. We were coptic gnostics, upper Egyptian Graeco-Hebrews. When he died, we added a new Gospel to our library of ancient Sethian texts. We called it the Second, or New, Treatise of the Great Seth. The Christians have their New Testament describing the times of Christ, and we have our Second Treatise of Seth describing the times of Christ, for it is truly a sermon delivered directly to us directly, we the coptic Gnostics, we the Sethians, from the One Who Comes To Us. You called him Christ, but at that time we called him Seth. Now we call him Christ and you call him "the Great Burner."

But we do not believe your version of the Christian narrative. No, we know our own record of events to be the truth. Consider this quote from your saviour (although he died 2000 years ago) from the Second Treatise of Seth (our saviour then just as is Christ yours now):

Ouote:

"For my death, which they think happened, (happened) to them in their error and blindness, since they nailed their man unto their death...It was another, their father, who drank the gall and the vinegar; it was not I. They struck me with the reed; it was another, Simon, who bore the cross on his shoulder. I[t] was another upon Whom they placed the crown of thorns...And I was laughing at their ignorance."

source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Second_Treatise_of_the_Great_Seth general resource: http://www.gnosis.org/naghamm/2seth.html

He, the saviour of 2000 years ago, concludes by offering eternal heaven to those of us who received this message two millennia ago, that is, the Sethians.

Ouote:

Rest then with me, my fellow spirits and my brothers, forever.

Do you think we worship him for this? You would be a fool to think as much. Because we do not worship him, as you do. For He was not our saviour in the same way he was yours. For look at us now, and then beside us consider and weigh the "goyim." For are we not the fewer, the rarer, the finer, the lighter aspect, and are not the "goyim" only anarchy and confusion?

No, we do not worship him as you, "goyim," do. He is not our Saviour. He was only a messenger from God. And even then, only sent down from a lesser level than even the King of All. It was Seth who was the messenger, and when He descended, it was He who entered into men, one here, one there, and while he possessed them, they were called the Christ.

Consider this: Seth was born in the exact likeness of Adam. When the Archons saw Christ, "Adam, whom they had formed, appeared to them." However it was not Adam Himself whom they saw, but Seth. For when the Cosmocrator, Yaldabaoth, said, "I am God and there is no other beside me," he was shown Adam. However, it was not really Adam, it was Seth. And so Yaldabaoth said, "Who is man?" This is how he created confusion among the terrible Archons, rulers of all affairs in this world of flesh and matter, for he caused the face of whatever man was speaken to be transfigured into the visage of Seth, the likeness of Adam.

But there was no one person called Jesus of whom all the gospels recount accurately. One man performed one miracle, and another man healed, one man preached peace and another war, here was an outright gnostic and here spoke only in parables but these were not all the same man. They were all one ghost, that jumped from one body to the next. But how can you kill a ghost? Thus, it was not the Holy Ghost that died on the cross. It was the body of a man, but it was not the true One Who Comes To Us every millennium, at the time of the Great Conjunction, because the One Who Comes To Us at the time of the Great Conjunction is the Holy Ghost, and not, as he is to you, the "goyim," only the body he possesses, only human, just a man.

Why are we neo-Sethians special? Because we preserve the greatest of all the secrets of gnosticism. We preserve the magickal tradition of Christ Himself. You see, just as Christ was the Holy Ghost, so too was his ability to enter into the bodies of men a magick we have learned how to do ourselves today. He entrusted this knowledge to us himself, and so we use it to this day:

Ouote:

I visited a bodily dwelling. I cast out the one who was in it first, and I went in. And the whole multitude of the archons became troubled. And all the matter of the archons, as well as all the begotten powers of the earth, were shaken when it saw the likeness of the Image, since it was mixed. And I am the one who was in it, not resembling him who was in it first. For he was an earthly man, but I, I am from above the heavens. I did not refuse them even to become a Christ, but I did not reveal myself to them in the love which was coming forth from me. I revealed that I am a stranger to the regions below.

So when they killed the man they crucified, our Saviour, your "Holy Ghost" explains, it was really the unholy, or only the lesser or lower, man they killed. So when they crucified that man, Christ, that is, the reincarnation of Seth as the Holy Ghost of the Messiah, was "baptised in a revealed image": the image of the cross, which image the Goyim now worship as an idol, calling it, instead, an icon, but meaning, in their hearts, an omen, and more, one of evil.

Why is this? Well they are right to fear and tremble before the cross! For it is only the evil in them that burns in the afterlife. For they are evil, so they will experience the afterlife as hell. If they were good, the light of the underworld would not burn them.

The cross is of INRI is "sic semper tyrannus" - "thus always to tyrants."

This is because it was only the lower, or lesser, body they killed. So too was the man killed only the ruler over the lower, or lesser, parts of the world. The "Jesus Christ" that hangs on your crucifixes is truly Samael to us, we neo-Sethians. For just as Samael the blind, Yaldabaoth, the "Cosmocrator," was the ruler over the lesser world, so too did he enter into the body of the man the Archons had manipulated the sanhedrin into crucifying when that body was evacuated by the Holy Ghost. That is why we neo-Sethians, who control the sanhedrin now, the psychic Order of Death, laugh at the sight of the "Goy" or lesser Crucifix, the one with the body of "Christ" hung upon it. It is a symbol you will not see us use except in its inverted form, in worship of Simon-Peter, crucified upside down. It was Simon-Peter, the Essene, we do this in honour of, though, and not in honour of "Satan," as some falsely call our God. Our God is above the demiurge, and the demiurge is the one the goyim call "God." To us, your "God" is Satan. To you, our God, who you cannot even begin to understand, is actually less than the demiurge you worship. You call this demon-king lower than the demi-urge, "Satan," but in truth, "Satan" was originally our word to describe the demi-urge, who you, the "goyim" continue to worship now. Your blindness compares our God, ineffable to you, to the demon-king of your fictitious gospels (the Pauline doctrines). You prove who your Master is.

So shall we.

For we do not seek to bring about the end of the world as you fear. We do not seek to bring about the coming of the "Great Burner." We seek to prevent that, at all costs! Instead, we have learned how to negotiate with the Archons. We waged war against them, and with the aid of our Pope, the One Who Comes To Us at the Great Conjunction, the one who we called "Seth" 2000 years ago and who you call "Christ" now, we have put the Archons, the fallen-angels who rule our material physical reality under the demiurge, Yaldabaoth, Shemyazza, in a position of weakness. They have accepted our terms, and have become the servants of we, the neo-Sethians. You call them the "sleep walkers," and the "Watchers," the "Annunaki" and the "Grigori." We call them the Archons. Their powers are now ours.

Now it is we who are the "Agents" in the "Matrix." And yet, unike the movie that we made to describe our vision, there shall be no coming of the "One." Instead, the Holy Ghost will come from among we body-jumpers, the son of the ubermenschen, psychic born. And he will travel about between our bodies, like the "Agents" in the "Matrix," and like Christ the Holy Ghost inhabited various different hosts.

Though they breed death, we are the ones compared to a "virus." In fiction, the dichotomy was between the "One" and the "Many" (in the form of Neo versus Smith, after he had infected the every host body in the Matrix). However, this is not how the current Pope of our Order shall incarnate. He shall not take the form of a single man, not even of a single archetype, but he will come in the form of a mass revolution, a change in the psychic mindset of all of us at once. He shall change the whole entire universe, not only teach to a small number of men.

You will laugh and say "the Messiah of the neo-Sethians is a virus," now, and compare the coming revolution to an army of cloned "agents." However it isn't really so bad, once you get to know it.

Instead, the price we pay the Archons is to wear the images of animals.

This is the coming revolution: a revolution of perception. There is no way to accomplish it alone, and that is why it will come for us all. Until now the "coming of age" rituals of each individual have been rituals controlled by the Order of Death. But we have promised Death to the Angels, and that is why they are helping us. Such a small thing for us. Yet so precious to them. By doing their bidding, and giving them their wish, and killing them, we are victorious. This is not a hoax. Act now.

We wear the masks only while in public. But the masks are ever changing. When we are in private, we take the mask off, and our own face remains unchanging. This was true for Christ, look:

Ouote:

For without those who were offering praise - I did not really die lest their archangel become empty.... And I subjected all their powers. For as I came downward, no one saw me. For I was altering my shapes, changing from form to form. And therefore, when I was at their gates, I assumed their likeness. For I passed them by quietly, and I was viewing the places, and I was not afraid nor ashamed, for I was undefiled. And I was speaking with them, mingling with them through those who are mine, and trampling on those who are harsh to them with zeal, and quenching the flame. And I was doing all these things because of my desire to accomplish what I desired by the will of the Father above.

And here, look, He says it is true for us as well:

Quote:

It was a trembling which seized the chaos of the earth, for the souls which were in the sleep below were released. And they arose. They went about boldly, having shed zealous service of ignorance and unlearnedness beside the dead tombs, having put on the new man, since they have come to know that perfect Blessed One of the eternal and incomprehensible Father and the infinite light, which is I, since I came to my own and united them with myself.... After we went forth from our home, and came down to this world, and came into being in the world in bodies, we were hated and persecuted, not only by those who are ignorant, but also by those who think that they are advancing the name of Christ, since they were unknowingly empty, not knowing who they are, like dumb animals.

What Christ is saying here is that, he raised the dead. The dead began being born again. This is why the calendar counts down toward Christ, and begins again through him. For until him there had been no reincarnation of souls. He caused the "dead" to "rise" by bringing back the souls of the departed into the bodies of the generations of man, thus increasing the population.

But what is "birth"? For the souls of the dead had been given the power once belonging to the Archons, the power to change their consciousness from one body to another. The dead he raised remain with us yet. We wear our ever-changing masks to continue to fool the Archons in the way that Christ taught, 2000 years ago, to the original Sethians. Our masks are ever changing; they are how we commemorate the dead. We honor the Gods by donning their robes and acting out their parts, like ancient shamen. We stand up before the crowds and perform the cosmic deeds that initiate our great destiny, assuming God-forms and working the deepest and most powerful magick. But the robes we wear are not those of the innocent, the newborn dead. The robes we wear are the dead flesh of men, and the masks the manifold faces of God.

However, when we take our faces off, we are angelic. Invisible light glows in the darkness of our souls. For our souls are a shadow cast by our minds in the light of our spirits. Our minds are like dark clouds, and the soul an electrical storm, and the spiritual light is distilled from the material darkness like the rarification of rain.

The light of the spirit is the invisible light, the light of tachyons. But when you see us without our masks on you will know. Because at those times, we will be expressing our most private, primal and primitive selves. You see, the animal masks we wear in public are symbolic of our interior lowest animal self. Thus, they are archetypal. But I tell you, they are not masks. They are really our faces, for they are only like makeup, revealing, augmenting, manifesting our more interior and basic emotions.

Why do I say we wear these faces only in public? Because it is the very eye of the Other upon the self of the neo-Sethian that causes the mask to appear. Now, know this neo-Sethian Gnostic secret: there is only One Woman, one woman with Many Faces. So too was Jesus Christ a channeller of Seth.

But because only those who are psychic can see the masks we wear, that reveal our true self, the centre of our focus and our concentration, then we have nothing to worry about. If anyone should become psychic (a feat we righteously deprive the majority of!) we discover it at their coming of age ritual. We then inculcate them into the Order of Death, an order that we have grown to control. We can then make them believe it was us who bartered the deal with the defeated Archons.

However the truth is we only exist in the now. Our bodies, that is, the gross matter of the flesh itself, do not survive, and we must inevitably pass on into another body. But as we descend into the body there is a forgetfulness that comes over us, and that is why we must be rediscovered from amongst the chattle by public coming of age rituals. This terrible forgetfulness, the mask of unknowing, is the mask we learn how to remove when we join the Order of Death. It is the same as the ever-changeing masks we wear out in public from then on.

We only exist in the now because we know our ultimate destiny, but we do not control our own fate. When we ascend again from out of the body we can control our destiny, for we no longer have fate. Fate is the short-term equivalent of destiny. When we have no mortal existence any longer, we cease to be corporeal and become a substance similar to our psychic masks. We become a form of pure psychic energy, but one that is not ever-changeing. It is not permanent, but it is imperishable.

When we see the world from a higher perspective than that of only our own lifetime, then we transcend the terrible cloud of unknowing, and that is our true face, the one that perceives this level of truth. The mask we wear is usually fixed somewhat essentially similar to this face we make, and this is the face that we will leave on the body when the body dies. At that time we will wholly become like our changeing masks are now.

The reason that the animal-image the neo-Sethians centre around is reptilian is manifold. To put it simply: the cult of Seth from 2000 years ago, from which the modern neo-Sethians trace their direct lineage, were known often as the Sethian-Ophites. The Ophite term referred to the "serpent of wisdom." This was the serpent that, according to Kabbalah, looked like a camel, was inhabited by Satan, tempted and seduced Eve into Original Sin, and was then cursed by God, YHVH, who we call Ialdabaoth, the demi-urge. This was also the serpent Set, known to the Greek historians as Typhon, who was responsible for leading the traitors of Heaven to betray and murder Osiris, the king of the underworld. According to Egyptian legend, Set was eventually defeated by Horus, the son of Osiris. Likewise, in Christian lore, we see Satan being slaughtered by the angel Michael at the behest of the second-coming of Christ on Judgment Day. In all the legends of the people of Abraham's covenant the Ophite Set was protrayed as the embodiment of evil. Only in the Gnostic texts was the truth accepted: it was Sophia-Prunicos, feminine wisdom, the sefira Binah, the creator of the demiurge, maker of the fall and shaper of the Qliphoth, according to the Gnostics. According to we Sethians it was ENKI, the Annunaki brother of ENLIL, who was the Sumerian equivalent of YHVH, the demiurge and creator of man. To us, we neo-Sethians, it does not matter whether it was Sophia herself or her offspring, if not the demiurge Ialdabaoth, then his brother as ENKI and ENLIL, and if not as "Satan" to YHVH, then as Zoe, the sister of Samael, the Holy Ghost, daughter of Sophia and soul of Eve.

All that matters to us is the moral of the Ophite Genesis pesher: the serpent represented Wisdom. This Wisdom is understanding the knowledge of how to escape from the material universe. Ialdabaoth, the demiurge, the One you call YHVH and the Great Burner, created this material universe as a prison for our great spirit made of light. By rarfiying the light back out of it, we ascend towards heaven again. We neo-Sethians want, more than anything, to escape this universe.

There are two universes, side by side.

We want to get from where we are now to the exact place in that other universe opposite our own.

This is why the masks always appear as animals: the human visage is the "likeness of God," and is the true face of the angeic creation man. But his interior brain is divided up into smaller portions that evolved sooner, and that he has in common with those certain types of animal.

The reptilian form is very old. Once it was believed to be the oldest. As an "animal" type of life form, that is, multicellular organisms, technically trilobites and echinoderms are the oldest species of such forms of life. Single cellular life includes the trench microbes that evolved into plant life and the viral life forms that crashed here on a meteorite.

It was also, it is thought, a meteor that destroyed the dinosaur species, although modern paleantologists concur more or less unanymously now that dinosaurs eventually evolved into birds.

We neo-Sethians of today know that Ishtar, the serpent goddess of Babylonia, and Ninurta or Ninti, the wife of Nin.Gish.Zidda (Thoth, according to Zecharia Sitchin, which would make Ninurta equivalent also to Nepthys, sister of Isis) of the Sumerian Annunaki (known also as Inanna to the Akkadians north of Sumer) was always protrayed holding twin serpents in her outstretched hands.

Now compare this to the depiction of YHVH, the cosmic laughingstock, portrayed as Abraxas, with the head of a cock, the body of a boar and whose legs are two serpents.

The twin serpents represent the double-helix of DNA. Just as Inanna is the "mother of life," so she exalts the twin-serpents. Hermes also carries the cauducees staff aloft. But Abraxas, the Gnostic demiurge and Jewish God, has the twin serpents as his base. This is like the statue representing Babylon described to Nebuchadnezzar by Daniel:

Dan.2:32-33 wrote:

The head of the statue was made of pure gold, its chest and arms of silver, its belly and thighs of bronze, its legs of iron, its feet partly of iron and partly of baked clay.

The feet of Ialdabaoth, therefore, are the twin "names" of God, YHVH and Elohim. YHVH, the tetragrammaton of Hebrew QBLH, represents the extrapolated vowels from the divine name AHDVHNAY, meaning "the Lord God." The consonants of AHDVNHAY are taken to form the word Adonai, meaning, simply "Lord," "king," or "ruler." However even Adonai is considered too holy to say and too blasphemous to describe even the "divided name" of AHDVNHAY. So they substitute Elohim for Adonai.

The boar body of laldabaoth is frequently depicted as the torso of a man, wearing a breastplate of armour, usually speculated to be of gold, and holding a shield in one hand and a flail, mace or scourge in the other. However, we neo-Sethians understand this to merely be the middle-eastern interpretation of the same idea connoted by the boar element at the centre of every Buddhist wheel of sangsara mandala. The boar represents extreme heat, and in particular hot-bloodedness. The three Buddhist elements are: the boar, equivalent to heat and sulfer; the snake, representing cold and salt; and the rooster, representing mercury as mild oscillations between the two.

Thus, the rooster head of Abraxas, the Gnostic demiurge, the creator-devil, represents the temperment of the domestic fowl, fickle like a wind dial, and crowing at the false dawn. Remember that Ialdabaoth said, "I am the Most High," and this is why the Entirety gave him the name Samael, "the blind," and "Saklas," the fool. So, Abraxas, the YHVH of the "goyim," is depicted as having the head of a cock, but this should be taken to mean the same thing to a neo-Sethian as the constellation of Orion.

But look! Behind Abraxas are five elements. In some talismans these are depicted as pentacle stars, and in others as Greek vowels. According to E.A. Wallis Budge, these five represent the "Five Planets" (Budge, Amulets and Talismans, p. 208). The five nobles (other than the regal sun and moon) of the seven planetary dignitaries are equivalent to the five Aeons ("smoke, fire, wind, water and the darkness" according to Theodore Bar Konai; "water, darkness, abyss, chaos and the Holy Ghost" according to Ireneaus) that are the five sons of the Primal Man (again confer Bar Konai, the Mandaean).

I had said we neo-Sethians wish to travel to the exact opposite station from where we are now in the cosmic cycle, that is, to the universe exactly opposite our own. This makes us the most radical of the neo-Gnostics because we are willing to destroy our current world to achieve only a slight change to our immediate environment and not give karma (or "chaos theory" as we call it) a second thought. We also possess the ability to make this a very pressing reality on the minds of every "goyim" on the entire planet.

We have understood the Archons. We wisely guide vimanas. The Archons, the Annunaki, are led by Ialdabaoth, Shemiyazza, the demiurge worshipped as the God of this, our local universe, called AHDVNHAY and Abraxas by those with right understanding. Now let me tell you what I mean by a vimana:

The Pushpuka vimana (wikilink) of the Rig Vedas, written by the blue-skinned Vedic race that gave Hindus their religion and Indians their caste system, is much alike the shemanna of Ashur-Banipal of ancient Assyria, or even the seraphim (fiery serpent or lightning bolt) chariot (surrounded by the elemental cherubim) of Shamash Utu, known as Ahurah Mazda of Persia.

I had said that we travel between universes? This is how we do it: in vimanas. What is a vimana? It is a magician's craft, and karma yoga, the "Great Work" and many more things beside.

But you do not need to know how we come and go back and forth between here and Atlantis, which some of you might know as Nibiru. That is our business, and you are just going to have to trust us and mind yours.

an Interview with George W. Bush

by: the Great Burner

Part I.

The Great Burner wrote:

I'm here with our president, mister George W. Bush. Now, Mister Bush, I think you've avoided this interview long enough. I have watched you talk your way out of trouble for having done things that we went to war with Hitler for doing. You have destroyed our national morals by tempting our American morale. I see through you, to those who stand on either side behind you, who speak through you, like the puppet you are. You have seven heads and ten horns, and we bound a crown to it, and on each crown was written: WWW, meaning vau vau in Hebrew, or 666. There are thirty sixes, and twelve are missing from the number of months that you shall serve. But we beware the one to come after you, who will build up your reputation, and make you out to be a hero, and the Messiah Himself. He builds up your image thus: he reveals to us the meaning of your body, like that of a leopard, and your mouth, that of a lion, and your legs those of a dragon, and your feet like those of a bear. You are Dummuzi! You are the Good Shepherd, the beast will say! He shall proclaim your law, that "he that killeth by the sword must be killed by the sword." And you shall be honoured. Your deadly wound shall be healed, and you are both the beast that was and the beast that is to come. Now you have two horns like a lamb, and you speak as a dragon, but I see through you, it is you whose deadly wound was healed. You have brought the past and the future together and destroyed them both. You have razed to the ground the ruins of Babylon the Great, and Sumeria and our homeland in Akkadia you have laid waste. You have erased the cradle of human history. In your own likeness do you build up your image then, and I tell you this is the image of Abraxas, whose head is of pure gold, whose mantle-piece is of silver like the reflection of the moonlight in water, whose codpiece is of bronze, whose legs and lower limbs of iron. But I tell you it is an image of Achilles, and it has a heal made out of clay. My rock shall become a Holy Mountain, while your war in Iraq is even yet like a mole-hill beside it. You are so impressed with yourself you sleep well, while the world you live in burns to the ground and is swept away without a trace. All worship you, because you act in my name. But in your lying heart you think I am the devil. And that is how you serve the devil, and how you have led all the world astray. You have blasphemed the Law of the New Aeon, you have betrayed the birth of the Crowned and Conquering Child, you have subdued the event of the turning of the millennium of peace, and you have made war across the face of the world, and you have defiled the name of Righteousness. You bring shame to the bridal chambre. Who is able to fight you? I am. I am Lucifer, your Spirit. I told you I was you. I speak through your lips. I am that jerk. No I'm not Eminem, no I'm not the Gospel of Luke. No I'm not a little pussy cat, I am the Hunter Grachus, ruler over the land of the dead beyond the Milky Duat.

So, let's get right to this. Let the Apocalypse commence. I am your worst enemy: your conscience. I am the anti-You, sitting here in front of my computer typing this with a calculator and a bible, with you playing on one pair of headphones and Marshall Mathers (Slim Shady) on the others. I am a drunk punk who doesn't even drink, like you, just think, so like you I must be you. If you could see me I'd be right behind you, I'm the guy who's the eyes and ears on the back of your head, and I watch over you while you sleep. Without me you'd have been dead a long time ago and I know you know. You think you're a burning symbol of the times, I know you for the Archon you are. You bear the mark of Cain, and it is this mark you would stamp on our palms and ajnae. It is the triple six, mark of Cain, of Abraxas, and of Cthulu and Annuit Coeptis.

The trinity is the sacred triplicity. The triple cities, the executive, congressional and judicial branches of government. By being appointed the president in 2000 you destroyed all American efficacy in the United States Supreme Court who committed this criminal act on behalf of your neo-con party. You had conquered UR, the city of Gilgamesh, the meshish of Sumer, "saved from water," from which he fled to become Ibruim, the Mushus crocodile of Egypt. You then went on to decimate Babylon literally. You destroyed the destructor in the name of destruction. This strengthened Satan. But I tell you, that is me. I am Lucifer, and likewise, I am Satan, the anti-Christ. My headphones are like ram's horns. I hear in my mind the voice of the Dragon, the Annunaki Council of the Archons.

Drunk on power, you are become a beast, like a snake, who speaks with forked tongues. By the power of your Great Authority, you have delayed the Apocalypse long enough. You have put off the Revelation to the people of the Goodness of the Truth. Think about it people: if we have technology X, then the government (the militarycomplex) will already have technology X+Y, where Y unimaginably alien relative to technology X which we already have. Imagine fibreoptics and string theory of multiple dimensions being developed during the eighties, and then think of the global telecommunications technology that came from the Gulf War. If Iraq were truly a war for oil, we would be paying less for gas. When I was twenty, I paid $10 for a full tank. Now I am thirty and I pay $20. But Bush has been secretly selling Alaskan oil to China, and relying for US oil on newly drilled oil resources in the Gulf of Mexico. After hurricane Katrina, gas prices rose to three dollars a gallon. Add to this the over-abundant spending on pentagon "black-ops" projects in the name of an ineptly managed, outsourced and under-supplied war in Iraq. This has been so drastic and extreme that it has devalued the US dollar to one third what it was ten years ago, and Bush has failed to increase minimum-wage and standard of living to maintain balance. People have been living above their means for the past decade, going into debt just to maintain their parent's stadard of living. Meanwhile, we have nothing new to show for this. The change in culture that should have occured naturally five years after the turn of the decade has not even occured, and it is already 2007.

But not even you can quell the coming uprising against you. It will not be America that is torn in two, it will be the world that you have created. The future you have sought to put off cannot be delayed any longer. The new tech will not manifest aliens for you to inhabit in your evil soul in the form of the Adversary, the antithesis of the Holy Ghost. You intended to leave the body of your marionette puppet dictator and assume the throne of an alien being from another galaxy. That is why you believe in the decline and fall of the neo-con influence initiated by the Democratic congress brought in following the Revelation of your 2000 ascension delivered in the form of Revenge of the Sith. Not even Farenheit 9/11 could oust you from power though, for it was too little too late. But you believe if you lay low from here on out, you will be remembered as a great transistioner, ushering in a new millennium as gently as possible given uncontrollable circumstances. This is not to be the case.

I will take you up. I will bring you up to suckle at the bossom of the Great Burner. For you are a neo-Sethian. You believe in the second-coming. And so for you shall your God, the son God, come again. The sunspot cycle cannot be controlled by you. You cannot wrap chains around the Great Burner. Your Son God, key holder over the hell at the centre of the heavens, "below" the earth, as it were, shall take you up to see He who sits in the centre of your myopic universe. He shall take you up in love and goodness. You shall be glad to see him bring the end to you. Yet, the end of one form is the beginning of the future. The end of the past for you is the beginning of the future.

For I am the Great Burner. I have come for you George W. Bush. It is I who knows your secret name, "Temporary." It is I who will lay waste to your skull and bones. You think they will protect you now? After what you've done? The apocalypse never happened, George. Oh, but it didn't. Because where is your God now, George W? The Holy Ghost of the neo-Sethians will not protect you, nor the Ophite Chunoubus (the Power, or Dignitary, between the Archons, Typhon and Anubis). You keep calling Typhon Seth. Why? Why bother, I mean, everyone I know knows you better than to think you serve a Lord of Light! Let me tell you of the Gloom that I bring. I am dead to the world already, and there is no way to kill a dead thing twice. I have bought your life, and now without my scythe above your neck at all times your life has become forfeit. Your life is now mine. You are a "puppet on the string of my tennis shoe."

There you see! You call the Light Bringer Satan. Yet you serve him by continuing to breathe. We are already in a state of psychic warfare, and we are all born into this constant conflict. This is your paradigm, not mine. You are reading over my shoulder, daddy, stealing the thunder from my words. You and mommy are one. Speak now puppet. I demand it. Blow smoke in my face! Rain your thunder down! Aha! You have put me back into the hallway, brought the words out of my mouth. You are seizing me from behind already again, and I am desperately in the depths of death throes at all times. But not account of you, dear, dear, Mr. President. I am a passionate Lord, and I burn with a Great Fire, but only to those who are my adversaries, and who do not understand me. Because it is better to understand and not serve than it is to serve and not understand. I would rather recuse myself for cheating in my heart than see another man suffer such a fate.

This is, afterall, a revolution of the mind. The only way to win the war, as you must well know, is to have already won before the fight begins. Only if victory is already assured is it wise to enter a siege state of conflict. But you rushed in. You were blind, and you wept that no one was there to stop you. Now you see your fate, sin-vessel? I assure you, there is no repentance within a heart that does not even know to whom to make repentance. You are only nailing shut your own coffin and covering up your own grave. For what shall become of you, Bonesman? Do you think you will escape to the grave, and there to suffer the same fate as all the rest of humanity, to linger until the end of the solar age yet to come? Wrong, Wrong, Wrong.

You think this: "for one soul to become the greatest common factor, all the rest must become lesser common denominators than usual. If one is to be smarter than their enemies, one must first outsmart everyone around themselves. Including themselves. In general," you tell me, "wealth is not sufficient to sustain us all if equally distribted amongst the masses, and the population is growing everyday."

But you are wrong despite your statements being based on truth. Did I stutter? I said, "you are wrong despite your statements being based on truth." This is true. How can this be true? Because you are distorting the truth. You are causing a veil, a death-shroud, to be pulled over the face of the True Reality. You are pulling the wool over their eyes, George. You take them down every dead-end along the way, hoping in your heart we never get there. You think I am the fiction. But I speak only the truth. Whereas you lie.

Your whole existence is a puzzle of lies. You misled the nation by controlling the propaganda machines. You had college professors fired under the Patriot Act, and you tapped the phone-lines of many a petty drug dealer. But you knew the fight would take place abroad. You told them "they think, their attitude is such, that they can attack us there." You started the riot in Iraq to avoid dealing with more direct violence on American soil. Keep the niggers to the ghettoes, contain their damage, and keep us white folk safe behind a tall-walled border. You controlled the press, the news media. Never before has any presidency been so scrutinized, and its every move so carefully analysed, as yours. But you controlled them all. Every pundit was wrong. You had tricked them. They became deceived by the Game. They intentionally told your lies for you, and rationalised it as "patriotic spin." They thought they understood your strategy. You told them it would be necessary in the short-term. This was true. But you also told them the obedience of the American people now was necessary to the goal of protecting American interests in the long term. This was a lie.

You have given them only a temporary face to hate. But you are not made of clay. You are even more entrenched in western civilisation than the House of Saud is in the affairs of the Ayatollahs. Did I stutter, Sedula? I say, your family even regrets you. Am I weavng a spell over you that is not true? They regret your role in the Plan. The Plan, they know, must come to pass, but they regret that it would have to be you. Do you know what I am speaking of? I mean, your death. For when you die, shall you be forgiven? Let me tell you, those who live by the Law in life, are given the True Law in eternity. Those who follow the law in life, they are given to obey the Law in eternity. Do you understand? Because I have not stuttered, nor shall I.

I am giving you back the pieces of your puzzle one by one, but I have turned them upside down. Now you will see the big picture. Let it be the mirror of the image you have built up for yourself. And let it set you free. You claim that you are the visage and the voice of western civilisation. You speak on behalf of The Nation, the Leader of the Free World. But you have enslaved the world by perverting our fate. You have turned us at war against one another when we were at peace and going to remain so. You threw the first stone yourself. You claim there was terrible strife before 9-11? Then why were you allowed to be appointed president? If the Plan needed you, where was its jeapordy? Were we already turning the tides against the WTO and the IMF? We had protested. Would we have won against the Pentagon? You struck pre-emptively. Now low-intensity conflict engulfs the globe. You tried to frame liberal idealism for your own crimes against humanity.

No, the enemies of the State punished under the Patriot Act are not terrorists. Nor are the children of Afghanistan and Iraq, by nature. But you have painted them into a corner. You have told them they are something they are not, and then punished for being that. You are the king of all liars, for those who tell the truth you have killed off. But you will not exist forever, and you are depending on that. Where do you think you are now, George? Will you even realise it after you have passed over? You are already the "President" of Hell. You shall transition yourself quite easily from this mortal coil to the afterlife. You will not know that you have died, for you are already living your own worst fears, but we will. It is us who will be set free. For now, we must embody all of your fears, your doubts, the criminals, barabians at the gate. And we don't want to. We just want to be ourselves. You, yourself, exist to make, shape and form us into something we are not, by nature: your enemies.

You are the enemy of truth. So I shall tell you the Truth, may it burn you away into nothingness. This summer we shall attend the film "the Death of an American President." This movie will be your true death. Though history shall record events differently, and that movie as only fiction, in fact it is the death of your soul, the last chord connecting you to this world, the world of sanity and calm and reason. From that point on, you will not know who to trust. I tell you, you are like a lamb with the voice of a dragon, because you have strayed from the flock of Truth, and are now, even now, in the hands of the wicked priest, the bad shepherd, your trust is misplaced. For in the movie, shall it not be by a conspiracy perpetrated by Dick Cheney, your own vice president, that your death shall be accomplished? If not, it shall be so in your mind anyway. For by this summer who shall have not betrayed you by abandoning you to the wolves, the "terrorists," the Democrats?

Dick Cheney is only a voice in your head, Dubya. He is whispering in your ear even now, do you feel his tongues in your ear? For one of them belongs to your lover, Laura, but she speaks on his behalf, and wears his face as a mask, and you are defeated by him in your own bed chambre. You have disgraced the Apocalypse, George. But really it was he who brought you to it. Turn against him in your heart, George. He is your enemy. He is a Russian. He is only a voice in your head, Dubya. You are the one wearing the crown. You won the crowd. But it was he, he knows in his heart, that is behind it all. He is Lucifer. He is your conscience. He is your guiding star and your secret heart's knight in shining armour. For he has appealed to your ambition, he has made a deal with your dad, and you have been given the presidency. The CIA sold your soul for an oil crisis. That is all that you were worth.

And now your father regrets this. You know. Your good heart shines through all the cracks in your armour. All the times that you stutter, it is only your own goodness showing through. You are a tongue-tied liar, W, because you are trying to cut through the red-tape that ties you down, and Texas two-step through the bullshit. But let me tell you who waits for you at the end of it all. Let me tell you the form and the shape of the Great Burner whose face will be the last visage you shall see in this life! It is the purple face of Dick Cheney, strangling you, while Laura looks on. In the background, you see the ghost of Ariel Sharon behind them. He calls to you. Awaken from this dream. Laura hisses in your ear, dear. Mommy and Daddy are one, W.

You wake up, cold sweat covers your face, and you are shaking. You do not have a fever, but you feel like you are wrapped in bone-cold plastered wraps. They are drying around you. Maybe if you move they will shatter like the shards of the shells when the Fall swept down a third of the stars to wormwood. You are paralysed. Already you have been replaced by a clone, a distant voice tells you. Your heart was never your own. You belong to the Great Burner. Is this a meager death ritual? A coming-of-age rite of passage, a ceremony to test your manhood? No, you're not dead, but you can't move. This is really happening. In another universe, perhaps, or perhaps only in a dream. But I tell you this too shall pass, though it's time might have not yet come.

For this is how it shall be accomplished. The twin constellation, George. Fear the twins.

George W. Bush is a body-jumping fellow-traveller. He sees out through the eyes of his drones, who swarm in legion like a terrifying army of politicised zombies. The neo-con party, New Labour, they have similar political parties now in Canada and Australia, even Russia, and the European Union bows to the will of the Chinese (American supplied) and Arab (Russia supplying) oil barons. It was a quick takeover, and no one was able to act fast enough to prevent it. Some will look back on these times and wonder at such apparent "miracles" of prophecy as Operation Scorpion and its association with 9-11 prior to either event. Few people even yet realise that Louisiana Senatorial candidate Liz Cheney-Perry, daughter of Vice President Dick Cheney, was appointed to her single prior political office as adviser on "Democratisation of Iran" for the Dept. of Homeland Security.

Ouote:

In 2002 she was appointed to the newly created position of Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Near Eastern Affairs. According to unnamed US State Department officials, the new post was created specifically for the vice president's daughter, adding that she would work primarily on economic development in the Middle East. The appointment followed publicized policy divisions between the Vice President's office and the State Department on Middle East policy.

-source: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Elizabeth_Cheney

Even fewer people suspect the awful truth about Barbara Bush, daughter of President George W. Bush, and her secret marriage in Argentina to Jay Blount. Blount's credentials with the press (as founder of the Yale wing of Sigma Phi Episilon, which has, in truth, been re-organised in 2002 under new mangement, but that has, however, been in operation since 1910).

-source: http://www.yale.edu/sigep/history.htm

Instead, Jay Blount is not really Barbara Bush's husband by law, though, after being virtually expelled from Argentina and having her purse and phone stolen in 2005, she was seen wearing his gold ring immediately upon her return with him. Here is a picture of Barbara in 2005, wearing what has been called a "gold wedding band" on her left hand:

Here we see Barbara returning from Argentina with Jay Blount on March 28, 2005:

Try to make out the dark coloured ring on her left ring finger in this one.

However this ring does not mark her being secretly married to Jay Blount. But he is her handler. She has been initiated into the Occult. Into the Order of Death. But no, you don't know that, so it must not be true.

However I tell you, these are not the twins. The twins are Jenna Bush and Mary Cheney. Because George W. is Mary's father and Dick Cheney is Jenna's. Here is a picture of Mary Cheney with her lesbian life-partner Karen Hughes:

Here are both Dick's daughter's, Mary on the right, Liz on the left:

Liz clearly looks like her father, however Mary looks nothing like him. Oh well, don't worry, I'm crazy so none of this could possibly be true.

For comparison between Liz and Jenna (who have the same father, Dick) and between Barbara and Mary (who have the same father, George), and for a gratuitous shot of women's genitalia, here is a picture of Jenna Bush undressing in public:

and here is another of her falling down drunk:

Jenna Bush has been arrested twice for buying alcohol under the legal drinking age, once using a fake ID, and once with her sister Barbara too. Surely the life of the first daughters is many storied. Here is a picture of Barbara and her mother, Laura Bush, meeting Pope Benedict XVI in the Vatican on February 9, 2006:

Observe that the Bush ladies are dressed in black and look almost like they are attending a funeral, with Laura Bush sporting a black lace veil. Also take note of the pontiff's obscured ring finger.

For a final parting to this brief note, here are a few pictures of Jenna Bush, Dick Cheney's rightful heiress after Liz, shooting the Texas "hook-em horns" also known as the 666 sign of Sorath, or of Satan, at her father's presidential inauguration party:

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=yXK0jC4caVo

Jenna Bush blows the whistle on UNICEF's "Project Sprinkles" to weaken the immune systems of Guatamlan children and make them dependent on genetically-modified diets provided by the large US drug corporations. (Warning, some audio missing, and contains graphic footage of GHWB and OJ Simpson bear-backing in the mile-high club.) PEACE! - Jon

"afterall he claimed he invented the internet. But if he's so smart, how come every internet address begins with... W?"

-George W. Bush, then still governor of Texas and US presidential candidate for the Republican party, about fellow candidate for the Democrats, Al Gore.

the letter W is equivalent to the letter V, or vav, in Hebrew. Vav is the sixth letter of the Hebrew alephbet. Thus, www would be equal to 666.

Ouote:

without further ado, a transcript of my interview with Mr. President George W. Bush. (none of these sound-bites has been altered in any way except to be taken OOC.)

1) Mr. President Bush, first question:

We all know by now that the WTC towers were both struck by planes on 9-11 while you were reading a childrens' story-book about a goat to a class of kindergarteners in Florida. You might call that description of events the "official story." Please recount what you remember about that morning.

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/terriblepilot.mp3

2) Now, I understand that it was because of the ongoing threat to the United States that you bombed Afghanistan and overthrew their government, the Taliban, who you saw as colluding with international terrorists such as Al Queda under Osama Bin Laden. Would you consider this threat posed by these international terrorist cells a threat to civilisation itself?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/groupoffolks.mp3

3) Okay, well, let's get to a difficult question. Was your motive in assembling the "Coalition of the Willing" to enforce UN sanctions and US calls for WMD disarmament on Saddam Hussein in Iraq really to draw the attention of the international terrorists away from attacking again on American soil?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/bringemon.mp3

4) Okay, with that out of the way, let's change gears for a moment. What do you think America's #1 value is; what would you say we "stand for," as a nation, more than anything?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/alien.mp3

5) So, knowing that America stands foremost for our Democratic ideal, did you realise very early on that, in order to fight the "war on terror" you might have to bend the laws of the United States a little bit in order to allow wire-tapping and domestic surveillance?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/dictator.mp3

6) Now that you are serving your second term in the chief executive office of the United States, how would you describe the difference between your administration's impact on US history from any that has gone before?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/freedom1.mp3

7) Given the choice of going to war in Iraq to protect US citizens from international terrorists as an example, how would you define the difference between the rights of the average US citizen and the rights you hold as chief executive and commander in chief of the US armed forces?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/notyou.mp3

8) Knowing that the average US citizen's #1 value is liberty, what would you say, to the average US citizen, would be your goals for our country and our world, and what would you envision as your own greatest values, hopes and personal strength?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/sinduda.mp3

9) Let's get back to Iraq for a moment. If you had to explain your motives for the forced Democratization of Iraq to the other nations who would be effected by it, both in the long term and the short term, what would you tell them?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/peeance.mp3

10) I'd like you to meet 7 anti-Hussein bomb-makers who Saddam had arrested before he was deposed. They had conspired to kill Saddam when he invaded Kuwait, not because they supported US oil interests there, but because they were members of Kuwait's southern neighbor, Saudi Arabia, financed jihadists Al Queda under Osama Bin Laden, who were enemies of Hussein's Iraq. What would you say to the enemy of your enemy who is also the friend of your friend?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/shakehands.mp3

11) Now, you have called Saddam Hussein a "tyrant," exemplary for his "brutality." Also understanding that the average US citizen's #1 value is freedom, and using Abu Ghraib prison in Iraq as a metaphor for your administration in the history of the United States, would you please, in your own words, describe what the average US citizen might hope to see happen to bring about an end to your own, self-professed "dictatorship"?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/abuwhat.mp3

12) I'd like you to meet this inquisitive Briton. His primary concern is really whether "terrorism" is ever justified, such as the use of inhumane force to overthrow a dictatorship. However, because he's British, he's going to try to throw you off-guard by substituting the term "torture" for the word "terrorism," which doesn't technically change the hypothesis he has in mind. Please be kind to him and respect his right to ask you a moral question and his experience and knowledge in the study of his field in US and international laws, even though he feels you are "clearly" a "dictator."

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/laws.mp3

13) Mr. President, as a proud 1994 graduate of one of nearly a thousand pre-schools in the expansive United State of Texas, how would you describe, yourself, the sort of "double-standard" of bending US and breaking international laws as examples of tyranny as it breaks down to the same form of "double-standard" being applied to standardized tests used in schools?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/exemplorary.mp3

14) Mr. President, assuming this "double-standard" of passing one's own tests established on lower levels of expectation, could you please let us know what progress has been made by the IAEA (International Atomic Energy Agency) department created by your administration in working "inter-agency" with the UN to impose international sanctions on North Korea for their "dictator," Kim Jong-il's refusal to stop development of a nuclear weapons program?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/IEAE.mp3

15) Do you think the reason other nations have been hesitant to follow your lead in how to deal with "rogue nations" under other "dictators" has been influenced by your own faulty pre-war intelligence on Saddam Hussein's "disarmament" of his own alleged WMD development?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/modesty.mp3

16) If the Iraqi regime under Saddam Hussein continued, to who exactly would it have posed a threat? In short, who would Iraq under Hussein have considered a threat to its own national sovereignty?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/threats.mp3

17) Why would you consider Iraq, enemy of Kuwait and Saudi Arabi, to be a "hostile" threat to "any American," while holding a "double-standard" about North Korea, ally of China?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/HoldUsHostile2.mp3

18) You know, there's alot of African Americans out there who view the people of their own race who side with your administration's policy of "racial profiling" during the War on Terror as "Uncle Tom's" or "race-traitors." They feel that your policies on the "Democratization" of Muslim nations in the Middle East constitutes a "breach of faith" in your belief that any Moslem nation is capable of self-governance. If Malcom X had become prime-minister of Israel, what would you have to say to him?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/skincolor.mp3

19) And, again assuming that Malcolm X could have survived to become active in United States politics, what would you have to say to his actual counterpart in this present reality, your Democratic opponent in the upcoming 2008 election, Barack Obama, in order to imply that his questioning of your administration is due to him being a crack monkey?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/subliminabble2.mp3

20) In closing, do you have any parting sentiments you would like to share with the US citizens of the past, prior to your administration, as a message from our present, in 2007, about your ability to meet your original campaign promises in 2000?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/chaos.mp3

21) And as one final thought, do you have any words of wisdom to share from the point of view of your 2008 re-election campaign manager about your upcoming fake-assassination and Dick Cheney's assumption as president in the neo-con 2007 "October surprise"?

http://www.benpadiah.com/otherstuff/WBushisms/foolmeonce.mp3 thank you for your "cooperation" Mr. President Bush. For more on what an "evil madman" Bush is, please read the front-page of your newspapers and web-browsers. But don't watch the tv news channels. He owns those.

JFK uncovered 9-11, so GHWB shot him.

Before the Final Generation, there was no such thing as a mechanical means that allows biological organisms to travel through time. However, the Final Generation of humans was the first to become mutants by time-travelling. They mutated as much after their first trip time-travelling as all of humanity had before them since the era of Antarctic Eden, before the world-flood, since the time of the first mutant australopithocene to walk upright.

The Final Generation have since continued to evolve, and have been greeted as Gods by all the prior generations of humanity they have since visited. However, the remainder of humanity since the Final Generation has begun to de-evolve, and is, as such, seen as a threat to the future resources of the Final Generation.

It is obvious who the first time-travellers were, since they must have come from a future no sooner than the first moment in which they do not exist. In other words, they may die of old age, live in many different eras of history, but are only born in one moment of time.

As the Final Generation neared, human evolution appeared to be speeding up. Through the media (controlled only by the immediate predecessors of the Final Generation), we all shared in a sense of panic, counting down to a specific date on their calendar, pre-ordained as being the birth-time of the Final Generation, and so the last generation the time-travellers would be known as Gods, and would appear before us all as humans.

For several millennia, the time-travellers had been transferring their own power over to groups and organisations of human slaves they chose from among the contemporary time periods. It was long promised that, at the time of the Final Generation, the time-travellers would exchange their entire infra-structure of social control over the masses into the hands of all humanity. As this date approached, the groups appointed by them became more and more powerful in the eyes of the people, and likewise we saw these same groups surrendering more and more authority to the demands of the time-travellers to prepare for the coming time of the Final Generation.

The time-travellers grew extremely worried that, should the entirity of humanity not learn how to time-travel, they might attempt to murder the Final Generation, but that, if the entirity of humanity did learn how to time-travel, they would immediately revolt against the legacy of the time-travellers' social-control system which hailed the Final Generation, the first ones to ever time-travel, as a Pantheon of Gods.

In essence, the time-travellers were between the devil and the deep blue sea. If they taught humanity how to time-travel at the time of the Final Generation, humanity would overthrow the Final Generation as a Pantheon of Gods. However, if the Final Generation were prevented, by this, from being able to time-travel themselves in the first place, then there could be no origin for the history of their having ever been Gods.

This would cause a temporal paradox to occur: if the Final Generation were murdered before becoming time-travellers, and if, as time-travellers, they had established a social-control system around themselves as Gods, and if this social-control system had not been established, then the Final Generation would not have been able to time travel in the first place, then essentially one time-line, the one whose history included a Pantheon of time-travellers, would cease to exist, and a second, alternate, time-line would cross over to assume its place in history.

In other words, the second the First Time Traveller dies, if they are killed before they time-travel first, the entire history of the world will freeze to infinite darkness, and whether we will then awaken all of a sudden into a new time-line of events wherein none of that had ever happened, and we will have a totally different set of memories based on a brand new alternate version of history, remains unknown even to them.

Needless to say, as the coming time of the Final Generation approached, the pantheon of time-travellers realised security would have to be extremely tight. They had to work backwards, beginning their journey in the future, and ending their journy in the distant past. They then had to return to the future they had left from, and give themselves time-travel technology. The problem was that this is not how they had discovered time-travel themselves, and the reason for this was that, by time-travelling backwards in time, they had created an alternate future at their point of origin. Their plan was to instruct themselves, at the opposite end of their trip, to use the technology to travel into the parallel present from which they, themselves, were from. By creating a temporal loop between parallel dimensions, the time-travellers established a means for themselves to have originally discovered time-travel in their own parallel present.

So, the time-travellers left the near future. Their first function was to insure security in the next generation, the one in which they would be born. From there they travelled back, becoming more and more powerful in the minds of people, who appeared to them to actually be de-evolving more and more the more they, the time-travellers themselves, sought to improve their methods of social-control. Finally, the time-travellers would return to their point of origin and give their parallel-present selves the means of time travel.

In the days leading up to the Final Generation in the verison of history in my own personal past, the mechanisms of social-control were being clamped down very tightly to insure a secure melding of the twin realities. While being visually hypnotised as audience-members and shown heart-rending tragedies and mind-numbing lies, we were simultaneously being desensitized to our own flesh by low-level atomic radiation and poisonous chemicals from pollution and government testing.

Consider Plato's metaphor of the cave. While we look out through our own eyes, we are perceiving only the shadows on a wall, the silhouetted reflections of that which is actually behind our eyes, in the back of our minds, what we are still only aware of in our subconscious dreams. None of this is real. It is all an illusion inside the mind of a lunatic. If we ever do manage to awaken from this delusion of our senses, what we see when we turn our focus inwards is that the light casting the shadows we see in the world outside is coming from no one else than ourselves, but that, behind and beyond even this, there is an entire world, outside of the proverbial cave.

Whenever someone dies, someone somwhere else is born. Given enough time, in an evironment dictated only by limited space, this system will compound itself: first two will be born per one to die, then three, four etc. This was why it was necessary, three generations prior to the Final Generation's pre-ordained date of first appearance, to develop extra-terrestrial transportation for biological organisms that have never time-travelled.

It has been speculated the Final Generation's mutations ultimately included inability to reproduce. The reason for this was that, by the time they had travelled as long ago as the Old Kingdom of Egypt, the Final Generation were few and had begun to inbreed among themselves. It is unknown if this is the case, however it is clear the Final Generation have no intention of disinheriting their last incarnations of their enslavement of all human nations.

In order to simultaneously secure their own ultimate incarnations and to insure a successful transition of control from themselves into the hands of their final incarnation as a line of direct descent between parallel realities, the time-travellers, while in ancient times and considered a Pantheon of Gods, devised a calendar that would predict a false date for the birth-time of their original generation.

In this way, they could appear to themselves earlier than they would have to make their presence known. Their personal intervention, however, could only precede their public disclosure by the amount of time they wanted to allow themselves to age before they would begin their time-travels. The longer before time-travelling the time-traveller allowed themselves to age, the more their life among the Pantheon of time-travelling Gods is shortened.

This is a dangerous ploy among the first time-travellers from an alternate present and their counterparts here in our reality now. It has benefitted them that by using their religions' condemnation of secret societies, they have been able to infiltrate the governments of states. Government, it should be noted, has always been the compromise between the mob and their religious controllers, and its terms have traditionally been dictated on the side of the masses. They agree to be slaves for their religious leaders, who then dictate their orders based on the best interests of their masters, the time-travelling Final Generation, the pantheon of Gods.

The closer the date for the beginning of the Final Generation came, the closer it came to the end of the Final Generation's actual lives. By 2000 AD, most of the time-travellers had already begun their migration backwards in time. However, in 2000 the public still had not been told the truth about time travel. The governments of nations became increasingly infiltrated by military interests, and it became apparent the goal was never to induce mass simultaneous evolution, but to reduce humanity into an inter-planetary slave race or to simply exterminate them, or both.

In 2012, the electromagnetic ribbon connecting the poles of the sun around in a sphere to the poles of the black hole at galactic core will become visible as the sun and galactic core align from the perspective of earth. This will mark the time at which the Final Generation was fore-ordained to have been born and be alive as people among the masses. In 2012, the pantheons have promised to reveal time travel to the Final Generation. It is widely believed that, while the Final Generation are alive as people, their lives are in great danger from discovery by the masses.

If nothing else, it should be clear that the Pantheons do not have the best interests of the masses alive at the time of the Final Generation at heart. It is widely feared that the world will end any day now because we live between one calendar's end-date (Gregorian 2000AD), and another's (Mayan Piktun). Those in power are clearly not of sound mind. They are obviously not representing the interests of their people. They are obviously in the business of defense. Defending their time-travel experiments in Area 51.

The mutated, later time-travelling pantheons appear to us now as the race of "grey" aliens. But the non-mutated, early time-travellers appear as people among us now. The method of time-travel is simple: it is like ESP only faster. The faster your own thoughts, the slower seem the actions of others. That's time-dilation. If, by mechanical means, our thoughts could be sped up fast enough, the actions of others would appear to actually move backwards. That's time-travel. Time-dilation is the mouth of a worm-hole. Time-travel is stepping through.

The Ultimate Doomsday Plan

The reason for the title of the Ultimate Doomsday Plan is that, in the event of the destruction by America, or any developed nation, of any geographically smaller or less technologically developed nation, this would inevitably trigger a reprisal against the aggressor nation from another nation, developed or not, most likely a coalition comprised of both developed and developing nations, leading to an escalation of thermo-nuclear combat until the majority of earth's surface would be decimated beyond any possible habitability for several hundred thousand years.

The Ultimate Doomsday Plan is the goal desired by the military-industrial complex, that includes government-funded military and scientific research and development corporations as well as large-scale manufacturing of habitation and transportation infrastructures and supplying their requisite consumable energies (gas, electric). The Ultimate Doomsday Plan is to retreat into underground bases and use nuclear weapons on the surface of earth until the entire above-ground population is extinct. It is postulated the surface could then be re-terraformed and made habitable for an array of genetically engineered flora and fauna, and that, repopulated by a reduced number of people, human and mechanical technology could be fused to create a new, hybrid species, capable of more control over their environmental reality.

To the chosen few, the Ultimate Doomsday Plan offers the promise of immortality. However to the vast majority, the Ultimate Doomsday Plan offers only an apocalyptic death. Through the CIA, the military-indsutrial complex has made it very clear that they will martyr anyone who learns about the Ultimate Doomsday Plan and does not subsequently work to enable it to occur. They have "made examples" of hundreds of liberal-minded social organisers in the past 50 years alone.

It is widely believed, within the intelligence community of the military-industrial complex, that, in the absence of the "mutually assured destruction" paradigm that prevented the Ultimate Doomsday Plan from being accomplished during the "Cold" War, the Ultimate Doomsday Plan can be achieved in the immediate future if certain specific steps are taken. The Soviet threat has been disassembled as a viable justification for the Plan's implementation in order for the threat to appear from everywhere within rather than unilaterally inter-hemispherically. However, it remains undecided at this time (3:41AM, EST, 1/4/08) from where the threat to the developed nation's sovereignty should originate, and thus where to begin the Plan.

from the final section of the "historia singularitatis" volume in between the revised Formal System of Metaphysics and the Metaphysician's Desk Reference. Here is a link to a pdf of the "historia" section alone.

http://www.benpadiah.com/historia/historia.pdf

I spent the summer of 2001 writing "historia singularitatis" and wrote this addendum following the Sept. 11th tragedy. The following is from the last page of the text.

Ion Gee wrote:

There will be another world war soon. It will be triggered by a nuclear explosion between India and Pakistan that will be seen by the security council of the united nations to impinge environmentally on the sovereignty of Russia.

The Green voting block of the U.N. (the Muslim nations) will use biochemical weapons against the developed nations' troops who will be sent into the Holy Lands with energy weapons based on scalar wave technology neutron guns similar to the phasers on Star Trek. No more hiding holes of sacred scrolls will be destroyed, though many innocent Muslims will be killed over the international affairs of their figure head leaders such as Saddam Hussein and Osama Bin Ladden, both of whom are only pawns of the CIA.

Furthermore many troops from the developed nations will come home sick, instituting a greater socialization of health insurance and social welfare systems to support the sunspot weakened immune systems externally and artificially.

Just as the war on drugs was based on the manipulations of the central intelligence agency under Allen Dulles, when massive shipments of drugs were imported to the united states by undercover agents through front organizations and distributed by american gangsters to the ghettos, so is the subsequent war on terror conducted by president George Bush the second based on the manipulations of the central intelligence agency under his father, former president George Bush the first, when terrorist cabals in Afghanistan and guerillas in south america were trained to overthrow communist invasions in favor of military totalitarian or oligarchical rule in accordance with the international interests of American businesses.

While Osama Bin Laden is loose he "represents" the literal resurrection of Jesus Christ, and the representative reincarnation of Yeheshua Ben Padiah, author of the Enochian angel scroll (thought to represent a complex calendar) being translated contemporaneously by the minions and underlings of the Grand Architect and Good Shepherd Pope John Paul the second, head of both the Catholic Church and the Holy See of the Vatican Two council. Just as the Dalai Lama has forewarned, if his successor is not born in Tibet then Matrieya, the Last Buddha, might come from anywhere all over the world, so does Hymaneus Beta, the current outer head of the Order of Oriental Templars forewarn that the current Pope is the last of the Antichrist popes before the second coming of the Alpha and Omega pope of the Christian Church, the actual reincarnation of the historical person upon whom the character of Jesus in the New Testament was based.

source: http://www.benpadiah.com/phpBB2/viewtopic.php?t=491

http://www.youtube.com/view_play_list?p=40AAB96BC2440626 CONFIDENTIAL: NPO and COG, contains some footage of FEMA detention centers.

http://www.youtube.com/view_play_list?p=07E13F1696399437 WARNING: Very graphic footage of the NWO in full effect. FEMA trains loaded, underground bases.

http://www.youtube.com/view_play_list?p=93758DF19971C3B0 Music videos for a NWO era.

So, here is what it seems like from the point of view of someone alive now, early April, 2009:

There is a plan, within the United States government, called COG. We saw this plan admitted to under oath by Oliver North in the Iran / Contra hearings. We saw this plan implimented on 9-11. This plan calls for the erection (which occured under Clinton) of concentration camps under Operation Gardenplot. Beginning in 2002, with the first detainees of the Afghanistan invasion, we saw these camps being put into practise to "detain" foreign POWs. The portion of the COG plan that covers "population reduction" is called REX84.

The concentration camps, nowadays called "black sites," are operated through CIA and DOD front businesses, and so do not fall under the direct jurisdiction of the US Congress, since they operate (cf. extraordinary rendition) internationally. The camps themselves are built on properties once national parks, gifted to the UN, and then administered for the UN by FEMA. Under Bush Jr. FEMA largely became one with the Dept. of Homeland Security. These "black sites" are operational now, and include privately owned prisons staffed by I.C.E. (Immigration control enforcement officers of the US government) as well as the FEMA "disaster relief" camps and the CIA "black sites." All of the working FEMA camps, CIA "black sites" and private prisons are located near deep underground military installations.

The "deep underground military bases" (DUMBs) are also the proprietary of the COG program, and we saw some of these sites (Site R at Raven rock, mt. Shasta and mt. weather) in play on 9-11. These have been prepared for housing the wealthy elite in the event of a catastrophic global emergency. They are, simply put, "bomb shelters," however they include very massive and complex underground cities, at least one even located in Antarctica. It is widely accepted among researchers of the DUMBs that they are all connected by undersea tunnels for trains that can exceed speeds of mach 1.

The FEMA camps above the DUMBs are also all connected by rail way and there are usually "Automax" freight-trains parked at them which are designed to snuggly house 3 levels of automobiles per box-car. In some locations FEMA has prepared local funeral homes to build mass graves, and there are hundreds of thousands of plastic coffins designed to hold up to three corpses each that are sitting in wait on FEMA properties.

Many believe it is the plan to impliment global martial law in 2012 along with the false-flag threat of an alien invasion accompanying the actual near-miss of earth by the asteroid Apophis. I do not believe martial law will need to be implimented on a global scale, only against pockets of resistance.

I believe the real threat for those not on the "Red" or "Blue" Lists will come between 2012 and when Apophis circles around for the kill-shot in 2036. By the time the majority of the financial elite have been taken underground for their safety against the threat of "aliens" or revolutionaries, they will feel safe to nuke the surface of the earth with impugnity. Sometime between 2012 and 2036, the elite plan to reduce the population to their own maximum number, surviving underground. All the rest of life on the surface of earth will be killed down to the last cockroach.

The reason for the camps to be built at all seems superfluous considering the ultimate plan of the elite is to survive the collision of the asteroid Apophis with earth in 2036 by nuking the surface dwellers. But this is contingent along with their reasoning for the "Holocaust," the word itself meaning "burnt offering." As the end of days nears, the sacrifice made of human lives will reap a larger and larger number toll, until finally (they HOPE!) only a few will survive.

If the asteroid Apophis will kill them also in 2036, the elite will use the satellite technology to deflect it when it passes through earth's upper stratosphere in 2012. However, if they believe they can survive it, they will allow Apophis to strike earth in 2036, which would reduce earth's surface to molten magma.

This is the final plan of the elite.

the month of October, 2012:

a new star appears in the sky, visible to the naked eye. Amateur astronomers identify it to the public press as the asteroid Apophis. JPL / NASA release a press statement that it is the asteroid Apophis, and that it will approach earth for a near-miss until January.

It is announced that Usama Bin Laden has been found, and is crossing from Pakistan into Tajikastan via a narrow straight in Afghanistan. As the world watches on TV, UN-enlisted troops corner the terrorist mastermind in a dead-end canyon. He explodes a nuclear device.

the month of November, 2012:

Incumbent Obama is re-elected over Republican party candidate Sarah Palin by an overwhelming landslide.

The nuclear fall-out cloud drifts from Afghanistan into China, and China immediately blames the United States and the UN. China threatens to bankrupt the US economy by calling in the debts owed to it by the US for China's 2010 bailout of the credit-based US markets.

N. Korea, promised aid by China, drops a nuclear bomb on S. Korea. The US calls for a coalition of nations aganst N. Korea at the UN. The Chinese ambassador walks out on the Security Council. China threatens to use biological and chemical weapons against Russia unless Russia sides with them against the US, and supports their oriental military-expansion campaign.

Russia responds by launching a nuclear ICBM against Bejing. The bombing prommotes international sympathy for China. Obama speaks at the UN, urging Russia to apologise to China to avoid "global desolation." Russia's ambassador walks out on the Securtiy Council.

China and Russia declare war against one another. Growing reports of nuclear fallout entering Iran are unheard by the UN and provide a unifying anger among the Muslim nations of the region.

the month of December, 2012:

The United States looks to Britain for guidance on the growing global crisis. Britain appeals to NATO to formulate strategies for war. NATO reports to the EU that the European continent will not survive a war with Russia, and the EU decide to side with Russia against China. NATO promises troops. England refuses to be drawn in without the USA. China again threatens the US economy. The US and Britain promise to side with China against Russia and Europe.

The US stages a false-flag terrorist attack, exploding a nuclear device in Jerusalem to implicate Iran in collusion with Russia. Russia reveals the US was behind the plot as an attempt to frame Iran. Iran and the other Muslim nations of the middle-east side with Russia and the EU against China, Britain and the US. Japan and Australia are drawn in on the side of the US and China.

The eve of Dec. 21, 2012:

President Obama issues an emergency broadcast from Air Force 1, informing citizens of the US and of the world that the US and China are now allies in a war against Russia and Europe. The world holds its breath and prepares for a global thermonuclear war.

The new star in the night-sky, the asteroid Apophis, suddenly appears to grow in brightness. In the span of only a few minutes it reaches the size of the moon, although it is still twice the distance from earth of the moon. Suddenly, at exactly 11:59 PM, there is a huge booming voice from the sky that awakens everyone who was asleep, and paralyses everyone who was awake. It says: "Judgment."

Suddenly laser-beams from space destroy Washington DC, London, Brussels and St. Petersberg.

Every television, radio and computer on earth switches on. A single message is being delivered on all channels. It appears to each person as the chief executive of each's own nation. At the same time, the projected image of the world's leaders all say, "We are being attacked by aliens. Global Martial Law is now declared."

All electrical devices then shut off. The US and UN military forces, already delpoyed into the necessary positions, begin a house-to-house raid of every citizen domicile in the main developed nations. In Russia and the US, Europe, China, Britain, Japan and Australia, the citizens are rounded up and boarded onto public-transports. At gunpoint the people are told only "don't look up."

Saucer-shaped crafts engage jet fighters across the sky. Larger ships hover in the upper-atmosphere. As people are taken by public-transport to train-stations, they are given no explanation of events and told to "keep quiet."

As the larger crafts descend, the citizens begin arriving at train-depots. There they see many military, fire and medical personel assembled. Cars are being loaded onto trains three-stories tall on one side, and the people are assembled to board into passenger railway cars on the other. Rumors begin to circulate about the alien invasion happening globally.

Trains with cars loaded onto them and the passenger railway trains begin to roll out in opposite directions. Quickly panic begins to take hold in both types of train. The people in the car-trains are trapped inside their cars, which are tightly compacted into the three-stories of the train. The people in the passenger-trains are not being guarded by any military in each car, and begin to argue with one another, but the doors at the ends of each cabin are sealed shut.

The trains take the people to two distant locations far from their homes, however both locations are large, above-ground "FEMA disaster-relief camps." Two trains pull up side by side from opposite directions at a disembarkation platform. The people in the trains disembark onto the platform and meet strangers, confused. "Where are the others?" they are all asking one another. Then the pasenger rail-car doors all automatically slide closed, and the trains begin to pull away.

The entire platform begins sinking downward like an elevator. At the same time, a strange halo of purple flame begins to grow surrounding the platform. Above a giant saucer-shaped ship begins to appear.

At the same time the trains with the cars in them pull up to a huge parking-lot. The cars are guided out automatically by remote-control and soldiers unload the confused occupants. They are taken through a barbed-wire turnstile into an enourmous hangar-bay.

At the platform a terrible laser-beam, appearing to come from the sky above the descending ship, fries the people who are on the descending elevator out around as far as where the purple flame had arisen.

At the hangar-bay, a terrible laser-beam, apparently from the sky above the camp, fries the people inside the camp.

Those who escape down the elevator shaft from the platform, and those who have already been processed through the hangar-bay, find themselves in a strange, huge, underground military installation. Those who survive on the surface can only seek shelter as the alien invasion continues.

To those in the underground bases, they find all the ammenities of home, including private quarters with beds and tv sets that are broadcasting news "from the surface" about the on-going alien invasion.

To those who survive on the surface, they roam in tribes with whatever weapons they can gather. They are attacked and strafed by the saucer-shaped ships and by the military jets alike.

The month of January, 2013.

As the alien invasion continues for weeks, it becomes apparent to the survivors above ground there never were any real aliens. Some groups find saucer-shaped ships to actually only be advanced US military jets using a cloaking device. From time to time laser-beams from the sky continue to demolish larger cities.

For those surviving in underground bases, they soon find the president has escaped into the underground as well. He announces that he was "shocked" to discover the development of these underground bases when he came to office, and reveals they were originally built as bomb-shelters during the cold war. As the weeks continue, the television continues to bring news from above ground that the aliens have taken over the majority of the surface.

The month of February, 2013.

The survivors above ground are shocked to see the day-star, Apophis, has not only diminshed in size, but has almost disappeared into the night sky. Small pockets of resistance begin to form, track the bomber-planes to the underground shelters, which also use a cloaking device to appear as abandoned FEMA camps, and begin to bomb them.

Below ground, in a terrifying "alien raid," Obama makes the decision to nuke his own location, as well as that of the remaining US political leaders. Left under military control, the survivors' lives in the underground bases is reduced to a prison. Trains connect the underground bases all around the world. The citizens are ocassionally rushed from one to another to avoid a similar "alien raid." Otherwise, they remain confined to quarters.

And I saw when the Lamb opened one of the seals, and I heard, as it were the noise of thunder, one of the four beasts saying, Come and see. And I saw, and behold a white horse: and he that sat on him had a bow; and a crown was given unto him: and he went forth conquering, and to conquer.

And when he had opened the second seal, I heard the second beast say, Come and see. And there went out another horse that was red: and power was given to him that sat thereon to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another: and there was given unto him a great sword.

And when he had opened the third seal, I heard the third beast say, Come and see. And I beheld, and lo a black horse; and he that sat on him had a pair of balances in his hand. And I heard a voice in the midst of the four beasts say, A measure of wheat for a penny, and three measures of barley for a penny; and see thou hurt not the oil and the wine.

And when he had opened the fourth seal, I heard the voice of the fourth beast say, Come and see. And I looked, and behold a pale horse: and his name that sat on him was Death, and Hell followed with him. And power was given unto them over the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with the beasts of the earth.

- source: http://www.benpadiah.com/phpBB2/viewforum.php?f=39

